Navy To Meet Pirate Ship

Rebel Leader Asks U.S. For Protection

Galvao Willing To Transfer 588 Captive Passengers

By HORST BUCCHOLZ

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) — The U.S. Navy said Friday night rebel Portuguese passenger ship Santa Maria has "drastically changed course apparently heading for Belem, Brazil."

Announcement of the change in course followed a U.S. promise of safe conduct for the rebel skipper to discharge his 588 captive passengers at port.

The Navy told the rebel, Capt. Henrique Galvao, it would take no action against the ship if he would carry out his announced willingness to release the passengers, including 42 Americans, he holds as virtual hostages.

Position Is Given

The Navy said the ship's position at 7 p.m. (EST) was 1 degree 50 minutes north latitude and 34 degrees 50 minutes west longitude.

This would put the Santa Maria about 400 miles from the nearest point of the Brazilian coast and about double that distance from Belem.

Adm. Robert L. Dennison, commander in chief of the Atlantic Fleet, made the offer of safe conduct in a new exchange of messages with the Portuguese insurgent leader.

Dennison said because of responsibility for the protection of lives and property of the Americans aboard the Santa Maria and because of humanitarian concern for all the passengers he would "take no action to interfere with his (Galvao's) entering and departing a port, or lying off a port, for the purpose of discharging the passengers."

Galvao said he was ready to meet with U.S. authorities aboard the ship or at a landing port.

Will Accept Escort

Galvao also said he would accept a U.S. Navy escort to protect him from Portuguese warships steaming to head him off from his earlier announced destination of Angola in Portuguese West Africa. There was no announcement by the United States of such an offer, however.

The Americans aboard the ship told the Defense Department in a message that they wanted to be transferred at sea. They said Galvao was willing to negotiate for the transfer of passengers who have been virtual hostages since the ship was seized on the high seas Sunday.

Bomb Deactivated In Tokyo Bay

Pennsy's Car Shop At Baltimore Burns

A four-alarm fire destroyed the Pennsylvania Railroad's car repair shop at its Canton yards near Baltimore, early yesterday. This heap of corrugated tin and charred beams is all that is left of the 80-by-200-foot shop, the largest car repair facility in Pennsy's Chesapeake Region. A baggage car, a crane and other equipment also were destroyed. Loss exceeded $300,000. (AP Photofax.)

Shinnston Pair Arraigned In Bank Shortage

FAIRMONT, W. Va. (UPI) — Two women charged with separately dipping into the till of the Bank of Shinnston to the tune of nearly a quarter of a million dollars waived hearing Friday before U. S. Commissioner L. T. Eddy.

Mrs. Jo Ann Stevens, 25, accused of falsifying records to cover a shortage of $224,244.70 during her eight years with the small bank, was released under $10,000 bond, but Miss Lucy Fortney, 62, the assistant cashier, was returned to jail in lieu of bond.

Miss Fortney, who had been with the bank since it was founded in 1932, is accused of making false entries in the amount of $22,549.91.

The quiet, gray - haired "Miss Lucy" was not expected to remain in Marion County jail long, although arrangements to post bond for her apparently were delayed.

The women were arrested Thursday by the FBI after federal and state bank examiners turned up the shortage. They had been called in by bank officials who discovered something was amiss after becoming suspicious of "high-living" by Mrs. Stevens, a $250-a-month bookkeeper.

Test Ban Talks To Be Postponed By USSR-Britain

LONDON (UPI)—Britain as well as Russia will agree to a postponement of nuclear test ban talks in Geneva to give the new Kennedy administration more time to formulate American policy on the issue, authoritative sources said Friday.

It appeared that the American-British-Soviet talks, scheduled to be resumed Feb. 7 in Geneva, would be put off until late in March. They had recessed last month.

The Soviet has indicated it will agree to a postponement to give President Kennedy more time to prepare what he called "a clear American position" on a nuclear test ban.

Georgia Abandons Rigid School Segregation Laws

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The state legislature, in a historic session, Friday abandoned Georgia's rigid school segregation laws.

Four separate bills, scheduled to be signed into law by Gov. Ernest Vandiver, replaced a mass of earlier statutes that kept the races in separate schools. Sponsors pictured them as offering the most feasible method of holding integration to a minimum.

One is a local option bill allowing voters in a school district to close public schools by referendum to avoid integration. Schools could be reopened in a later referendum if voters decide they prefer public schools to private. But a vote on reopening cannot be forced in the same year the schools are closed unless the local school board agrees.

A second authorizes tuition grants for pupils who do not wish to attend integrated schools. It wipes out compulsory segregation of white and Negro pupils in public schools.

Another revises procedures for appeals to the State Board of Education and removes certain supervisory authority now held by the board, to forestall any statewide integration orders from federal courts.

The fourth, a proposed constitutional amendment to be voted on next year in a general election, would guarantee freedom of association — that is — children of different races cannot be forced to attend the same school. The proposal also reaffirms the state's power to tax for education.

In final arguments Friday, Sen. Carl Sanders of Augusta told the Senate the new bills are similar to laws enacted in North Carolina and Virginia. He said the laws in those states have not been challenged by federal courts.

Adlai Believes JFK May Meet Khrush

Stevenson, new U. S. ambassador to the United Nations, made the statement at a news conference. He also expressed a desire for improved relations with Communist China.

It was the first news conference for Stevenson since he was named chief U.S. delegate to the United Nations. His audience consisted of about 250 newsmen from many countries, and a scattering of U.N. press officials and personnel from diplomatic missions, including the Soviet press attache.

He was applauded at the beginning and end of the conference. Attendance was among the largest for such an event in U.N. history.

There has been speculation that Khrushchev may attend the resumed session of the General Assembly opening March 7. Stevenson was asked whether Kennedy would welcome informal contacts with Khrushchev if the Soviet premier does come.

"I cannot speak for the President on this matter because I have not discussed it with him, but my guess is that he would be happy to meet Mr. Khrushchev here," Stevenson replied.

He made it clear he is not suggesting any summit conference but added that he is sure Kennedy "would be delighted to have an opportunity to get acquainted with him (Khrushchev)." The distinction here is between informal talks and formally planned negotiations.

In Washington, White House press secretary Pierre Salinger expressed belief Stevenson was voicing his own opinion on the President's attitude toward seeing Khrushchev.

"The President has said he would make a decision on that matter when it was known whether Mr. Khrushchev was coming," Salinger told reporters. "I will just stand on what the President said at his press conference Wednesday night."

At that time, Kennedy was noncommittal.

Rocketmen May Project Young Chimp In Space

WASHINGTON (AP)— A young chimpanzee, a specimen of man's most intelligent tree-dwelling cousin, is scheduled to be rocketed into space briefly next week, perhaps Tuesday.

If all goes well with the smart ape on the projected 290-mile, 16-minute arched flight into the Atlantic from Cape Canaveral, Fla., one of the nation's seven human astronauts will have a ticket for the next such trip.

The United States' hopes of hurling a man into an earth orbit sometime this year are pinned to success on these two shots.

A chimp was selected for the pioneer flight because his body and mind most nearly resemble man's. In fact, a chimp's mental processes are more man-like than ape-like.

The chimp to be used on this flight will be about 3½ to 4 years old and will weigh somewhere between 27 and 40 pounds. He will be picked from a colony of six specially trained chimps.

White House Backtracks First Blooper

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House today backtracked from what it called the "first blooper" of the new administration.

President Kennedy reversed a subordinate's decision to discontinue special tours of the White House for the constituents of congressmen.

"The President is very desirous that the tours should continue," press secretary Pierre Salinger announced.

And at Kennedy's direction, Salinger called Rep. Robert R. Barry, R-N.Y., to notify him that his constituents would be very welcome at the White House.

Barry complained with irritation Thursday that he had telephoned the White House to arrange a special morning visit for four constituents, and had been told bluntly that the privilege expired with the Eisenhower administration.

Salinger said Kennedy read about Barry's complaint in the morning paper—the first he had heard about the incident. And in no time at all the press secretary was instructed to let the world know that there was no change at all in the matter of this extra favor for Congress members.

Salinger broke the news to the press by saying: "Well, the other day I was asked at the National Press Club when this administration would pull its first blooper. We are now ready to admit our first one."

FDIC Pays Off In Iowa Bank Embezzlement

SHELDON, Iowa (UPI) — Sheldon's two banks did a land-office business Friday—but only one of them enjoyed the rush.

Depositors lined up at the looted Sheldon National Bank as the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. (FDIC) continued to thaw the 10-day economic freeze clamped on the community by Mrs. Burnice Geiger's $2 million embezzlement.

Mrs. Geiger, the bank president's 58-year-old daughter and assistant cashier of the institution, was jailed in Sioux City, Iowa, Jan. 16. The bank was taken over by the FDIC and closed to the public until Thursday.

Small crowds, some joking and laughing, braved near - zero temperatures to line up at the five windows of the Sheldon National to collect on their FDIC - insured funds. Most of them went right around the corner to the Security State Bank, the community's only remaining solvent bank, to deposit the money.

Roughly $350,000 in FDIC checks were deposited Thursday, he said, on the first day of the payoffs at Sheldon National.

FDIC officials said 400 of the bank's 2,200 bank depositors lined up Thursday to collect about $573,000 in insured deposits.

Ed Murrow May Head USI Agency

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Edward R. Murrow of the Columbia Broadcasting System is almost certain to become head of the United States Information Agency, administration sources reported Friday night.

President Kennedy is expected to name Murrow to the post shortly. The USIA is the government's chief public relations arm abroad, and maintains information centers and libraries in many countries.

It also operates the Voice of America radio system, which beams news and entertainment programs to foreign nations, including those behind the Iron Curtain.

Kennedy debated long and hard on whom he would name to the job.

The post is now vacant. George V. Allen, the last director, has resigned, and the agency is now being run by Abbott Washburn, acting director.

Living Costs Hit New High In December

Higher Consumer Price Reflected In Food, Housing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Living costs hit another record high in December for an average 1960 increase of 1.5 per cent, the Labor Department reported Friday. A government expert predicted they would climb about the same amount this year.

Higher prices for food and housing pushed the department's index of consumer prices upward by one-tenth of one per cent in December. It was the fourth consecutive month and the 10th out out of the last 12 that the index has risen.

Robert J. Myers, deputy commissioner of labor statistics, said no long-range price stability was in sight. He predicted the price index probably would rise by another one to two per cent during 1961.

The department also reported that the average factory worker's take home pay dropped slightly in December, a month in which it generally rises. The dip was blamed on a 24-minute shrinkage in the work week, caused largely by eastern snow storms.

As a result of the December price rise, about 150,000 workers in aircraft manufacturing, other metal working industries and trucking will receive wage boosts of 1 or 2 cents an hour. Their wage contracts are tied to the index by cost-of-living clauses.

The index, based on a sampling of 300 goods and services bought by middle income families, showed an average rise of 1.5 per cent during 1960. From 1955 to 1960 it rose by 10.5 per cent, an average of 2.1 per cent a year.

At the end of December, the last full year of the Eisenhower administration, the index stood at 127.5 per cent of prices in the base period of 1947-49. This meant that a basket of the sampled goods which cost $20 in 1947-49 cost $25.50 last year.

Kuter Says US Vulnerable To Missile Attack

CHICAGO (AP)—The man who heads this continent's air defense said Friday there is no defense against intercontinental ballistics missiles—and there won't be for five years.

Gen. Laurence S. Kuter, commander in chief of the North American Air Defense Command, spelled it out this way: "We have no defense of any nature against the ballistics missile."

He said we do have a warning system but that, due to the time for construction, "it will be 1966 before we can have an AICBM (Anti - Intercontinental Ballistics Missile) system."

At a news conference, the general said we are faced by a Soviet Union armed with an "appreciable quantity" of ICBM weapons.

Congress Hits Huge Waste In US Air Force

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congressional auditors said Friday the Air Force will waste $183 million this year unnecessarily keeping officers in the wild blue yonder.

The General Accounting Office (GAO) said that unless the regulations are changed nearly 27,000 officers will receive flight pay "who are either excess to stated Air Force requirements" or are doing jobs which don't require flying skills.

The GAO, charged by Congress to keep an eye on government spending, said the Air Force will spend $112 million for maintenance and operating costs and $71 million for flight pay in keeping these officers on flying status during the year ending June 30.

The report said there are more than 10,000 officers currently on flying status who aren't needed for that kind of work.

It estimated the Air Force could save about $70 million a year in operating expenses alone if it eliminated flight requirements from these positions.

Besides wasting money, the GAO said, requiring the officers to fly wastes their time.

Hoover Cabinet Member Dies

TOLEDO (UPI)—Services will be held at First Congregational Church here Saturday for Walter F. Brown, 91, who was postmaster general during the Hoover administration.

The native of Massillon who was the son of a Toledo postmaster died Thursday a month after the death of his wife, Katherine.

Brown also held posts during the Harding and Coolidge administrations, long was active in politics here, and headed the Hudson and Manhattan Railroad Co. during the depression days.

U2 Pilot Writes Father He May Be Released Soon

NORTON, Va. (UPI) — The father of imprisoned U2 spy pilot Francis Powers said Friday he had received a letter from his son indicating that the Russians might release him soon.

Oliver G. Powers, a shoe repairman in nearby Pound, Va., said his son told him in a letter postmarked two weeks ago and received Thursday night that he received word Soviet Premier Khrushchev "might let me come home."

Powers said although he receives letters from his son about twice a month this was the first time the pilot had written so confidently about his chances for freedom.

In Washington, White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger said he knew nothing about any change in the Powers case.

The pilot's wife, Mrs. Barbara Powers, said in Milledgeville, Ga. she had not seen the letter released by the elder Powers. She said, however, she received a letter from her husband Thursday and he expressed no personal hope of release.

Powers was shot down May 1, 1960 over Russian territory while on a high altitude reconnaissance mission. The incident strained East-West relations to the near-breaking point and was cited by Khrushchev in his refusal to attend a summit conference with then-President Dwight Eisenhower.

(In Moscow, diplomatic sources reported Friday there is no indication that Powers might be released soon. Observers believe it "quite unlikely." The sources said Powers may have misunderstood a statement by Khrushchev in which he said he could let "bygones be bygones" if the United States expressed regret for the spy flight. What the premier apparently had in mind was not pressing a complaint in the United Nations if U.S. regret was voiced).

Orders Action On Problem Of Cuban Refugees

Will Confer Today On Questions Of National Security

By ALVIN SPIVAK

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy and his top economic advisers held a three-hour conference Friday on steps they will take to boost the nation's sagging economy.

The only detail of the meeting made public was an announcement that the problem of unemployment compensation benefits had been discussed. The administration has been considering a plan for emergency extension of the period for which the unemployed are eligible for benefits.

Present at the luncheon meeting were Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon, Labor Secretary Arthur Goldberg, Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Abraham Ribicoff, and Chairman Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., of the House Ways and Means Committee.

Afterwards Kennedy announced that Ribicoff's department will take charge of the Cuban refugee problems in the United States, and that the secretary and his aides will fly to Florida Monday for an on-the-spot investigation.

In a letter to Ribicoff charging him with the mission, Kennedy wrote that "in the presently troubled world, we cannot be a peacemaker if we are not also the protector of those individuals as well as nations who cast with us their personal liberty and hope for the future."

An estimated 40,000 refugees from the Cuban regime of Fidel Castro are now in the south Florida area.

Accepts Voorhees' Resignation

Under the Eisenhower administration the refugee problem was handled by Tracy Voorhees, who was the former president's special representative. Kennedy accepted Voorhees' resignation Friday.

Press Secretary Pierre Salinger said that when the new President accepted the resignation he decided to put responsibility for the Cuban refugee problem under the Health, Education and Welfare Department.

The announced purpose of the economic meeting was to "discuss the economy and possible measures to stimulate it." Out of it is expected to come specific administration action, but in the form of executive orders and requests for legislation.

The committee which Rep. Mills heads is responsible for initiating tax and unemployment compensation legislation.

In the 1958 recession, Congress authorized an extension of the period during which compensation may be drawn. The plan was financed by the states with federal loans. The length of the period payments depends upon the state. Usually the maximum is 26 weeks.

New Record Set

Goldberg reported only last Monday that during the first week of January, the number of persons collecting such insurance totaled 3.3 million, a new record for that time of year.

Goldberg said at the time that the Labor Department was working on proposals for Kennedy. But he said the administration still was not ready then for recommendations despite its deep concern over the unemployment picture and "a strong feeling that the federal government should extend help in this area."

A task force has recommended that Kennedy give consideration to a temporary tax cut if the economic slump should get worse. But the President was reported unwilling to go along with this proposal now.

The outcome of Friday's meeting may be reflected in the State of the Union message the President will deliver to Congress Monday.

Bardot Is Cold

PARIS (AP)—Brigitte Bardot took her clothes off on the set where they are filming her latest movie and production was stopped for a week.

The set was drafy and Brigitte caught a cold. Production probably will resume Monday when she recovers.

U.S. Fliers Released By Russians Given Warm Presidential Welcome

Both Men Appear In Good Health

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two U. S. fliers whose mission ended in disaster came home Friday to a presidential welcome that is normally given to the nation's highest heroes.

Promptly at noon, Capts. John R. McKone and Freeman B. Olmstead, in a Soviet prison since their RB47 jet observation plane was shot down over the Barents Sea July 1, landed at snowy, windswept Andrews Air Force Base.

There was a snappy salute by McKone for President Kennedy, who had flown by helicopter the 12 miles from the White House.

Reporters were not allowed to interview the fliers, nor were they permitted to get close enough to overhear who said what to whom.

Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary, said the restriction was imposed because the State Department did not want to jeopardize prospects of improving relations with the Soviet Union.

Realizing that even a president must run a poor second at a time like this, Kennedy stepped discreetly aside after greeting the men.

Heartwarming Greeting

And the two airmen, who must often have wondered during their long imprisonment if they would ever see home again, grabbed their wives and gave them the fanciest public bussing ever seen in official circles.

The McKones, in particular, got involved in a kiss so prolonged it would bring protests from the censors if Hollywood tried it.

But there were no censors Friday.

And so Capt. McKone, 28, hugged his wife, Connie, and Capt. Olmstead, 25, embraced Gail. And there were enough hugs left over for an ample supply for Olmstead's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Blaine Olmstead of Elmira, N. Y., and for a brother and sister-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. C. Grant Olmstead of Buffalo, N. Y.

And while Kennedy grinned approvingly but a little uncertainly, there was enacted—in a setting that looked more like Siberia than the nation's capital—a scene that was as heartwarming as the weather was cold.

The White House later released a recording of the homecoming, and it was mostly a confused babble of happy voices.

The whole affair lasted only 10 minutes.

Kennedy returned to his waiting helicopter.

White House Reception

Yet short as it all was, this was the climax of what so far has been the most unusual event of the new Kennedy administration.

For the highlight of his first news conference Wednesday was the announcement that the Russians, who had been insisting these two men stand trial, had now released them.

And here they were, overjoyed to be home.

This was no time to wonder whether their release means a slight thaw in frigid international relations. Nor was it a time even to recall that four of the six men who took that fateful flight on July 1 never came back.

Air Force On Job

Certainly the Air Force did everything it could to make this a bang-up occasion.

Long before the scheduled noon arrival all was a-bustle.

High brass moved importantly about.

Military guards were carefully lined up

The two wives, who had been disappointed Thursday when the storm delayed their reunion for a day, arrived at least 20 minutes early. For some unexplained reason, both got out of their car and stood for a time in the cold.

Wearing flowers, red coats, high heels, they looked pretty but impractical in that frigid environment.

The timing of the arrival was perfect. The captains' plane came in as Kennedy's helicopter was approaching the field.

Kennedy got out first, went over to the wives and escorted them to the plane for a happy ending to the long ordeal.

Slot Machines Local Issue, Tawes States

By GEORGE BOWEN

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Gov. Tawes still feels that legality of slot machines in Maryland is a "local issue."

"Traditionally, Maryland has recognized the home rule policy," he told newsmen Friday.

He will meet Monday afternoon with representatives of religious groups which want to repeal the legality of slot machines in Anne Arundel, Calvert, St. Mary's and Charles counties.

While Tawes cited the policy of home rule under which the stand of county legislators usually is respected by their colleagues, he declined to state flatly that this will continue to be his position.

"I am going to hear out (the opponents) Monday," he said. "If they have any solution to the problem, they may change my mind. I do not want to pre-judge the case."

He riffled through the law book and reeled off county after county in which there are different laws on bingo, raffles, and carnivals.

He said in another field that sale of whisky in any form is illegal only in Garrett County.

Exactly one year ago, Tawes told a group of slot machine opponents that while the devices "are an evil that should be eradicated," remedy was up to the local representatives in the legislature.

Talbot County Family Victims Food Poisoning

EASTON, Md. (AP)—A Talbot County couple and their three children were admitted to Easton Memorial Hospital Friday after being found in unconscious and semi-conscious states in their Royal Oak home.

Milton Ewing Sr. was reported in critical condition. His wife, Elizabeth, and their three sons, ranging in age from 4 to 8, were reported in satisfactory condition.

Hospital officials said all five appeared to have suffered food poisoning — probably Thursday night—and their conditions may have been aggravated either by a lack of oxygen or carbon monoxide poisoning. A space heater was in the house.

Laboratory tests will be made, a hospital spokesman said, to determine the nature of the illnesses.

Mrs. Ewing was found sitting in a living room chair, semi-conscious. One of the boys, also semi-conscious, was lying on a living room couch.

Ewing and the other two children were lying unconscious on a bed in another room.

Marylander Named B&O V-President

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Friday announced the appointment of Charles E. Bertrand as vice president of operation and maintenance, effective Feb. 16.

Bertrand, a resident of suburban Catonsville, succeeds William C. Baker, who retired after almost 55 years with the B&O.

Bertrand, 45, began his railroad career in 1937 as a switchman for the Alton Railroad in Chicago. Later that year he transferred to the Chicago terminal of the B&O.

Among his positions with the B&O, Bertrand has been superintendent of the Baltimore terminal division in 1954, of the Monongah division at Grafton, W. Va. in 1955, and at Pittsburgh from 1956 to 1958.

Md. Republicans Present Own Version Of Creating Congressional District

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The Republican version of how Maryland should create a new congressional district was introduced Friday in the Democratic-controlled General Assembly.

It involves designating the state's three largest counties—Baltimore, Prince Georges and Montgomery — as separate congressional districts and realigning other districts to create more equal population distribution.

Baltimore City would have only two congressional districts for some 900,000 residents, instead of three as at present.

"It is the most equitable plan we could come up with," said House Minority Leader Lester Reed, R-Allegany, who sponsored the legislation.

Gov. Tawes said the bill will receive consideration along with other plans being advanced for creating the new district, earned by the state on the basis of population increase in the 1960 census.

"The legislature will have final say over what we are going to do," he commented. The assembly is controlled by Democrats 26-3 in the Maryland Senate and 116-7 in the House.

The bill was introduced after a meeting attended by D. Eldred Rinehart, state party chairman; Samuel Hopkins, chairman of the party's congressional redistricting committee; Mrs. Robert O. Bonnell, state committeewoman; Sen. Harry T. Phoebus, R-Somerset, Senate minority leader, Reed and others.

1st District — Harford County would be added to the nine Eastern Shore Counties now comprising the district. New population: 320,292.

3rd District—The southern half of Baltimore City, except for some 48,000 residents who would be grouped with four Southern Maryland counties. Population: 445,000.

4th District—The northern half of Baltimore City, 445,000 residents.

5th District — Prince Georges County, 357,395 residents.

6th District — Western Maryland, less Montgomery, and with Carroll added from the former 2nd District and Howard County from the former 5th. Population: 356,675.

7th District—Anne Arundel, Calvert, Charles and St. Mary's counties plus the 25th Ward of Baltimore City. Population: 341,947.

GOP Delegates Write Howard Co. Out Of State

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Howard County was written right out of the State Friday in a Republican proposal for creating a new congressional district for Maryland.

"It was an oversight in drafting the bill," explained Lester B. Reed, R-Allegany, House minority leader. "We're having it corrected in the printed version."

Howard, removed from the Southern Maryland 5th District under the proposal, was supposed to be lumped with the Western Maryland 6th.

Get Sleepy Driving? Take Off Your Shoes

Writing in the British Medical Journal, Dr. A. B. Alexander said: "The sleepy driver is the biggest cause of road accidents."

Kennedy Uses New Helicopter

WASHINGTON (UPI)—For the first time since he took office a week ago, President Kennedy Friday used a helicopter—a mode of travel much favored by former President Eisenhower.

Kennedy flew by helicopter to Andrews Air Force Base in nearby Maryland to greet the returning RB47 fliers. Two other helicopters flew secret service men and reporters to the air base.

U.S. Missionaries To Leave Congo

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department Friday advised all American missionaries in danger areas of the Congo to get out. U.S. officials are giving all possible help, the department reported.

Press officer Lincoln White said American consulates "are in touch with the missionaries in the various areas." He said he guesses hundreds of missionaries are involved.

Increased Coal Output Seen As Aid To Area Economy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The best way to help the economically depressed areas of the Appalachian Mountain region would be to increase the coal market by 100 million tons a year, an industry spokesman said Friday.

Joseph E. Moody, president of the National Coal Policy Conference, said the increase would mean a boost of at least $1 billion a year to the economy of the coal producing regions.

In testimony prepared for a Senate subcommittee holding hearings on area redevelopment proposals, Moody said strengthening the nation's coal market is essential for "real lasting relief" of the eastern coal areas.

Mrs. Carrie Liller, 22, of Fairmont, W. Va., suffered second and third degree burns over three-quarters of her body yesterday in an accident at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. Fannie Shillingburg, Newton Street, Keyser, whom she has been visiting.

Attaches at Potomac Valley Hospital said she is in "fair" condition.

Mrs. Liller was hanging clothes over a stove when her bathrobe ignited. The accident occurred about 9:45 a. m.

County Airs Highway Matters

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday discussed two matters pertaining to state highways.

Commissioner John T. Mason reported that he has received quite a few complaints on traffic hazards at the intersection of U. S. Route 220 and State Route 53 at Cresaptown. Mason said that when shift changes occur at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory the hazards are most prevalent to motorists and children going to and from school.

The board instructed James G. Stevenson, clerk, to write to the State Roads Commission concerning the situation and ask that some remedial action be taken.

The second highway matter concerns the parking along U. S. Route 40 in LaVale from the Fire Hall to the Narrows Park area.

Mrs. Florence Whitworth, chairman of the LaVale Civic Improvement Association, wrote the board asking about the parking of cars in the area listed. Commissioner John J. Rowan, president of the board, said that he had instructed Mrs. Whitworth to write the SRC.

The state agency has since informed the LaVale group that the Bureau of Traffic for the SRC is making a survey of the situation.

Simon F. Piper, Oldtown, wrote the board concerning road workers plowing snow in front of his driveway. He said when the road is plowed his driveway is shut off. The matter was referred to Harry Skelly, roads supervisor.

Lighting Plan Is Discussed

A representative of the Potomac Edison Company met with the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday concerning a proposed new lighting system at the Welfare Board building on Cumberland Street.

During the discussion it was brought out that heating buildings with electric systems had been advanced until they were economically feasible. New school buildings which have been engineered for heating by electricity are eligible for the industrial rate, it was reported.

Court Lowers Fine In Appeal By Motorist

A $50 fine assessed a local driver in City Police Court for blowing his horn on Baltimore Street was lowered to $10 when the appeal was heard yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court by Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris.

Kenneth William J. McKee, 23, was arrested in September by Officer James E. Brown of the City Police Department following an incident on Baltimore Street.

McKee was held in jail from 8:30 p. m. until 1 a. m. that day and finally released and a charge of disturbing the peace placed against him, it was testified yesterday before Judge Harris.

He entered a plea of not guilty when he appeared before Trial Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt on September 20 in Police Court, but he was found guilty and fined the $50.

Bank Names 1961 Officers

The Board of Directors of The Second National Bank has reappointed all officers and one member of the staff was elevated to officer status.

Francis H. Deremer, who joined the Trust Department of the bank in 1960, was made trust officer. Deremer is a member of the Maryland and Allegany County Bar. The Trust Department continues under the supervision of President J. M. Naughton.

The following officers were appointed:

Joseph M. Naughton, president; John H. Mosner, vice president and cashier; George A. Caswell, vice president and manager installment loan department; Russell S. Wagner, assistant vice president; Joseph F. Stakem, assistant vice president; Angela W. McClure, assistant cashier; Leland K. Emerick, assistant cashier; Charles H. Hyde, comptroller; George E. North, trust officer; Francis H. Deremer, trust officer and J. Edwin Winters, auditor.

The death rate among America policyholders of ordinary life insurance for 1960 is estimated at 6 for every 1,000 persons. This is less by a small fraction than 1959, and represents a decrease of about one-fifth over the last 40 years.

The male lion dominates the lion family. The lioness is the breadwinner, hunting prey. But when she brings it in, the lion eats first, the lioness next and the cubs get the scraps.

County Gets Funds From Liquor Sales

A check for $20,619.50 was received by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday as the county's allocation from the state tax of 50 cents per gallon on distilled spirits.

The check covers the period of October, November and December of 1960. The allocation is paid on a quarterly basis. The entire sum goes to the county and there is no distribution to the incorporated communities as is the case with some other state revenues.

Gas Restriction Lifted By Firm

Columbia Gas System of Maryland has restored full service to its industrial customers in this area, officials of the firm announced yesterday.

A 40 per cent reduction in supply went into effect Thursday with the explanation that the cut in service was being made because of forecasts calling for subzero temperatures. The reduction was to remain in effect until rising temperatures prevailed.

Yesterday, officials of the Columbia System said full service was being restored because of ability of the company to supply more gas to its customers.

It was reported that higher temperatures in some areas served by suppliers has permitted the firm to direct more gas to this area.

Burma is about the size of Texas.

Forest Work Sought For Men

William A. Wilson, a member of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners, today informed the board that in a recent conversation with State Forester H. C. Buckingham he was told there is a program under which unemployed men may be able to obtain jobs working in the forests.

Wilson said that his conversation with Buckingham was only brief but he understands that the federal government provides some funds for programs of forestry through which jobless men are put to work.

The commissioners instructed James G. Stevenson, clerk, to write to Buckingham asking for more information on the program and if possible to come here to outline the plan.

The commissioners all reported that they have been receiving requests for assistance from men who have been out of work and who have exhausted their unemployment compensation benefits.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

A "Cat" Can Look At A Queen? Not So, Says JRP

Let's pretend that you, Miss or Mrs. Average American, are invited to appear at the Court of St. James in just two weeks. Or to the White House in Washington, D. C.; just in time for Easter.

Would you have to take lessons in how to perform a curtsy, or in whether to shake hands gloved or ungloved? Well, don't come to me about curtsies, the least of my talents. But, when it comes to holding hands, your best bet is to follow the example of your hostess, who, however royal, is human. If the reception line is so long you cannot see her, stick to instinct and common sense. Even while a bare handshake seems more cordial, no rules abide. If it is convenient to remove a short glove or to tuck in the palm of a long glove, do so; if not, keep both gloves on.

Now, should you have practice in protocol . . . and should you bone up on etiquette and study the type of dress the occasion may demand? It would help, I suppose. As a matter of fact, for an Easter at the White House, it would be well to join a bowling league NOW . . . whether or not you are an egghead.

Still, such superficialities aside, what is the one and only IMPORTANT quality that will give you the genuine confidence to cope with "state occasions"? It's that you be YOURSELF, interested in other people, radiating friendliness toward them, indicating by your every manner and every word that you regard them with real RESPECT.

If it is already a natural everyday habit for you to treat everyone you meet with respect, then you needn't ever worry about what to do or how to act among titled dignitaries. You are ready, right now, charming lady, for any and all state occasions at the drop of an invitation. You can rest assured that you will make a right impression, a good impression, whether or not you fluff your lines, pick up the wrong knife or wear a dress that doesn't do at all! (Most likely these misfortunes will never occur, just because you are the kind of person you are. It's usually the nervous, self-conscious, affected woman who stubs her social toes!)

How do you think about, talk about, speak to the members of your family . . . your friends and neighbors . . . the milkman, the laundryman, the teacher, the waiter, household help and sales people? What is your instinctive attitude with children (naughty or nice)? What are your emotional reactions toward the boss, toward employees, toward fellow-drivers in heavy traffic? How do you feel when "others" are inconsiderate and disrespectful toward you?

You've known women with two sets of manners, one for queens, the other for commoners. They're absolutely phoney and roundly disliked. Don't ever let yourself be trapped into imitation one of them. You may copy her curtsy . . . but keep your own sense of courtesy!!

Assistants Discuss By-Laws

Ten members attended the dinner meeting of the Medical Assistants of Allegany-Garrett County Wednesday at the Fort Cumberland Hotel. The usual program was dispensed with so that the by-laws and constitution of the unit could be read and ratified.

Discussion was conducted on two meetings to be held in Baltimore April 26, 27, and 28. The Maryland Association of Medical Assistants will have Dr. George M. Simons of this city as guest speaker. His topic will be "What A General Practitioner Expects of His Medical Assistants." At the meeting of the Maryland Medical Association, the assistants will have exhibition booths.

The next meeting will be held February 22, at which time it is planned to have Dr. Mikio Kato as guest speaker.

Mrs. Virginia Keller, president, Miss Mary Melligan, vice president and Miss Barbara Largent, secretary, attended an executive committee and advisory board meeting of the Allegany-Garrett Medical Society Thursday evening to present the Assistants by-laws to the group for approval. Dr. Leslie Miles, Frostburg, Dr. David Miller and Dr. Robert Fedis are members of the advisory board.

Designers Feature Young Look

PARIS (UPI)—Top women designers, Gabrielle Chanel and Madame Gres, Friday agreed with the male rulers of the Parisian fashion world that the "young and slender" look is for springtime, 1961.

The thin line of a youthful appearance was woven throughout their collections shown Friday.

"Coco" Chanel conformed to House of Dior's Marc Bohan, Givenchy and the other men designers by choosing a young-looking pink as the dominating color of her showing. A double-breasted suit in pink basket-weave wool and in the casual style that made her famous featured the display.

As for Madame Gres, "my spring styles are meant to make women slim and supple looking," she told her audience.

Her slenderizing dresses had short kimono sleeves, an easy bodice and hip - hugging skirts. They were shown in loosely woven wool fabrics and jersey.

Her lovely, timeless evening dresses, draped expertly in chiffon or jersey, had long, slim lines.

United Democratic Women's Club will meet today at the Fort Cumberland Hotel. A Dutch treat luncheon will be served at 1 p. m. followed by installation of officers.

A hymn sing willl be held Sunday at 7:30 p. m. at Calvary Methodist Church, Ridgeley, by the combined choirs of Short Gap and Patterson Creek Methodist churches and the U. B. Church in Ridgeley.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm not very good at putting things into words, but I hope you will print this letter anyway. It's important.

My best friend was buried yesterday. M was very pretty and popular, lots of fun—and only 17 years old. She was going steady with a boy from school. M became pregnant and the boy wouldn't marry her. She was six months along when she died. The doctor said her heart gave out.

The boy's mother and my aunt are close friends. She claims her son was probably "one of many" and the girl was a tramp. This isn't true. M was a good girl, but she was foolish.

I've heard many grownups talk about this tragedy and no one blames the boy. They all say the girl's mother didn't raise her right. What about the boy's mother? Did she raise HIM right? Why is it that a girl who gets into trouble is a tramp but the boy responsible isn't even criticized? Please tell me. —HEARTSICK

DEAR HEARTSICK: One of the oldest laws of nature is that the female is the biggest loser in the game of heavy romance. This is why I hammer away at young girls and implore them to keep their heads.

If a girl loses control of the situation SHE pays the Big Price, not her boy friend. Unhappily, too many boys will go just as far as they can. Of course it isn't fair, but it's a biological fact of life that girls who get mixed up in out-of-bounds sexual involvements find that it's a man's world.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I suppose you've had this problem a hundred times, but I don't recall ever seeing it in your column.

Our 4-year-old daughter is a little spoiled. She was the first grandchild and everybody has always fussed over her. Three weeks ago I surprised Nina with a baby brother. I thought she'd be thrilled but instead Nina hates the new baby. She has tried to take his bottle away and cover his head with blankets. I even caught her pinching the baby to make him cry.

I've scolded Nina and told her that she must love her little brother and not hurt him. It does no good. I'm afraid she may harm him seriously because it's impossible to watch her every second. Please tell me what to do.

—UPSET

DEAR UPSET: Your first mistake was "surprising" Nina with a baby brother. She should have been told several months in advance—and in a way that would have made her happy and eager.

Nina feels displaced by the new baby and views him as an interloper. Give her special attention and additional affection and enlist her "help" in caring for her little brother.

Keep a sharp eye open and don't leave Nina alone with the baby until she overcomes this feeling of hostility.

Confidential to HELP NEEDED URGENTLY: You can't ignore your children for 15 years, Dad, and expect to win their love overnight. A good parent-child relationship is never purchased. Too bad you woke up so late, but try to make up for lost time—not with presents—but with YOUR presence.

Are your parents too strict? You can benefit from the experiences of thousands of teen-agers if you write for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Live With Your Parents," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

(Copyright 1961, Reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.)

HOLLYWOOD — Melina Mercouri, the big click of "Never On Sunday" not only denied saying she wouldn't come to Hollywood —she's coming. Charlie Feldman has signed the volatile Greek to star in "Trio" and will produce the movie with Henry Hathaway directing and Melina in the lead, here in Hollywood.

"Trio" is the newest novel of Dorothy Baker who wrote "Young Man With a Horn" with Kirk Douglas several years ago.

Once she gets here you can be sure the offers will pour in for Melina. I've heard that Joe Mankiewicz wants her for "Justine" and Jules Dassin for "Lysistrata."

"I'm glad I'm not footing the bill for the gowns couturier Pierre Balmain is whipping up for Jennifer Jones to wear in "Tender is the Night." Always high priced, Balmain's talents are coming still higher since the clothes he designed for the Queen of Thailand landed the queen on the "best dressed list" for the first time.

I'll go along with 20th head Bob Goldstein that whatever is paid for clothes is worth it. We gals love to see beautiful gowns on the screen and the prospect sells plenty of tickets. Jennifer and Jason Robards Jr., leave with director Henry King April 17 for three weeks of locations in Europe, then back to 20th Century-Fox to finish the picture in Hollywood.

Second thoughts on "The Misfits." I got the definite impression that Arthur Miller had written a lot of himself and his feeling for Marilyn Monroe into the Clark Gable character—even to things Miller may have said to Marilyn himself.

The whole picture has a feeling of an allegory and you find yourself listening for the meanings behind what actually is being spoken. The physical exertions made by Clark Gable roping wild horses, being dragged by them over desert lands, are shockers. But Clark insisted on doing them himself—wouldn't have it any other way. He loved this picture and this role, feeling it was his best since "Gone With the Wind."

Constance Bennett, who looks younger by the year, checked into the Beverly Hills Hotel Thursday night and brought along her husband Colonel Coulter. It's not just a vacation.

Monday morning Connie and John Emery, another arrival from New York, start shooting an Ann Sothern TV chapter. "It's Always April" in which Constance and Emery play Alfred Lunt-Lynn Fontanne type characters.

Connie isn't new to TV. I saw her dancing on one of the Arthur Murray shows and she was so graceful and looked so young it's no wonder she picked off first prize.

One of the reasons Carol Lynley's bridegroom, Mike Selsman, made the jump from the 20th to the Paramount publicity department in New York is that there's an understanding about Mike's being given a producer's berth. I can't think of a faster way to get Carol back before the cameras in Hollywood than to have Mike transferred to the coast to produce.

Incidentally, Carol's mother, Frances Orlando Lynley, who was a magazine writer before she started devoting all her time to managing Carol, has dusted off her typewriter and is back at her old job.

Can't think of a girl better suited for "The Gilda Grey Story" than Dorothy Provine, maybe because Dorothy has made such a hit as the flapper on "The Roaring 20's" TV series. Those were the good old days when Gilda was doing her shimmy shaking and Dorothy is not unlike the Gilda who rose to fame with her gelatin gymnastics.

Erna Lazrus, who will produce Gilda's story as an independent, has had the script ready to toll for a long time. But shooting was held up because of Gild's own request that it not be filmed while she was alive. She died last year.

Supervisors Discuss County Soil Survey

The soil survey of Allegany County was discussed yesterday afternoon during a meeting of the Allegany District Soil Supervisors which was held in the office of Joseph M. Steger, county farm agent.

Martin M. Gordon, work unit conservationist of the Soil Conservation Office here, pointed out that 71 per cent of the 272,640 acres of land in the county has been surveyed.

The first county in the state to complete its survey was Frederick County, according to Mr. Gordon, who said that this year Dorchester, Caroline and Somerset counties are expected to have their surveys completed.

The District Supervisors' annual report to the state office, which is due the latter part of next month, was also discussed at yesterday's meeting.

The supervisors voted to purchase a new lime and fertilizer spreader for use by the cooperators of the county. Joseph Silber, employe in the SCS office here, was authorized to make a check with local dealers for the purchase of the spreader.

Some books on conservation will be purchased by the supervisors who plan to donate two sets to the Allegany County Library and one for the county agent and the SCS office.

Also discussed at the meeting was the work load in the county and the conservation goals for this year.

Mr. Gordon reported that during the past month there was one new cooperator. He is William Roche who owns 100 acres of land on the east side of Polish Mountain. He is interested in woodland and wildlife improvement.

There are an estimated 25 million pets in West Germany, including 15 million birds, 2½ million dogs, and 2½ million cats.

Plaintiff Wins Judgment In Rental Case

An Allegany County Circuit Court petit jury yesterday afternoon awarded $6,000 to the plaintiff in a case involving equipment rental money from the Washington County Board of Commissioners filed by the owner of a power shovel.

Raymond T. White of Hagerstown filed the suit against the commissioners. In the original suit $37,000 in rental money was sought. However in his opening statement yesterday one of the attorneys for the plaintiff said he would reduce the claim to $14,000 or $15,000 if the jury so allowed.

After getting instructions from Associate Judge W. Earle Cobey, the jurors, eight men and four women, heard the closing arguments by the counsel for the plaintiff and defendant.

The jury got the case at 4:16 p. m. and within 25 minutes reached the verdict which was given by John E. Byrd, city, jury foreman.

A period from March 12, 1958 to the latter part of May or early June was determined as the time the equipment was rented by the commissioners.

The action stemmed from a verbal agreement in December 1957 between White and the then superintendent of Washington County Roads Department, Eugene Geary, for the rental of the power shovel for use at the county dump.

White testified that the rental fee, established from a national equipment manufacturers association handbook, was to be $2,850 a month, less 20 per cent.

The yard and a half shovel was reconditioned and delivered to the site by the Forsythe Storage and Transfer Company of Hagerstown.

Later, White stated, Geary came to him and said he had been informed by a county commissioner, George S. Fochler, who has died since that time, that the deal had not been approved by the board.

White has not moved the shovel since 1957, he stated, even though he received a letter from the county commissioners asking him to move it last August.

He testified that he purchased the used shovel for $6,500 in 1957 and reconditioned it at a cost of $1,400.

Following him to the stand was Richard E. Forsythe, president of the Forsythe firm that moved the shovel for $845.

White's lawyers were Martin V. B. Bostetter of Hagerstown and Gorman E. Getty of here. Attorneys for the Washington County commissioners were Norman Broadwater, John M. Colton, both of Hagerstown, and James S. Getty, of here.

One of the interested spectators was Lem Kirk, who is president of the Board of Washington County Commissioners.

New Phone System Installed

The new phone system is the only one of its kind in the area, and replaces the cord-type PBX system usually used by business firms which handle a large number of calls.

The new device eliminates the necessity of a switchboard operator to make connections on inter-plant and outgoing calls.

However, a switchboard operator is on hand to handle and reroute all incoming calls to the company.

Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company officials who supervised the installation of the system at the Will's Mountain firm, said the device is known as "756-A".

C&P officials report "Alinco" has tripled its telephone requirements and service since 1948 because of its expansion and building program.

The telephone conversion was arranged by Harry Stern, president of Allegany Instrument Company; Fred Hutchison, personnel manager of the firm, and Robert C. Rohrer, service engineer for the C&P Company in Hagerstown.

5 Permits Issued By LaVale Unit

Five building permits totaling $35,250 were issued recently by the LaVale Zoning Board, Lloyd H. Buchanan, chairman, said last night.

Fier and Burgess Inc. were issued a permit to build a home at a cost of about $9,000; Francis J. Mullooly, a home at a cost of about $8,000; William J. Delaney, a home for about $7,500, and Miss Janet Anderson, a garage for about $750.

Mr. Buchanan said additional copies of the revised zoning ordinance are available at a nominal cost.

He pointed out that business establishments in LaVale must realize the zoning regulations have specific provisions for signs and that permits are required before installation.

There have been many signs erected without permits and many of them are in violation, he said. All such signs will have to be removed or re-installed to conform to the regulations, he added.

Diligent Lutheran Churchman Takes On New Task Of Training Young Ministers

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer

He is a pattern-breaker.

He is a practical planner, who prefers poetry. He is a moulder of institutions, who is interested in individuals. He deals with large matters, but respects the small. He holds that success is to tend the failing.

"Pflicht," was the German word drilled into him in youth, "duty."

"You don't shirk that."

This diligent, benign churchman, who has played a major role in the maturing of Lutheranism in America and in the growth of the Christian unity movement, took on a new task this month—training young ministers.

"We want to inculcate a person-minded ministry," he said, "a ministry that sees its obligations to human beings as individuals, one at a time, apart from all others."

In Dr. Reinartz' view, as he takes up his new post as president of Lutheran Theological Southern Seminary at Columbia, S.C., the modern emphasis on organizational affairs, instead of individuals, is undermining the church.

"The Christian movement," he said, "is losing its essential power as it becomes increasingly group and mass-minded instead of person-minded. It's the heritage of the age in which we live.

"The whole thought frame today is much less on the value of the individual and his eternal destiny, and more on bigness and power, which is alien to what the church has to say to people. 'We must 'personalize' the ministers' service."

Dr. Reinartz, for 14 years secretary of the United Lutheran Church in America and an influential figure in inter-church cooperative affairs, also has other firm, even revolutionary, ideas for shaping new men of the cloth.

"We want to implant in these young men the awareness that success is not necessarily success."

Under present pressures, he said, church leadership often is absorbed in public functions, group statistics, in getting out general bulletins, arranging suppers, increasing attendance, on a sort of "restaurant business" basis of success.

BRIDGE TO GOD'S WORLD

The bridge, what a miracle! Tons of steel hanging in air . . . spanning miles of water . . . supporting an unending line of cars like so many ants.

And what a boon to man! The bridge saves untold hours and opens up new vistas of life.

The bridge of prayer, what a miracle! Spanning Heaven and Earth . . . carrying the needs and hopes of believing hearts. What a boon to man! The bridge of prayer opens up new paths of creative living and vistas into the realm of Heaven.

In Church you can discover prayer—the bridge which leads to God's world.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

'General Of The Army' Eisenhower?

Dwight D. Eisenhower wants back his old rank of five-star general, which he resigned when he ran for President in 1952, and Congress presumably will hasten to oblige. At his final news conference as President, Mr. Eisenhower said he desired merely a title without any extra pay to supplement his $25,000 a year Presidential pension.

When General of the Army Eisenhower returned to the United States from Paris in June 1952 to campaign for the Republican Presidential nomination, he retired from the Army and waived the $19,541.80-a-year retirement pay and allowance to which he was entitled. In a letter, June 2, 1952, to Secretary of Defense Robert Lovett, Eisenhower explained that he wished to "feel free to deal with Republican national convention delegates" without anybody accusing him of violating regulations or "embarrassing the government or the Army." One day after his nomination at the GOP convention, on July 12, 1952, Eisenhower resigned from the Army, ending his right to retirement pay.

Mr. Eisenhower now hints that he will do considerable writing from the quiet of his Gettysburg, Pa., farm—which recalls the mild controversy that broke out when it was discovered he had paid a long-term capital gains tax of 25 per cent on the proceeds of his 1948 book, "Crusade in Europe," instead of the higher rates imposable if the proceeds had been treated as regular income.

The Internal Revenue Service ruled that the capital gains rate should apply because years of Army service had gone into preparation of the material. The same argument would also seem to apply to any writing Mr. Eisenhower does henceforth. The question probably matters little to the outgoing President, who is reputed to have about $1 million in assets.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

1962

Two small political problems excite Washington as much as the big ones of world-wide significance. They are New York and California in 1962.

In New York State, the Democrats have not yet come up with a suitable candidate to defeat Governor Nelson Rockefeller for governor; in California, Governor Pat Brown has lost much of his popularity and the Democrats fear that Richard Nixon might run for governor and be elected.

The New York situation is particularly interesting for, if Governor Rockefeller is re-elected in 1962, he will, beyond doubt, be a candidate for the Presidency in 1964. The Democratic Party in New York State is so broken into factions that it is doubtful that there is time between now and 1962 to rebuild the party. The violent attacks on Carmine De Sapio have definitely weakened his political influence, but De Sapio's weakness has added no strength to Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt or Governor Lehman who as prospective Tammany bosses are in a grotesque role. Instead, Representative Charles Buckley has emerged as the effective power among the New York City Democrats and Buckley has more political sense than anyone who comes out of Washington to handle this very complex picture.

Before anything can really be done about 1962, a mayor has to be elected in 1961. If Mayor Wagner runs again, he will probably be elected, although it has been known in these parts that when Tammany has been thwarted, it delicately cuts the throat of the thwarter. The Republicans have no candidate. They talk about Fusion but there is no one to fuse with. The only advantage of the word, Fusion, for the Republicans is that they thus find justification for running a Democrat on the Republican ticket. If not a Democrat, an opportunist like the late Fiorello La Guardia who belongs to everything at the same time.

If Wagner is elected, he might run for governor against Rockefeller. It is suggested that the Kennedys like Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. for governor.

Such rumors could be false. If true, they add up to political nonsense because in the present split character of the Democrats, the name Roosevelt calls forth imprecations upon mother and son alike. Organization men prefer not to deal with them.

Kennedy carried New York State by the support of the Liberal Party, a Socialist-trade union party which normally supports Democrats. It is impossible to believe that the leaders of the Liberal Party, Alex Rose, David Dubinsky and A. A. Berle, Jr., would prefer Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr. to Nelson Rockefeller. Nor is it believable that Adam Clayton Powell, Jr., who presently controls the Negro vote, would prefer young Roosevelt to Rockefeller.

Therefore, the problem that the Kennedys still face if they want to eliminate Nelson Rockefeller in 1964 is to defeat him for governor in 1962. Nobody can be defeated with nobody and thus far no name has been presented which will be acceptable to the Democrats of this state, or the Liberal Party or most of the voters.

Whoever gave the impression that the Kennedys wanted Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. to run for governor of New York State was not politically wise. He has made that recordless man a target for opposition and attack a year too early. He has no forum to defend himself. He has been told formally that he cannot be appointed to the State Department position to which he was named. He is better off not to be, as, considering all our difficulties with Cuba, the Dominican Republic, Brazil, Venezuela, whoever is in charge, always gets blamed for unfavorable results, even if errors were an act of God—as the insurance policy reads.

On the other hand, if Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., does not take a job, what is he to do? It is tough being a son of an ex-President unless one has a profession. Robert A. Taft went into the United States Senate and made a career for himself, so that a monument stands for him in Washington. Theodore Roosevelt's sons did mighty well by their country but not in politics. Woodrow Wilson and Harry Truman had daughters. Herbert Hoover's sons stuck to engineering and business. But Franklin D. Roosevelt's children have a penchant for politics but it is always difficult for a son to walk in the shoes of his father, although John Quincy Adams did it.

'Live' Press Conferences Can Be Dangerous

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Off-the-cuff government through impromptu answers at Press conferences, with all its risks to the conduct of international affairs, has been frequently condemned during preceding administrations as an undesirable practice. The press-conference idea nevertheless has been steadily enlarged to the point that President Kennedy now conducts sessions with the newsmen as a show on "live" television.

If the President of the United States has something important to say to the world, there's no reason why he shouldn't take time to formulate a carefully worded statement which has been previously submitted to his Secretary of State and his other advisers, including perhaps key members of Congress. But in a press conference, a President is questioned and must answer on the spot. Time and again the words instantly transmitted abroad have caused embarrassments. Other governments, especially our allies, wonder sometimes why they were not, as a matter of courtesy, told ahead of time about such pronouncements, so that they could offer their own suggestions and perhaps modifications. For America cannot play the game alone— it is dependent on good will of the Western Allies.

There are signs that President Kennedy would like to modify some of the past practices of diplomacy. Thus, for instance, the word has already gone forth that the new administration does not like "summit" conferences but wants to talk to the Soviet government through the ambassadors at Moscow and Washington. It has also been intimated that the State Department will not give out comments to the press on the exchange of views and that there will be no "leaks." The point has been made that only in this way can progress be made.

But the same rule might well apply to the answering of questions on foreign policy at a press conference. No President is capable of doing as good a job in stating his views off-the-cuff as he could if he had time to write out his answers and consult his advisers. After all, the stakes are too high for any risks to be taken.

On domestic matters, the case is different. A President can cause embarrassment to his official family if he states a view divergent from one of his Cabinet officers, but the damage can as a rule be quickly reduced by later clarifications.

The most significant change that President Kennedy has made thus far in relation to the press conferences is to permit them to be televised and broadcast instantly as they happen. Under the preceding administration, press conferences were held in the morning hours and tape recordings were made. When necessary, however, certain parts or sentences were eliminated from the transcripts for the press and from the tapes for later use by radio and TV. With the press conference going on the air as it takes place, there is, of course, no opportunity for any editing or revision. Mr. Kennedy showed in his first conference that he has confidence in his own ability to say exactly what he wants to say and that he is apparently not disturbed by the chances of serious error. It was on the whole a creditable performance

Eventually Mr. Kennedy may refuse to discuss any of the delicate questions, and his answers will not be satisfying to the reporters present. The press has maintained that there is a "right to know" almost everything that goes on inside the government, and in recent years a steady campaign against the Eisenhower administration was waged by sections of the press which seemed to some extent to be motivated by desires to get partisan advantage out of the refusal of an administration to give out at a press conference all the secrets of the government. It will be interesting to see how vigorous the opponents of the last administration now will be in demanding the "right to know" what Mr. Kennedy may refuse to divulge.

Press conferences used to be conducted under a rule that the President could not be quoted, but the paraphrases that were permitted varied so widely that they caused misunderstandings. If the President talks with the press, there ought to be direct quotation. But to make a television show out of a Presidential press conference may give it an artificialify and a theatrical character which will open the door to demagoguery. It becomes a form of political campaigning and naturally, if the Republicans are assailed in such press conferences, they will demand equal time to present their rebuttals. Former Vice President Nixon is the titular leader of the Republican Party and the natural choice to answer any attacks made in Presidential press conferences. If he declines, then Republican leaders in the Senate or House would be logical for the task.

But the American people would prefer a rest from politics and political campaigning, and it will be up to President Kennedy to make his press conferences informative and objective without using them as a forum for political debate in which the side attacked is not present to give its version of the argument.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

RED CHINA—The Red Chinese loom as one of the biggest diplomatic problems with which the Kennedy administration must cope. They have become governing factors in three separate areas of foreign relations—the United Nations, disarmament, and the developing economic and political crisis in Asia.

U.S. efforts to keep Communist China out of the United Nations are straining our relations with some of our allies and many of the new African nations which have gained admission. Astute observers of U.N. activities are convinced that the U.S. must either shift its position or be prepared to withstand a voting defeat in that international body.

The matter of disarmament is more serious, and in a way more pressing. The new administration looks to disarmament as the only long-range way of easing the oppressive costs of maintaining the military deterrent force.

However, they realize it is completely futile to negotiate arms control with Russia unless Red China is included. And it is manifestly impossible to include Red China when, officially, we do not recognize that government.

Recent events in Laos serve to underscore the importance of Red China's role in Asian affairs. It is obvious to State and Defense Department planners that the Chinese Communists are in a position to foment endless unrest in the area, supporting revolutions, encouraging subversion in some of the weaker countries, and constantly maintaining the threat of direct armed intervention.

Leprosy Treatment Shows Great Progress

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

There is a good possibility that leprosy will be conquered in the next two decades. If so, there will be no need to segregate these people in special hospitals or colonies. This assumption is based on the progress made during the last 20 years.

Depsone has changed leprosy from a hopeless disease to a controllable condition. It does not cure but prevents further disfigurement, scarring, and amputation. We are hopeful a chemist will get a lucky break in juggling the molecules in Depsone to produce the perfect remedy.

Most victims of this malady must be treated for long periods. This is a drawback but not serious, considering that the drug is cheap, seldom produces reactions, and the causative micro-organisms never become resistant to the medicine. It is made to order for those in poverty stricken areas.

But the problem of rehabilitation remains. Reconstructive surgery may enable a paralyzed leg to become useful and efficient. This requires the services of a surgeon trained to meet the special needs of the group.

It is estimated that 12 million sufferers need reconstructive operations for the mutilations and paralysis caused by leprosy. In addition, rehabilitation is hampered by a public that fears leprosy. This is unfortunate because, at its worst, the disease is not highly infectious. Furthermore, Depsone renders it noninfectious.

Another complication is that many victims are too disabled to handle any type of skilled job. Their facial and other disfigurements add to the handicap.

YOUNGING EXERCISES

B. C. writes: What are the best exercises to keep young looking?

REPLY

None in particular because all forms of exercise keep us in trim, provided they are in keeping with our age. But other factors must be considered in maintaining a youthful appearance. Included are heredity, weight, posture, alertness, sleep, stress, diet, and habits. Overexposure to the sun, for example, may leave the skin as wrinkled as a prune by age 40. A tragedy seems to age some people overnight, whereas others go down hill rapidly through dissipation.

LICE AND NITS

Mrs. M. writes: My 6 year old daughter brought home lice from school. What is the best way to handle this problem?

REPLY

Consult your physician for the usual remedies and inform the school of the infestation. For more information, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on head lice and nits.

GALL BLADDER

Mrs. W. P. writes: Does an inactive gall bladder ever become active again?

REPLY

Not as a rule. When the wall of the gall bladder becomes infected and thickened, it no longer functions and should be removed, provided it is causing trouble.

EAR LOBE PIERCING

A. K. M. writes: I would like to have my ears pierced for old fashioned earrings. Is it safe to do it myself or must I go to a physician?

REPLY

Go to a physician for a painless and clean job — if you really want it done.

To the limit of space questions pertinent to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

A very smart young man in Houston, Texas, has compiled a list of rules for "How to raise a juvenile delinquent in your own family" that the Police Department there is distributing in pamphlet form. Some of its highlights:

1. Begin with infancy to give the child everything he wants. This will insure his growing up to believe that the world owes him a living.

2. When he picks up bad words, laugh heartily at him. This will make him think he's cute. Soon he'll acquire a vocabulary that will blow off the top of your head.

3. Give him all the spending money he wants. Never let him earn a penny of his own.

4. Take his part against neighbors, teachers, policemen. They all are prejudiced against your child. He never is wrong.

5. Finally, prepare yourself for a life of grief. Brother, you're going to have it.

Republican Leaders Believe Nixon 'Washed Up' In National Politics

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — The millions of TV viewers who saw former Vice President Nixon congratulate President Kennedy at the Inaugural ceremonies last week had no way of knowing what a triumph of sportsmanship this was. For both in the quiet of his home and in Republican circles, Nixon has not been a happy man. He has lived last fall's campaign over and over again to see what he did wrong. And behind the scenes, Republican leaders have been bitter against Nixon for, in their opinion, losing the election. And they have counted him out as a future candidate.

"Nixon is washed up," is the quiet word New Hampshire's Sen. Styles Bridges is spreading through Republican ranks.

As Republican policy chairman on the Senate side, Bridges has excluded Nixon from the closed shop which will lay down the GOP line on Capitol Hill.

The most powerful voices in Republican policy planning will be those of Senate GOP leader Everett Dirksen, House GOP leader Charlie Halleck, House policy chairman John Byrnes, plus Bridges, Arizona's barnstorming Sen. Barry Goldwater, the conservative champion, will also make his voice heard. But Nixon will not. They have combined to freeze him out.

To a man, they privately blame the former Vice President for throwing the election. The fact that it was such a hairbreadth decision only makes them angrier. They accuse him of ignoring their advice to slug harder which, they insist, would have won for the Republicans.

One who agrees with them is no less than General Eisenhower who long smoldered over criticism that he didn't pitch into the campaign early enough.

In private talks with GOP leaders, Ike has grumpily repeated: "I didn't get into the campaign earlier because I wasn't asked. I was just a soldier standing by for orders."

He felt he could have won for Nixon if he had been called into the campaign sooner.

Moments Of Bitterness

To these criticisms, Nixon retorts bitterly: "I believe I really won the election. It was stolen from me by fraud and theft."

He cites Illinois and Texas, perhaps Pennsylvania and New Mexico, as the states that should have been counted for him.

"The press coverage was biased and unfair," he adds defensively, "and cost me five million votes."

In these private outbursts, Nixon sometimes assails three newsmen by name: Bill Lawrence of The New York Times, Phil Potter of the Baltimore Sun, and Drew Pearson.

When Lawrence showed up with the press party that covered President-elect Kennedy's flight to call upon Nixon in Florida, Nixon's private secretary, Rose Mary Woods, turned angrily on the New York Times man.

"You ought to take that off and wear a Kennedy staff badge!" she screamed, pointing at Lawrence's press badge.

The party pros, however, blame Nixon, not the press. They accuse him of pulling his political punches for fear of being tagged the "old Nixon." They claim he pushed the pros into the background and listened to amateurs who wanted to make him into a namby-pamby "new Nixon."

Start Slugging

Bridges, for one, tried desperately to get through to Nixon on the campaign trail three weeks before the election. Yet this Republican power could not get beyond Rose Mary Woods.

"I can't reach the Vice President," insisted Rose Mary.

"Tell him," said Bridges, "that if he doesn't start slugging he is going to lose the election."

"We don't agree with you, Senator," replied Rose Mary sweetly. "All the information we have indicates he is going to win."

Afterward, Bridges commented wryly: "Nixon has plenty of convictions, but he doesn't have the courage to fight for them."

Nixon's only chance for a political comeback, Bridges now believes, is to win the California governorship. The Vice President has told intimates, however, that the political risk is too great. He would have to overcome a Democratic advantage of 1,200,000 more registered voters in California, plus the psychological handicap of seeking the state house as a political steppingstone to the White House.

Instead, Nixon plans to campaign for GOP Congressional candidates throughout the country in 1962.

Senator Goldwater, who would like to grab the Republican reins out of Nixon's hands, has been the most caustic Nixon critic.

"You just call any 12 state Republican chairmen," he tells fellow Senators, "and you will get the same story—that Nixon threw the election away."

At a private session with Eisenhower just before he left the White House, Dirksen and Halleck pointed out that the worst handicap will be the loss of the Presidency as a forum to air Republican views.

They discussed other possible publicity sounding boards, concluded that Congress offered the best bet.

Dirksen and Halleck made it clear that, as the Republican Congressional leaders, they intend to become the GOP "center of gravity" in the months ahead. They have decided that Republican policy is not going to come from Nixon's California law firm.

'Black Monday'

By John Crosby

Reginald Rose's "Black Monday" is the first original play done by WNTA-TV on its "Play of the Week" series and it is certainly the most interesting dramatic work by an American this year. The theater has not come up with anything as ambitious or as well written—not by an American, anyway—and neither have the movie palaces.

"Black Monday" is the story of a single day—the day of integration—in a Southern town. Mr. Rose keeps restarting his action at the same moment in time in each of his three acts, each time from the viewpoint of a different character — a marvelously interesting device, and one that builds suspense rather than diminishes it. There is violence, brutality, heroism, sentiment, and some fine scenes in the play. What the play lacks, I think, is a soaring eloquence which its great scenes absolutely need if they are to compete with the front pages.

That is the trouble with dramatizing any issue of such contemporary nature. It must justify its reason for existence. Otherwise, you find yourself unconsciously saying: "In what way is this an improvement on what I read in the papers this morning?" Rose partially justifies his play by some of his characters, especially a Negro handyman in a grocery store whose calm philosophy has great dignity, by the private agony of his groceryman, by the scenes between a couple of Negro kids, and the genuinely moving climactic scene at the end of the play.

The word among the avant garde is that Ionesco has lost caste among European intellectuals by writing "Rhinoceros" because it can be understood. His prestige will probably plummet even further with the Broadway production because it's not only comprehensible but terribly funny. Even the upper middle garde — we're mostly upper middle garde here—will have a thoroughly good time.

This is a triumph not so much for the author, as for the director Joseph Anthony and for his fine cast, Zero Mostell, Eli Wallach, Anne Jackson, and Morris Carnovsky. The marvel of this play — and it's partly Ionesco but mostly Anthony—is that it manages to hold its audience firmly in hand with a single joke. It does this by changing the emphasis of the joke; in the first act (the one where the audience will play along with you most readily), the joke is philosophic and literary (and also least successful); in the second act, the joke becomes farcical, slapstick, and rests firmly if heavily on Mt. Mostel's marvelous performance; in the last act, it becomes human, poignant, very real.

The theme of "Rhinoceros"—by now, you must all have heard—is the terrible pressure on modern man toward conformity and, in this case, towards the terrible mindless animalic antediluvian conformity of the rhinoceros. There's an excellent English movie "The Angry Silence," with the same theme, although it's stated in more conventional terms.

"The Angry Silence" is about a wildcat strike fomented by a sinister troublemaker (probably a Communist though it's never stated what he is) in which the workers fall into line because—well, it's the thing to do, because it's easier than resisting or than trying to comprehend the issue. (Actually, there's no issue. The troublemaker is just making trouble.) One independent thinker—and the glory of the human race is that there's always one independent thinker—does not fall into line. All sorts of misfortunes befall him and his wife and his children. Ultimately, he loses an eye and that sobers the workers, defeats the troublemaker, restores sanity. It's the War of Jenkins' Ear in different terms.

What I find surprising about both "Rhinoceros" and "The Angry Silence" is that they both came from abroad. (Ionesco is a Rumanian who lives in Paris. "The Angry Silence" was written by Bryan Forbes, an Englishman.) I thought that conformity was mostly an American problem. The Europeans have been telling us that conformity is mostly our problem, that the European intellectuals glory in their own diversity and independence. But conformity must be creeping up on them or why is it bothering European writers?

And while I'm talking about movies, I must join the chorus of approval for "General Della Rovere." Marvelous movie! This is directed by Roberto Rosselini who is showing his postwar form. It has good performances by Vittorio de Sica and Hannes Messemer, a German actor who almost steals the picture.

What fascinates me and heartens me about this picture is that it is upbeat in tragic terms. In place of the corruption of a good man, this is the story of a bad man who becomes decent through the suffering of his fellow man. It's an old theme, but in this age it has been out of literary fashion for a long time and I can't tell you what an emotional thrill you get from seeing it in use again in intelligent and dramatically respectable terms.

You're Telling Me!

While on a visit to Brazil Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia was booted from his throne by a revolutionary group led by his son, Afsa. In Haile's case there doesn't seem to be much truth in the saying that absence makes the heart grow fonder.

Statistics show the U. S. sent food abroad for 90 million persons since 1950. Uncle Sam certainly sets quite a table.

'Dry' Leaders Move To Block Liquor Plan

Public Hearings Set Next Thursday

By BILL BARRETT
United Press International

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Temperance leaders moved Friday to block in the legislature a move by the "wets" to allow West Virginia voters decide whether to amend the Constitution to open the way to sale of liquor by the drink.

At the same time resolutions were introduced in both the House and Senate calling for the constitutional amendment. anti-whisky leaders introduced in the Senate a resolution calling for a two-year study of liquor laws and alcoholism.

The Rev. L. E. Crowson, head of the West Virginia Temperance League's legislative committee, said any other approach at this time as to changing liquor laws "is like putting the cart before the horse."

He said after the two-year study, which would cost $25,000, if submission of the proposed amendment was justified then it should be undertaken, but not before then.

The "dry" resolution would set up a 17-member committee, reporting back to the 1963 legislature.

Both Senate and House Temperance Committees scheduled separate public hearings for next Thursday on the resolutions aimed at legalizing sale of liquor by the shot.

The Senate hearing will be held at 3:30 p.m. in the judiciary room. The House session will be conducted in that chamber at 7:30 p.m.

The study committee proposal was introduced by Sen. Lyle Smith, D-Cabell, and O. Roy Parker, D-Monroe.

17 Members

Introducing the "wet" measure in the House were Dels. Chester Hubbard, R-Ohio, and J. E. (Ned) Watson, D-Marion. Sens. O. H. Hedrick, D-Marion and Arch Riley, D-Ohio introduced it in the upper house.

The proposed 17-member committee would be made up of five senators, five delegates and seven persons appointed by the governor. The latter would include a minister, doctor, sociologist, economist and judge.

In other legislative action Friday:

— The Senate adopted unanimously a resolution aimed at granting District of Columbia citizens the right to vote in presidential elections. The House is expected to ratify the proposed U. S. Constitutional amendment next week.

— The House passed 75-20 a bill raising from 16 to 18 the age minimum for a driver's permit. However, so-called "junior" permits would be allowed to 16 and 17 year olds with written consent of their parents.

N-S Resolution Approved

— The House passed 62-34 a bill to raise from $10 to $20 the daily pay to county election officials.

— Delegates adopted on a voice vote and sent to the Senate for concurrence a resolution calling on the Federal Bureau of Public Roads to add a North-South superhighway in West Virginia betwee Morgantown and Beckley, to the Interstate System.

Among 14 bills introduced in the House and four in the Senate was one by Senate Minority Leader John Carrigan, R-Marshall, to enact a permanent 3 per cent consumer sales tax with exemptions for food and prescription drug purchases.

Dels. J. E. Watson, D-Marion, and T. E. Myles, D-Fayette, sponsored in the House a bill to eliminate the trade-in credit under the state privilege tax on purchases of new or used cars. The measure is designed to pump an additional $3 million into the state road fund.

The Senate set Monday to reconvene in order to give its committees time to hold sessions after adjournment of the business session. The House will reconvene at 2 p.m., and its major committees will meet after the session.

W. Va. Tax Cost Is Outlined At Keyser

KEYSER — Taxes, of one kind or another, will cost West Virginians an estimated $884,448,000 during the fiscal year, beginning July 1, according to figures released by the state Chamber of Commerce.

Mineral countians will pay a total of $7,763,000 in taxes during the coming fiscal year. The Chamber lists the county's share of the federal tax burden at $4,896,000; the state tax bill at $2,430,000 and the burden of local taxes at $824,000.

With an estimated total personal income of $28,480,000 for fiscal 1962, Mineral County residents can expect to contribute some 27.3 per cent of that amount toward the cost of government.

That works out to an individual tax bill of $347 for county residents. A family of four, says the Chamber, can expect to pay approximately $1,388 in taxes during fiscal year 1962.

"And that doesn't include any of the spending programs undertaken — or about to be undertaken — by the fifty-fifth state Legislature or the eighty-seventh Congress," says Earle E. Elmore, managing director of the Chamber.

In a breakdown of the state's total tax load for 1962, the Chamber's figures show West Virginia's share of the Eisenhower $80.9 billion budget as totalling $550,120,000. The state budget submitted by the Board of Public Works — not including federal aid or bond sales, but including taxes earmarked for specific purposes — is $202,527,000. Add $27 million in employers' contributions to the Unemployment Fund and the cost of state government rises to $229,527,000.

The Chamber estimates West Virginia's local government's costs — for schools, county courts and municipalities — at $104,801,000, bringing the total to $884,448,000.

If each of the state's 1,869,421 citizens was equally responsible for the tax liability, his bill would be $475.00. Thus, a family of four, on the average, will pay out some $1,900 in local, State and federal taxes during the coming fiscal year.

West Virginians, with an estimated total personal income of $3.2 billion for the coming year, will pay 27.6 per cent of that amount in taxes.

Keyser Fire Dept. Issues Annual Report

KEYSER—The Keyser Fire Department last year answered a total of 66 alarms, two of which were false, according to a report released by Chief William Zacot. Thirty of the alarms were in Keyser with 34 being outside the corporate limits.

Zacot said mileage on equipment totaled 1,123 and involved 2,654 man hours. Keyser's fire loss was about $6,000 for 1960.

May was the best month for the local firefighters as no alarms were sounded, but during April 15 trips were made to fires.

The worst fire of the year, the report showed, was the December 15 blaze at the Gilbert Taylor residence on Ward Avenue where damage amounted to $4,500.

Zacot said the report includes alarms answered in McCoole but does not include man hours or mileage of the McCoole company.

As for the ambulance report, Zacot said the local vehicle made 166 calls during 1960 for total mileage of 6,996 and 791 man hours.

A total of 128 trips was made in Keyser and surrounding area to bring patients to the local hospital. Here are the other trips:

Road Work Bill Before Legislature

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—A new revenue bill introduced in the West Virginia Legislature Friday, would provide an estimated $3 million annually for road work.

The proposal, by Dels. J. E. Watson, D-Marion, and T. E. Myles, D-Fayette, would eliminate motor vehicle trade-in credit under the state's privilege tax.

The bill, similar to one unsuccessfully pushed in 1959 by Watson, would require payment of the 2 per cent privilege tax on the full price of a vehicle.

Under present law, the amount of the trade-in allowance on a vehicle is first deducted and the tax is computed on the cash difference.

Senate Minority Leader John Carrigan, R-Marshall, placed in the hopper a bill calling for imposition of a permanent 3 per cent consumer sales tax with exemptions for food and prescription drugs. It was identical to a measure introduced in the House Thursday.

Among 16 other bills were measures to:

—Extend the 1 per cent insurance premium tax which expires June 30 and remove exemptions on farmers' mutual fire insurance companies, fraternal benefit societies and hospital service corporation and medical service corporations, by Del. Solomon, D-Monongalia.

— Reduce by one-half the interest charges that may be made by small-loan companies, by Dels Solomon and Lloyd, both D-Monongalia.

By TED TROXELL

Allegany's Campers, whose biggest trouble this season has been the inability to retain a lead, blew a 12-point advantage last night against city rival LaSalle but came through when it counted for a 57-55 victory that snapped the Explorers' 11-game winning streak.

A crowd estimated at close to 2,000 witnessed the struggle, which many people felt would lure a record turnout into the spacious Campobello gymnasium, the scene last year of LaSalle's 87-48 annihilation of the Campers.

Lead City Race

The victory gives Allegany the lead in the triangular city championship race with a 2-0 record, the Campers also having beaten Fort Hill, 58-50. Coach Chet Payne's team is now 9-4 for the campaign, while LaSalle is 12-2.

A three-point play by Bob Gaffney with 1:25 remaining turned the tide in Allegany's favor after Mike Long and Carroll Wilt of the Explorers had teamed up to overtake the Campers, who with 6:46 left led by 12 points, 48-36.

At one stretch LaSalle rattled off nine straight points. After Merv Pope's fielder made it 52-44, Wilt converted a free throw, Long connected on a pair of one-handers from outside, Gary Blake scored on a tip-in and Wilt engineered a steal which produced a field goal.

Gaffney was fouled by Blake in the process of scoring on a layup and the husky center dropped in the free throw to give the Campers a two-point edge. Mulligan added another point on a foul toss after LaSalle lost the ball on a traveling violation.

Pope Sews It Up

The Explorers still had an outside chance when, with 20 seconds to go, John Sloan stepped to the foul line for the one-and-one. His stray shot was rebounded by Allegany, however, and Pope sewed it up with a free throw that gave the Campers a four-point spread with only 11 seconds to play.

Superiority under the boards proved to be the big factor in Allegany's victory, as the Campers, with Pope and Gaffney doing most of the work, out-rebounded the Irish, 44-27. Pope hauled in 20 rebounds and Gaffney snared 16.

Allegany's point famine in the fourth period was preceded by a longer scoreless siege in the first half. The Campers jumped off to a 15-5 lead, but LaSalle organized forces after missing on its first ten field goal attempts and clicked off 12 points in a row to pull in front, 17-15.

A pair of two-pointers by Gaffney and Jerry Pentoney's one-hander gave Alco a lead (21-19) it kept until LaSalle caught up late in the last quarter. In all, the lead changed hands four times and the score was tied twice.

Campers Shoot .414

The Campers made 24 of 58 field goal attempts for a .414 percentage, while the Explorers, who were slow in finding the range, hit on 21 of 57 for a .369 mark.

Pope, who had a particularly hot hand in the third period when Allegany threatened to pull away, pumped in ten field goals and added three free throws for 23 points. Gaffney collected 12 and Gary Mulligan 10 for the Campers.

Long, city scoring leader, also wound up with 23 tallies, 10 of which came in the fourth period in the midst of LaSalle's valiant rally. Wilt, with 14, was the only other LaSalle cager in double figures.

By STEVE SNIDER

NEW YORK (UPI)—Sports of all sorts:

One of the better "Johnny Unitas" stories made the rounds while National Football League owners were meeting in the big town this week. . .When Baltimore's daring quarterback was injured earlier in his career, coach Weeb Ewbank reportedly had a standing order that Johnny was to be fined $50 every time he ran with the ball instead of passing it because one more injury might put him out for good. . .Every time Unitas was fined, so the story went, owner Carroll Rosenbloom slipped the money back to Unitas.

"That's not exactly true," insists Ewbank. "There were no fines. Of course," he added, "I did point out strongly that it would be foolish for him to get himself hurt again."

Fact or fiction, we like the other version.

Leaves Writers Guessing

Norm Van Brocklin, new coach of the new Minnesota Vikings, had a press conference the other day that left writers with an eerie feeling. . .Norm held in his hand a list of the 36 players his club had picked from the rest of the NFL but the roster hadn't yet been made public. . ."We'll have a good offensive line," Van Brocklin said. "But the defense will take a lot of work". . .It was the first time in history the writers knew what but not whom a coach was talking about.

American athletes sent abroad by the National AAU this summer will be tricked out in special "uniforms" for travel and street wear to make a distinctive showing before and after competition. . . They'll get a navy blue blazer, gray slacks for travel and blue slacks for more formal dress. . . Okay, lads, no more sport shirts and bermudas.

Ho hum notes: Pro basketballers, in case you didn't know, are scoring at an all time high. . . Scoring average is 117.2 per game and more than a dozen players already have topped the 1,000 point mark. . .Wilt Chamberlain may break his own mark of 2,707 before he's finished.

Divide Big Pot

Floyd Patterson and Ingemar Johansson will have picked up four-million dollars between them for fighting each other three times when all the returns are in from television, radio and movies alone. . .That's a guess from Telepompter, which handles such things.

Pro basketball owners feel it is far easier to stock a new basketball franchise than it is for either pro football or baseball. . .Two or three good, pro-type rookies can make a whale of a difference on the court, as Oscar Robertson is proving for Cincy. . .But rookies don't rate much in the other two sports.

Most of the cynics on the baseball beat figure the new National League entry in New York will wind up as co-tenants with the Yankees in Yankee Stadium. . .Plans for a new stadium on the outskirts of the big town are having rough sledding despite all the snow hereabouts.

Bayard Is Victor Over Southern High; Jackets Postponed

Petersburg High's Vikings, the Elk Garden Elks and Fort Ashby High's Eagles won important Potomac Valley Conference games last night to remain in contention for the loop title in the 19-team race.

The Vikings, bouncing back from two upset defeats in the conference, easily defeated Franklin High's Panthers, 79-59, at Petersburg, to register their 10th PVC win.

Elk Garden set a new school scoring record by trouncing hapless Circleville, 106-65, at Elk Garden for the Stags' ninth win in the circuit; and Fort Ashby bounced the West Virginia School for Deaf quint at Romney by a 68-61 score for the Eagles' eighth conference triumph. All trail the undefeated LaSalle High Explorers (4-0).

Ernie Nelson tallied 36 points for the winners, including 18 in the big fourth period outburst. He was ably assisted by Louis Alt with 23. High man for Franklin, which suffered its sixth loss in nine PVC games, was David Propst with 20 points.

George Bayer Shoots Eleven Under Par 131

Seven Tie For 2nd, Four Strokes Back

By HAL WOOD

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Slugging George Bayer, the man mountain golfer, thundered around Harding Park in five under par Friday and left four strokes between himself and the pack at the halfway mark in the $50,000 Lucky International tournament.

The six - foot four - inch, 240-pound giant fired a 66 to go with an opening round of 65 for a 36-hole total of 131—11 strokes under par on a course that is not supposed to be a pushover.

Seven Tied For Second

There was a big traffic jam for second place with seven men deadlocked at 135. These were Mike Souchak, Grossinger, N.Y., 68-67; Arnold Palmer, Miami, Fla., 66-69; Billy Casper, Apple Valley, Calif., 66-69; Charlie Sifford, Los Angeles, 65-70; Don January, Dallas, Tex., 68-67; Ted Kroll, Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., 66-69; and Stan Leonard, Vancouver, B.C., 66-69.

But it was Bayer, golf's longest hitter, who now plays out of South Pasadena, Calif., who stole the spotlight with his powerful tee shots and accuracy around the greens.

"I'm controlling my woods and I was putting well," he said after the round. "In 36 holes, I've had only 52 putts."

He had seven birdies and two bogeys for the round. He rolled in putts from as far away as 25 and 18 feet. He was knocking his approaches stiff on many holes and on the seventh, a par four 347 yard hole, he put a wedge 18 inches from the cup.

7,000 Tour Links

A crowd of about 7,500 toured the links in balmy weather with nearly half of them trailing the Bayer threesome and the other half the Palmer trio.

Vikings Select Final Players For NFL Season

Barnett, M'Elhenny, Sumner Are Picked

NEW YORK (UPI) — The new Minnesota Vikings of the National Football League Friday announced the names of the final six players they acquired from other league teams for their first season of operation next fall.

The Vikings obtained from the Pittsburgh Steelers halfbacks Tom Barnett and Jack Morris and offensive tackle Byron Beams. From the Chicago Bears they purchased defensive tackle Bill Bishop, fullback Glenn Shaw, and defensive halfback Charley Sumner.

Thus did the Vikings round out the group of 36 experienced players they picked from the other NFL clubs except Dallas and pro football generally agreed that the Vikings did fairly well.

The identity of the San Francisco Forty Niners and Los Angeles Rams players picked "leaked out" around Thursday midnight.

"I was surprised at some of the good names they picked," said league commissioner Pete Rozelle. "The Vikings did a fine job of selecting."

Among the other players acquired by the new ball club were defensive end Don Joyce of Baltimore, a 10-year pro standout; offensive end Dave Middleton of the Detroit Lions; and offensive guard Red Stephens of the Washington Redskins.

With the matter of stocking the Vikings out of the way, the league club owners devoted their sessions Friday to more or less routine business.

Del Miller Named National Driving Champion Of 1960

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y. (UPI) — Harness racing driver Delvin Miller, 47, of Meadow Lands, Pa., was declared the 1960 national driving champion according to annual averages published by the Universal driver rating system.

Miller won the same top honors in 1950.

During the 1960 harness racing season, Miller scored 116 wins, had 64 seconds and 51 thirds in 385 drives for a percentage average of .438. He previously was announced as the nation's leading money-winning Reinsman in 1960.

Another Pennsylvanian, Levi Harner of Bloomsburg, was second to Miller last year with a driving average of .424. Harner copped the top honors in 1959.

Thomas Graham of Salem, Ill., a youngster at 23 in the harness racing world, took third place with an even .400.

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP) — Seven horses were entered Friday in Saturday's 14th running of the Santa Anita Maturity. If all start, the purse will gross $167,370, with $93,370 to the winner.

The field: Prove It, T.V. Lark, Tompion, New Polyc, Gray Eagle, Prince Blessed and Djeddah Pat.

Skies cleared after rain Thursday and the track was slow for morning drills. It was expected to improve by post time for the mile and one-quarter attraction for 4-year-olds. All have had experience in mud.

Johnson Accepts Athlete Award

Track Star Honored By Sports Writers

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Gracious but obviously pleased Rafer Johnson Friday acknowledged still another coveted honor—male athlete of the year for 1960.

The greatest all-round track and field specialist in the world was accorded the honor in the 31st annual poll of the nation's sports editors and writers conducted by The Associated Press.

The holder of the world and Olympic record in the demanding 10-event decathlon was the first American to win the award in three years. Fighter Ingemar Johansson of Sweden won in 1959 and Australia's mile king, Herb Elliott, in 1958.

Among the top candidates were Arnold Palmer, the biggest winner in golf last year, and Floyd Patterson, the only man in history to regain the heavyweight boxing championship.

Champion Trotter's Race Career Ends

PARIS (AP) — Jamin, world champion trotting horse, will never race again, a doctor said Friday night.

Jamin, considered by many turf fans to be the greatest trotter of all time, suffered a pulled tendon in training Friday morning and was withdrawn from this Sunday's Prix d'Amerique, France's major trotting race of the year.

Dr. Claude Rouzaud, son-in-law of Jamin's owner Madame Leon Olry-Roeder, said following an examination, that the horse's racing career was over.

Pneumonia Is Cause Of Fighter's Death

WHEELING, W. Va. (UPI) — Ohio Valley General Hospital doctors said Friday the death Jan. 10 of boxer Sherman Walker, 17, Wheeling, was due to pneumonia, which came after suffering a blow on the head in a boxing match.

the GREATEST! by Walter Johns

A PHENOMENAL ball handler, Nat Holman once was described by teammate Joe Lapchick as a guy who could "pass the ball to you through a keyhole."

Far-fetched as it may sound, Nat Holman, one of the famed "Original Celtics" of yesterday, was probably the GREATEST of all the basketball players, considering size, even though he was hardly a six-footer and the high-scoring giants of today may dispute it.

Long known as "Mr. Basketball," Holman gained his early fame as the kingpin of the Celtics, a professional team which compiled an amazing record in the eight years it was a world headliner before it was disbanded in 1929 because of the lack of competition.

But Nat's career didn't end there, for he was spreading his name as coach of the City College of New York cage team, which he led for three dozen years, and the 1949-50 C.C.N.Y. team did what no other team had ever been able to do: win both the National Invitational title and the N.C.A.A. crown.

• • •

STILL part of the hoop game as an instructor and good will ambassador after all these years, Nat grew up with basketball in New York city (he was born in 1898) almost from the time basketball was originated by Dr. James Naismith in 1895.

It was in the school yards on New York's lower East side that Nat first started to play the game. At Commerce High one of his teammates was Howard Cann, who was to become a famed coach at New York U.

Nat was an all-around athlete, winning letters in soccer, baseball and football, too, but his great love was basketball.

In 1917 he began his professional career and four years later he was picked up by the Celtics, to lead this famed group for years. The Celtics played 120 to 150 games a year and won 90 per cent of them.

Holman ... "Mr. Basketball"

A terrific ball handler, Nat also was a fine set shot, fast and aggressive.

During this time Nat also was coaching basketball at City College as the Jayvee mentor. He also was the varsity soccer coach.

In 1918 he went into the Navy and came back in 1919 to become head coach.

A former president of the Basketball Coaches Assoc., Nat has been loaned to other countries, including Mexico and Israel, to teach the game.

West Virginia To Make Long Trip In South

Play William-Mary Quintet Tonight

NORFOLK, Va. (UPI) — West Virginia's basketball team begins what can be a make-or-break Southern Conference trip through the southland Saturday night with a game here against William & Mary.

The Mountaineers travel to Greenville, S. C. for a game with Furman Monday then will meet VMI at Bluefield, W. Va. Tuesday night.

WVU is leading the conference with a 6-1 record and could lose its undisputed top ranking by losing to W&M. Citadel stands 5-2 and should beat Richmond Saturday.

West Virginia edged William & Mary 74-72 in the season's opener at Morgantown. And it could be a different story here as the Indians are now up to full strength with the return of Bev Vaughan. Vaughan has averaged 11 points a game for the past seven contests. He missed the first game.

However, the main problem facing the Mountaineers will be how to stop big Jeff Cohen. The 6-foot-7 pivot man is averaging almost 23 points a game, along with 17 rebounds. Also hitting in double figures for the Indians is guard Kenny Roberts at 10 points a game.

But if there is a change in William & Mary, there is also a change in the Mountaineers, who jelled after a shaky start and have won 10 of their 11 games and are now 12-3 on the season.

Bowie Resumes Racing Today

Burch Memorial Is Feature Race

BOWIE, Md. (AP)—The third day of racing in Bowie's scheduled 48-day winter meeting, hard hit by snow since it began just a week ago, is set for Saturday.

The nine-race program at the Southern Maryland track will be featured by the $12,500 Burch Memorial Handicap at 5 furlongs, the only event to survive for Saturday after weather forced officials to draw up a new card.

Work crews cleared off more than four inches of snow from the Bowie grounds last night and today, the remains of a storm that forced cancelation of the Thursday and Friday racing programs.

Seventeen horses have been entered in the 22nd running of the Burch Handicap. If all start, the race will gross $14,325, with the winning owner receiving $9,311.

Diamond F. Stable's Tinkalero, winner of the 1959 Burch and second last year, will be topweighted at 120 pounds. The 6 - year - old daughter of Bolero will concede two to 12 pounds to her opponents in the sprint.

Woodling Signs Senators' Pact

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gene Woodling, 38-year-old outfielder who played with Baltimore last year, signed with the Washington Senators Friday. He was the ninth player to join the new American League club.

Terms were not disclosed but it was reported Woodling will receive the second highest salary ever given a Washington player. Roy Sievers received an estimated $35,000 with the Senators in 1959.

Woodling batted .283 with the Orioles last season.

Minoso Signs $50,000 Pact

CHICAGO (UPI) — Minnie Minoso, a man who almost never commits himself until spring training is underway, Friday set a personal record for promptness when he signed his 1961 contract with the Chicago White Sox for an estimated $50,000.

A club spokesman said Minoso's new salary represents a "substantial increase and makes him the highest player in White Sox history."

Minoso signed after a 12-minute chat with president Bill Veeck becoming No. 7 on the list ready for next season. Last season Minoso was last to sign.

Del Crandall Signs

The 30-year-old receiver was named the club's most valuable player for last season when he batted .294, hit 19 home runs and had 77 runs batted in.

Cuban Favored Over Calhoun

Fernandez Is 13-10 Choice At Garden

NEW YORK (UPI) — Middleweight Florentino Fernandez, a big-beaked knockout specialist from Havana, is favored at 13-10 to beat slugger Rory Calhoun at Madison Square Garden Saturday night and snap Rory's comeback "streak" at one lone bout.

Their 10-rounder will be televised nationally by ABC at 10 p.m. EST.

Rangy Fernandez is favored because of his explosive left hook and because of his impressive performance in his last fight on Nov. 12 at the Garden, where he floored Phil Moyer of Portland, Ore., three times, enroute to a fifth-round technical knockout.

Calhoun of White Plains, N.Y., is working on a winning string of one bout; but that triumph was a big one. Rory opened 1961 with a New Year's day decision over third-ranked Hank Casey at New Orleans. It was a major upset, and it boosted 26-year-old Rory back into the ratings.

Mark, Laver Cop Australian Doubles

MELBOURNE (AP)—Bob Mark and Rod Laver won the Australian Tennis Doubles Championship for the third straight year today before what was probably the smallest crowd ever to see the final of a national tourney in a major tennis country. The pair beat Roy Emerson and Martin Mulligan 6-3, 7-5, 3-6, 9-11, 6-2, in a dull, tedious match.

There were fewer than 100 paying spectators in the stands of Kooyong Stadium, which seats 12,000 and in the recent past has been jammed with 20,000 for comparable events.

Stocks Show Sharp Rise As Confidence Is Renewed

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market made a sharp advance Friday and signalled a new bull market trend according to some market indicators.

Wall Street found renewed confidence, brokers said, in indications that President Kennedy plans swift moves to check the economic decline and aid millions of unemployed.

Standard & Poor's 500-stock index reached a new historic high as it advanced .62 to 61.24, topping the previous peak of 60.71 reached on Aug. 9, 1959.

The Dow Jones industrial average advanced 4.72 to 643.59, making a strong breakout above its Aug. 24 recovery high of 641.56, but still remaining well below its all-time crest of 685.47 reached Jan. 5, 1960.

The performance of these two market barometers was regarded in Wall Street quarters as an omen of market strength which, having hurdled the upside barriers, would move on to new peaks.

Steels, motors, rails, utilities, chemicals, tobaccos, and electronics joined in a broad advance. The aircraft-missile stocks, however, remained laggard because of signs that cold war tensions may be easing.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 1.60 to 232.60 with industrials up 3.00, rails up .50, and utilities up .50 to a new 1960-'61 high. This put the AP 60-stock average close to its 1960 high of 233.90 and within hailing distance of its historic peak of 235.80 reached Aug. 3, 1959.

Based on the rise in the AP average, an estimated $2.2 billion was added to the quoted value of stocks listed on the New York stock exchange.

Of 1,274 issues traded, 727 advanced and 343 declined. New highs for 1960-'61 totaled 100.

Volume was 4.51 million shares compared with 4.11 Thursday.

Twelve of the 15 most active stocks advanced and three declined.

American Stock Exchange prices also advanced. Volume was 1.5 million shares compared with 1.46 million Thursday.

Bond volume on the New York Stock Exchange rose to $7.99 million par value from $7.09 million Thursday.

Ussery Scores Second Triple At Hialeah Track

April Skies Beaten In Feature Race

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 27 (AP)—Bobby Ussery, completing his second riding triple in four days, rode Never Give In to an upset victory over April Skies today in the featured seventh race at Hialeah before a crowd of 14,804. Don Poggio finished third.

Never Give In went to the front at the break of the seven-furlong allowance race, was challenged by April Skies on the stretch turn but ran away from the even-money favorite to triumph by 4½ lengths.

The winner, owned by Maine Chance Farm, was timed in 1:23 —superlative time over the deep track and only one second over the track record. He paid $6.30, $2.70 and $2.70. April Skies paid $2.50 and $2.30. Don Poggio paid $3.40 to show.

Ussery, who rode three winners Tuesday and two more Thursday, also won today's fourth race on Glass House ($8.40) and the fifth on Your Bill ($12.30). He now has 10 victories and is in second place in the jockey standings, seven behind John Sellers.

Never Give In, a 4-year-old colt by Never Say Die, started only three times last year, winning twice and finishing second to Francis S. in the Wood Memorial.

He made his winter debut at Hialeah Jan. 21 and finished second, tiring in the drive. With that race under his belt he had no trouble holding his lead today.

April Skies carried 124 pounds, 12 more than Never Give In. April Skies had won five of his last six starts, all of them stakes races.

Birds' Advance Sale Is Ahead Of 1960

BALTIMORE (AP)—Pre-season ticket sales of the Baltimore Orioles are running about 8½ per cent ahead of last year.

Elmer Burkhart, Oriole ticket manager, said advance sales for the 1961 American League season are approaching the $500,000 mark and should break the record $700,000 of 1960.

Burkart said sales have jumped despite a six-week delay while the league worked out a schedule for its new 10-team alignment.

Baltimore was in the pennant chase down to the wire last year before losing out to the New York Yankees. The club ranks as one of the pre-season favorites for 1961, and World Series ticket priorities will go to season-ticket holders or those who participate in various plans.

Virginia was the first ACC team to play this week when it met Bucknell Friday night.

Davey Moore Stops Galiana In Fourth

MADRID (UPI) — World featherweight champion Davey Moore of Springfield, Ohio, scored a technical knockout over Fred Galiana of Spain Friday night in the fourth round of their non-title fight.

Galiano scaled 133¼ pounds; Moore, 125½.

Moore, who had floored the Spaniard in the third round with a right to the chin, gave him such a battering early in the fourth that the referee stopped the bout at 18 seconds of that session.

Martinsburg-Fort Hill Contest Is Postponed

The Martinsburg-Fort Hill basketball game, scheduled here last night, was postponed at the request of Martinsburg officials who said it was impossible for the team to make the trip here. Schools have been closed at Martinsburg since Tuesday on account of the snowstorm.

It was the third time this season that Martinsburg had postponed games with Cumberland schools. The twice postponed Allegany-Martinsburg game finally was played and the Bulldogs won.

Emergency Plan Would Include 100 Streets

Snow Ordinances Are Being Studied

One of three proposed snow removal ordinances which the Mayor and Council have been considering since early this month lists 100 city streets as emergency routes.

The proposal provides that no car may be parked on any of the 100 streets during the term of an emergency called by city officials, and drivers of vehicles using the routes are subject to fines if they stall or impede traffic when the vehicles are not equipped with chains or snow tread tires.

The proposal provides that when snow, sleet or freezing rain is falling, and the police commissioner or chief of police believes it is causing hazardous conditions which may lead to congestion, either can declare an emergency, and until the emergency is declared over, no vehicle shali operate so as to stall or impede traffic, if it is due to the failure to equip the vehicle with chains or snow tread tires.

Such an emergency would last for 72 hours, or until snow plowing operations are declared completed by the street commissioner.

It further provides that an hour after police officials or the street commissioner makes a public announcement of the emergency, it shall be unlawful for a motor vehicle to be parked on any of the 100 streets.

Violators would be subject to a fine of not less than $10 or more than $100, or to jail if unable to pay fines.

The streets on which all parking at any time would be prohibited for the duration of the emergency are listed below.

Tobacco Sales To Minors Under 15 Violate Law

The state's attorney's office of Allegany County and the Cumberland Police Department recently have been receiving numerous complaints about minors buying cigarets and cigars.

Donald W. Mason, assistant state's attorney, points out it is a criminal offense for any person or store to sell or give any cigars, cigarets or smoking tobacco or chewing tobacco to any minor child under the age of 15 years, unless previously authorized in writing by parents.

The law which covers this violation, Article 27, Section 404 of the Maryland Code, also states it is unlawful for any person to purchase cigarets or any other form of tobacco for minors.

The penalty for violations of this law is a fine of $10 to $100 or five to 30 days in jail in default of payment of fine.

Another violation pertaining to minors is the sale of firearms or ammunition to youths under the age of 18.

A state law makes it unlawful for any person or store to sell or give away any firearms or any deadly weapons or ammunition to minors under 18 without the express consent of parents.

Mr. Mason said this law does not apply to any member of the Maryland militia or to supervised training or marksmanship activities of a recognized organization.

Violation of this law calls for a fine of $50 to $200 or 60 days in jail in default of payment of the fine.

U.S. Continues Effort To Free Bishop Walsh

WASHINGTON (UPI)— The State Department said Friday it would continue to press for release of five Americans imprisoned in Red China, one of them since 1951.

A spokesman said "you can be assured" their release would be taken up at the next meeting, Feb. 2, between U.S. Ambassador to Poland Jacob D. Beam and Chinese Ambassador Wang Ping-Nan in Warsaw.

But officials said they knew of no dramatically new approach to be made to Red China on the subject. Beam has asked for release of the imprisoned Americans at virtually all of the 100-odd meetings he has had with Wang in the last several years. The Warsaw meetings are the only diplomatic contacts between the United States and Red China.

The last American to be imprisoned by China was Bishop James Edward Walsh, 68, of Cumberland, Md., who was sentenced to 20 years for "espionage" last March. The four others are two businessmen and two civilian employes of the U.S. Army.

Ice Skating Is Scheduled

Ice skating was resumed last night at Gephart Playground and is slated to continue, barring a break in the weather or a deep snow.

The activity was called off Thursday night due to the snow.

Mrs. Eva M. Hogan, assistant city recreation director, said the concession stand has proved popular, serving candy, hot chocolate and coffee to the skaters.

She also reported that there will be sledding on designated streets tonight with barricades being placed and lanterns lit.

The policy in the city is that there will be no sledding on city streets during the time snow is falling. The barricades are put up after the snow quits.

Operating revenues for last year were $389.4 million, down only slightly from $395.1 during the preceding year.

Conlon Bill Gives PSC TV Control

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Television transmitting cables would be subject to regulation by the Maryland Public Service Commission under a bill introduced Friday by Del. Thomas F. Conlon Jr., D-Allegany.

He said he was requested to define the cable companies as being in a class with electric utilities.

The request was made, he said, by persons considering formation of such a cable company.

"At present, excellent television reception is obtained by an extensive cable system and by an ultra high frequency relay system," Conlon stated.

"A group of electronics enthusiasts, who believe they have worked out a more efficient television distribution system by partial use of cable, decided to check the Maryland law on regulation of cable television companies before proceeding with the formation of their company.

"They feel our Public Service Commission law is somewhat unclear on this point. . ."

Sales Tax Hike Introduced In Legislature

Battle Over Two Changes Expected

By HERB THOMPSON

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Gov. Tawes' proposal to lower the sales tax to purchases of 25 cents and tax restaurant meals made its formal appearance in the Maryland Legislature Friday.

The bill, expected to stir considerable fuss before finally being enacted, was submitted in identical versions to the House and Senate before they adjourned for the weekend.

It will produce an estimated $9,404,000 to finance a new program of aid to local governments, which Tawes endorsed but insisted must be financed with new tax revenue.

Other Actions

In other activity as the assembly wound up another week of work:

1. Republicans introduced their plan for creating a new congressional district by giving Baltimore, Montgomery and Prince Georges counties seats of their own, taking one seat away from Baltimore City and shuffling the alignment of other counties.

2. Sen John L. Sanford, D-Worcester, sponsored legislation aimed at breaking up sit-in demonstrations. His bill would make it unlawful to conspire or band together to trespass on private property. It provides for fines up to $1,000 and imprisonment up to a year.

3. The House completed Maryland's ratification of the right of District of Columbia residents to vote in presidential elections. Maryland is the sixth state to approve the constitutional amendment.

The administration's sales tax proposal followed lines announced earlier. In specifying that the tax is to apply to prepared food bought outside the home, it exempted meals sold by churches, schools and colleges and continued the exemption now applied to groceries.

Big Fight Expected

The application of the tax to meals, for the first time since they were exempted in 1950, is expected to cause the biggest fight over the proposal. Numerous legislators seem to favor keeping the levy out of the "hamburger and milkshake" category. They would specify that the food tax start with meals costing $1 or more.

This would reduce the expected take from the tax by about $900,000 but might lessen some of the opposition to it.

Despite some rumblings against lowering the starting point of the tax, from the present 51 cents to 25 cents, administration leaders feel that feature will be approved.

34 cents to 66 cents—2 cents.
67 cents to $1—3 cents.

ITU Urges Support For Bill In House

Ronald N. Sterne, president of Local 244, International Typographical Union, received a telegram yesterday from Elmer Brown, International president of the union, urging support of a bill in the General Assembly.

The bill, House Bill 178, would prohibit importation of strikebreakers from outside the state during a labor dispute. The state AFL-CIO has backed the measure.

Mr. Brown's telegram urged "maximum , immediate support for the bill."

County PTAs Seek Signers To Petition

Back Joint Program For School Spending

Parent-teacher groups in Allegany County are trying to get 16,000 signatures on petitions to Governor Tawes and the General Assembly, calling for more spending for education.

The petition asks for support of a joint program sponsored by the Maryland State Teachers Association and the Maryland Congress of Parents and Teachers.

The program calls for state spending of $11,727,226 in new state aid for education, most of it for teacher's salaries. The proposed increase in the minimum salary range from $3,200-5,300 to $4,000-$6,000 would cost $9,453,145. Another $2,274,081 would go for other types of state aid to school programs.

This is in contrast to the James Committee recommendations which were accepted in large part by Governor Tawes and leaders in the General Assembly.

The James Committee program calls for raising the minimum salary range to $3,600-$5,700 at a cost of $2,687,072. Also included is $671,769 for non-salary aid and $3,255,843 in school construction funds, for a total of $6,614,684.

The State Teachers Association and the Congress of Parents and Teachers, calling their own program "the more adequate solution," have launched petition campaigns.

Mrs. B. R. Lewis, president of the Allegany County Council of PTA, said most PTA groups in the county have reported they are actively seeking signatures on the petition. Some others, however, have not indicated what action they will take.

The goal is 16,000 signatures in this county, Mrs. Lewis said.

Fred MacMurray Featured In TV Section Today

Many business deals are put into contract form on the golf course, but one involving actor Fred MacMurray must rank as a rarity. Read about it today in TV Week, the weekly television schedule offered with the Saturday editions of The Cumberland News and Cumberland Evening Times.

Telecasts next week that you'll be able to keep a check on with TV Week include Jack Paar's special show, "The Square World of Jack Paar," President Kennedy's State of the Union message, and all regularly scheduled shows beamed over seven channels in this area.

Area Resident Is Found Dead Of Gun Wound

Vernon Raymond Shumaker, 70, was found dead yesterday morning at his home in Purgitsville, W. Va., of a self-inflicted gun wound, according to Hampshire County, W. Va. authorities.

A. L. Russell, coroner for Hampshire County, ruled the death a suicide and said Mr. Shumaker died as a result of a head wound inflicted by a shot from a .22 calibre revolver.

Mr. Shumaker's body was found about 7 a. m. yesterday by Floyd Stickley, who roomed with Mr. Shumaker. It was reported the victim had been in ill health.

State Police at Romney also investigated the shooting.

Born near Purgitsville, Mr. Shumaker was a son of the late R. A. and Blanche Shumaker. His wife, Zula (Leatherman) Shumaker, died in 1950.

He was a retired employe of Chert Mountain Orchard Company and was a member of Mt. Olive Evangelical United Brethren Church.

Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. Hazel Rogers, Keyser; Mrs. Verna Skidmore, Ridgeley, and Mrs. Myla Malcolm, McCoole; three sons, Boyd and Glenn, both of Keyser, and Norman Shumaker, Huntington, W. Va.; a sister, Mrs. Beulah Rotruck, Keyser; 13 grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

The body will be at the Rogers Funeral Home, Keyser, after 7 p. m. today.

Garrett Tax Bills Delayed Till Monday

Garrett County's 8,000 real estate tax bills, scheduled to be mailed yesterday, won't go out until Monday.

Joseph Welch, the county treasurer, said the tax rate remains at $2.35 per $100 of assessed valuation, and the county commissioners expect collections to total $875,849.18 during the year.

Taxpayers who pay their bills during February get a five per cent discount. The rate drops to four per cent in March and April, three per cent in May and June. No discount is given during July, August and September, and beginning October 1, penalties are charged at the rate of one-half per cent per month.

Cold Weekend In Sight For The District

More Snow Is Possible

So says the weatherman, who forecasts temperatures of zero to five below in this area this morning.

Tomorrow will be cloudy and cold with possible snow, he said.

The mercury was headed toward the zero mark in Garrett County last night, according to Ralph Weber, who said the temperature was eight above by 5 p. m. yesterday.

It was winter all day in Garrett County where it was windy, snowy and overcast during the afternoon and evening. The high temperature in that county yesterday was a shivering 15 degrees and the low was a teeth-chattering five above zero.

Some back roads in the county were drifted yesterday, according to Mr. Weber, who said the main roads were passable.

Robert Golden, weather observer here, said the wind was rather brisk last night and the temperature at 10 p. m. was 12 degrees under clear skies.

On Thursday about two inches of new snow fell in the Cumberland area and about four inches fell in nearby Garrett County.

For those who would like to be elsewhere during the current cold snap the temperature was 80 degrees in Honolulu yesterday and in Miami, Fla., vacationers were basking in temperatures of 75 degrees.

There will be selections from Gilbert and Sullivan light operas, and then a rousing program of lighter music from Broadway shows, including "Show Boat," "Kiss Me Kate," "Porgy and Bess," and "Oklahoma!" Two compositions by the late Tom Waring, who appeared here several times with the Tulsa Choir, will be sung in his memory.

MacMurray Inks Contract On Golf Course

It's a well known fact that more big business deals, mergers and sales are agreed upon on the golf course than around the conference table. Evidently, it was with this in mind that Don Fedderson made a date to play a round of golf with Fred MacMurray. No less than 32 times before Fred had turned down television offers. On the 33rd time, but mind you, on the golf course, he finally accepted. But it wasn't easy!

Although Fedderson lost the game, he did get the contract, and actually, it's still not certain whether he won the deal.

Armed with his golf bag, six scripts and a load of production facts, Fedderson made a last ditch attempt. By the time they were halfway around the course, they had shaken hands on a deal: every scene in which Fred appears in the entire 39 programs, will be filmed five days weekly, over a 13 or 14-week period. Afterward, while Fred is off making movies, or golfing, or hunting or fishing, Fedderson will film the rest of the series, matching scenes and situations, which involve only the other members of the cast.

Navy To Meet Pirate Ship

Galvao Willing To Transfer 588 Captive Passengers

By HORST BUCCHOLZ

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) — The U.S. Navy said Friday night rebel Portuguese passenger ship Santa Maria has "drastically changed course apparently heading for Belem, Brazil."

Announcement of the change in course followed a U.S. promise of safe conduct for the rebel skipper to discharge his 588 captive passengers at port.

The Navy told the rebel, Capt. Henrique Galvao, it would take no action against the ship if he would carry out his announced willingness to release the passengers, including 42 Americans, he holds as virtual hostages.

Position Is Given

The Navy said the ship's position at 7 p.m. (EST) was 1 degree 50 minutes north latitude and 34 degrees 50 minutes west longitude.

This would put the Santa Maria about 400 miles from the nearest point of the Brazilian coast and about double that distance from Belem.

Adm. Robert L. Dennison, commander in chief of the Atlantic Fleet, made the offer of safe conduct in a new exchange of messages with the Portuguese insurgent leader.

Dennison said because of responsibility for the protection of lives and property of the Americans aboard the Santa Maria and because of humanitarian concern for all the passengers he would "take no action to interfere with (Galvao's) entering and departing a port, or lying off a port, for the purpose of discharging the passengers."

Galvao said he was ready to meet with U.S. authorities aboard the ship or at a landing port.

Will Accept Escort

Galvao also said he would accept a U.S. Navy escort to protect him from Portuguese warships steaming to head him off from his earlier announced destination of Angola in Portuguese West Africa. There was no announcement by the United States of such an offer, however.

The Americans aboard the ship told the Defense Department in a message that they wanted to be transferred at sea. They said Galvao was willing to negotiate for the transfer of passengers who have been virtual hostages since the ship was seized on the high seas Sunday.

Pennsy's Car Shop At Baltimore Burns

A four-alarm fire destroyed the Pennsylvania Railroad's car repair shop at its Canton yards near Baltimore, early yesterday. This heap of corrugated tin and charred beams is all that is left of the 80-by-200-foot shop, the largest car repair facility in Pennsy's Chesapeake Region. A baggage car, a crane and other equipment also were destroyed. Loss exceeded $300,000. (AP Photofax.)

Shinnston Pair Arraigned In Bank Shortage

FAIRMONT, W. Va. (UPI) — Two women charged with separately dipping into the till of the Bank of Shinnston to the tune of nearly a quarter of a million dollars waived hearing Friday before U. S. Commissioner L. T. Eddy.

Mrs. Jo Ann Stevens, 25, accused of falsifying records to cover a shortage of $224,244.70 during her eight years with the small bank, was released under $10,000 bond, but Miss Lucy Fortney, 62, the assistant cashier, was returned to jail in lieu of bond.

Miss Fortney, who had been with the bank since it was founded in 1932, is accused of making false entries in the amount of $22,549.91.

The quiet, gray - haired "Miss Lucy" was not expected to remain in Marion County jail long, although arrangements to post bond for her apparently were delayed.

The women were arrested Thursday by the FBI after federal and state bank examiners turned up the shortage. They had been called in by bank officials who discovered something was amiss after becoming suspicious of "high-living" by Mrs. Stevens, a $250-a-month bookkeeper.

Test Ban Talks To Be Postponed By USSR-Britain

LONDON (UPI)—Britain as well as Russia will agree to a postponement of nuclear test ban talks in Geneva to give the new Kennedy administration more time to formulate American policy on the issue, authoritative sources said Friday.

It appeared that the American-British-Soviet talks, scheduled to be resumed Feb. 7 in Geneva, would be put off until late in March. They had recessed last month.

The Soviet has indicated it will agree to a postponement to give President Kennedy more time to prepare what he called "a clear American position" on a nuclear test ban.

Adlai Believes JFK May Meet Khrush

Stevenson, new U. S. ambassador to the United Nations, made the statement at a news conference. He also expressed a desire for improved relations with Communist China.

It was the first news conference for Stevenson since he was named chief U.S. delegate to the United Nations. His audience consisted of about 250 newsmen from many countries, and a scattering of U.N. press officials and personnel from diplomatic missions, including the Soviet press attache.

He was applauded at the beginning and end of the conference. Attendance was among the largest for such an event in U.N. history.

There has been speculation that Khrushchev may attend the resumed session of the General Assembly opening March 7. Stevenson was asked whether Kennedy would welcome informal contacts with Khrushchev if the Soviet premier does come.

"I cannot speak for the President on this matter because I have not discussed it with him, but my guess is that he would be happy to meet Mr. Khrushchev here," Stevenson replied.

He made it clear he is not suggesting any summit conference but added that he is sure Kennedy "would be delighted to have an opportunity to get acquainted with him (Khrushchev)." The distinction here is between informal talks and formally planned negotiations.

In Washington, White House press secretary Pierre Salinger expressed belief Stevenson was voicing his own opinion on the President's attitude toward seeing Khrushchev.

"The President has said he would make a decision on that matter when it was known whether Mr. Khrushchev was coming," Salinger told reporters. "I will just stand on what the President said at his press conference Wednesday night."

Rocketmen May Project Young Chimp In Space

WASHINGTON (AP)— A young chimpanzee, a specimen of man's most intelligent tree-dwelling cousin, is scheduled to be rocketed into space briefly next week, perhaps Tuesday.

If all goes well with the smart ape on the projected 290-mile, 16-minute arched flight into the Atlantic from Cape Canaveral, Fla., one of the nation's seven human astronauts will have a ticket for the next such trip.

The United States' hopes of hurling a man into an earth orbit sometime this year are pinned to success on these two shots.

A chimp was selected for the pioneer flight because his body and mind most nearly resemble man's. In fact, a chimp's mental processes are more man-like than ape-like.

The chimp to be used on this flight will be about 3½ to 4 years old and will weigh somewhere between 27 and 40 pounds. He will be picked from a colony of six specially trained chimps.

White House Backtracks First Blooper

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House today backtracked from what it called the "first blooper" of the new administration.

President Kennedy reversed a subordinate's decision to discontinue special tours of the White House for the constituents of congressmen.

"The President is very desirous that the tours should continue," press secretary Pierre Salinger announced.

And at Kennedy's direction, Salinger called Rep. Robert R. Barry, R-N.Y., to notify him that his constituents would be very welcome at the White House.

Barry complained with irritation Thursday that he had telephoned the White House to arrange a special morning visit for four constituents, and had been told bluntly that the privilege expired with the Eisenhower administration.

Salinger said Kennedy read about Barry's complaint in the morning paper—the first he had heard about the incident. And in no time at all the press secretary was instructed to let the world know that there was no change at all in the matter of this extra favor for Congress members.

Salinger broke the news to the press by saying: "Well, the other day I was asked at the National Press Club when this administration would pull its first blooper. We are now ready to admit our first one."

FDIC Pays Off In Iowa Bank Embezzlement

SHELDON, Iowa (UPI) — Sheldon's two banks did a land-office business Friday—but only one of them enjoyed the rush.

Depositors lined up at the looted Sheldon National Bank as the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. (FDIC) continued to thaw the 10-day economic freeze clamped on the community by Mrs. Burnice Geiger's $2 million embezzlement.

Mrs. Geiger, the bank president's 58-year-old daughter and assistant cashier of the institution, was jailed in Sioux City, Iowa, Jan. 16. The bank was taken over by the FDIC and closed to the public until Thursday.

Small crowds, some joking and laughing, braved near - zero temperatures to line up at the five windows of the Sheldon National to collect on their FDIC - insured funds. Most of them went right around the corner to the Security State Bank, the community's only remaining solvent bank, to deposit the money.

Roughly $350,000 in FDIC checks were deposited Thursday, he said, on the first day of the payoffs at Sheldon National.

FDIC officials said 400 of the bank's 2,200 bank depositors lined up Thursday to collect about $573,000 in insured deposits.

Ed Murrow May Head USI Agency

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Edward R. Murrow of the Columbia Broadcasting System is almost certain to become head of the United States Information Agency, administration sources reported Friday night.

President Kennedy is expected to name Murrow to the post shortly. The USIA is the government's chief public relations arm abroad, and maintains information centers and libraries in many countries.

It also operates the Voice of America radio system, which beams news and entertainment programs to foreign nations, including those behind the Iron Curtain.

Kennedy debated long and hard on whom he would name to the job.

The post is now vacant. George V. Allen, the last director, has resigned, and the agency is now being run by Abbott Washburn, acting director.

Living Costs Hit New High In December

Higher Consumer Price Reflected In Food, Housing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Living costs hit another record high in December for an average 1960 increase of 1.5 per cent, the Labor Department reported Friday. A government expert predicted they would climb about the same amount this year.

Higher prices for food and housing pushed the department's index of consumer prices upward by one-tenth of one per cent in December. It was the fourth consecutive month and the 10th out out of the last 12 that the index has risen.

Robert J. Myers, deputy commissioner of labor statistics, said no long-range price stability was in sight. He predicted the price index probably would rise by another one to two per cent during 1961.

The department also reported that the average factory worker's take home pay dropped slightly in December, a month in which it generally rises. The dip was blamed on a 24-minute shrinkage in the work week, caused largely by eastern snow storms.

As a result of the December price rise, about 150,000 workers in aircraft manufacturing, other metal working industries and trucking will receive wage boosts of 1 or 2 cents an hour. Their wage contracts are tied to the index by cost-of-living clauses.

The index, based on a sampling of 300 goods and services bought by middle income families, showed an average rise of 1.5 per cent during 1960. From 1955 to 1960 it rose by 10.5 per cent, an average of 2.1 per cent a year.

At the end of December, the last full year of the Eisenhower administration, the index stood at 127.5 per cent of prices in the base period of 1947-49. This meant that a basket of the sampled goods which cost $20 in 1947-49 cost $25.50 last year.

Kuter Says US Vulnerable To Missile Attack

CHICAGO (AP)—The man who heads this continent's air defense said Friday there is no defense against intercontinental ballistics missiles—and there won't be for five years.

Gen. Laurence S. Kuter, commander in chief of the North American Air Defense Command, spelled it out this way: "We have no defense of any nature against the ballistics missile."

He said we do have a warning system but that, due to the time for construction, "it will be 1966 before we can have an AICBM (Anti - Intercontinental Ballistics Missile) system."

At a news conference, the general said we are faced by a Soviet Union armed with an "appreciable quantity" of ICBM weapons.

ARRESTED—Herman Frederick Marks, described as one-time executioner for the Fidel Castro regime in Cuba, was arrested in New York City, Attorney-General Robert Kennedy announced in Washington yesterday. Congress Hits Huge Waste In US Air Force

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congressional auditors said Friday the Air Force will waste $183 million this year unnecessarily keeping officers in the wild blue yonder.

The General Accounting Office (GAO) said that unless the regulations are changed nearly 27,000 officers will receive flight pay "who are either excess to stated Air Force requirements" or are doing jobs which don't require flying skills.

The GAO, charged by Congress to keep an eye on government spending, said the Air Force will spend $112 million for maintenance and operating costs and $71 million for flight pay in keeping these officers on flying status during the year ending June 30.

The report said there are more than 10,000 officers currently on flying status who aren't needed for that kind of work.

It estimated the Air Force could save about $70 million a year in operating expenses alone if it eliminated flight requirements from these positions.

Besides wasting money, the GAO said, requiring the officers to fly wastes their time.

Hoover Cabinet Member Dies

TOLEDO (UPI)—Services will be held at First Congregational Church here Saturday for Walter F. Brown, 91, who was postmaster general during the Hoover administration.

The native of Massillon who was the son of a Toledo postmaster died Thursday a month after the death of his wife, Katherine.

Brown also held posts during the Harding and Coolidge administrations, long was active in politics here, and headed the Hudson and Manhattan Railroad Co. during the depression days.

U2 Pilot Writes Father He May Be Released Soon

NORTON, Va. (UPI) — The father of imprisoned U2 spy pilot Francis Powers said Friday he had received a letter from his son indicating that the Russians might release him soon.

Oliver G. Powers, a shoe repairman in nearby Pound, Va., said his son told him in a letter postmarked two weeks ago and received Thursday night that he received word Soviet Premier Khrushchev "might let me come home."

Powers said although he receives letters from his son about twice a month this was the first time the pilot had written so confidently about his chances for freedom.

In Washington, White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger said he knew nothing about any change in the Powers case.

The pilot's wife, Mrs. Barbara Powers, said in Milledgeville, Ga. she had not seen the letter released by the elder Powers. She said, however, she received a letter from her husband Thursday and he expressed no personal hope of release.

Powers was shot down May 1, 1960 over Russian territory while on a high altitude reconnaissance mission. The incident strained East-West relations to the near-breaking point and was cited by Khrushchev in his refusal to attend a summit conference with then-President Dwight Eisenhower.

(In Moscow, diplomatic sources reported Friday there is no indication that Powers might be released soon. Observers believe it "quite unlikely." The sources said Powers may have misunderstood a statement by Khrushchev in which he said he could let "bygones be bygones" if the United States expressed regret for the spy flight. What the premier apparently had in mind was not pressing a complaint in the United Nations if U.S. regret was voiced).

Orders Action On Problem Of Cuban Refugees

Will Confer Today On Questions Of National Security

By ALVIN SPIVAK

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy and his top economic advisers held a three-hour conference Friday on steps they will take to boost the nation's sagging economy.

The only detail of the meeting made public was an announcement that the problem of unemployment compensation benefits had been discussed. The administration has been considering a plan for emergency extension of the period for which the unemployed are eligible for benefits.

Present at the luncheon meeting were Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon, Labor Secretary Arthur Goldberg, Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Abraham Ribicoff, and Chairman Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., of the House Ways and Means Committee.

Afterwards Kennedy announced that Ribicoff's department will take charge of the Cuban refugee problems in the United States, and that the secretary and his aides will fly to Florida Monday for an on-the-spot investigation.

In a letter to Ribicoff charging him with the mission, Kennedy wrote that "in the presently troubled world, we cannot be a peacemaker if we are not also the protector of those individuals as well as nations who cast with us their personal liberty and hope for the future."

An estimated 40,000 refugees from the Cuban regime of Fidel Castro are now in the south Florida area.

Accepts Voorhees' Resignation

Under the Eisenhower administration the refugee problem was handled by Tracy Voorhees, who was the former president's special representative. Kennedy accepted Voorhees' resignation Friday.

Press Secretary Pierre Salinger said that when the new President accepted the resignation he decided to put responsibility for the Cuban refugee problem under the Health, Education and Welfare Department.

The announced purpose of the economic meeting was to "discuss the economy and possible measures to stimulate it." Out of it is expected to come specific administration action, but in the form of executive orders and requests for legislation.

The committee which Rep. Mills heads is responsible for initiating tax and unemployment compensation legislation.

In the 1958 recession, Congress authorized an extension of the period during which compensation may be drawn. The plan was financed by the states with federal loans. The length of the period payments depends upon the state. Usually the maximum is 26 weeks.

New Record Set

Goldberg reported only last Monday that during the first week of January, the number of persons collecting such insurance totaled 3.3 million, a new record for that time of year.

Goldberg said at the time that the Labor Department was working on proposals for Kennedy. But he said the administration still was not ready then for recommendations despite its deep concern over the unemployment picture and "a strong feeling that the federal government should extend help in this area."

A task force has recommended that Kennedy give consideration to a temporary tax cut if the economic slump should get worse. But the President was reported unwilling to go along with this proposal now.

The outcome of Friday's meeting may be reflected in the State of the Union message the President will deliver to Congress Monday.

Kennedy will meet Saturday with Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara, and McGeorge Bundy, special assistant to the president for national security affairs.

The set was drafy and Brigitte caught a cold. Production probably will resume Monday when she recovers.

Bomb Deactivated In Tokyo Bay

Georgia Abandons Rigid School Segregation Laws

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The state legislature, in a historic session, Friday abandoned Georgia's rigid school segregation laws.

Four separate bills, scheduled to be signed into law by Gov. Ernest Vandiver, replaced a mass of earlier statutes that kept the races in separate schools. Sponsors pictured them as offering the most feasible method of holding integration to a minimum.

One is a local option bill allowing voters in a school district to close public schools by referendum to avoid integration. Schools could be reopened in a later referendum if voters decide they prefer public schools to private. But a vote on reopening cannot be forced in the same year the schools are closed unless the local school board agrees.

A second authorizes tuition grants for pupils who do not wish to attend integrated schools. It wipes out compulsory segregation of white and Negro pupils in public schools.

Another revises procedures for appeals to the State Board of Education and removes certain supervisory authority now held by the board, to forestall any statewide integration orders from federal courts.

The fourth, a proposed constitutional amendment to be voted on next year in a general election, would guarantee freedom of association — that is — children of different races cannot be forced to attend the same school. The proposal also reaffirms the state's power to tax for education.

In final arguments Friday, Sen. Carl Sanders of Augusta told the Senate the new bills are similar to laws enacted in North Carolina and Virginia. He said the laws in those states have not been challenged by federal courts.

U.S. Fliers Released By Russians Given Warm Presidential Welcome

Both Men Appear In Good Health

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two U. S. fliers whose mission ended in disaster came home Friday to a presidential welcome that is normally given to the nation's highest heroes.

Promptly at noon, Capts. John R. McKone and Freeman B. Olmstead, in a Soviet prison since their RB47 jet observation plane was shot down over the Barents Sea July 1, landed at snowy, windswept Andrews Air Force Base.

There was a snappy salute by McKone for President Kennedy, who had flown by helicopter the 12 miles from the White House.

Reporters were not allowed to interview the fliers, nor were they permitted to get close enough to overhear who said what to whom.

Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary, said the restriction was imposed because the State Department did not want to jeopardize prospects of improving relations with the Soviet Union.

Realizing that even a president must run a poor second at a time like this, Kennedy stepped discreetly aside after greeting the men.

Heartwarming Greeting

And the two airmen, who must often have wondered during their long imprisonment if they would ever see home again, grabbed their wives and gave them the fanciest public bussing ever seen in official circles.

The McKones, in particular, got involved in a kiss so prolonged it would bring protests from the censors if Hollywood tried it.

But there were no censors Friday.

And so Capt. McKone, 28, hugged his wife, Connie, and Capt. Olmstead, 25, embraced Gail. And there were enough hugs left over for an ample supply for Olmstead's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Blaine Olmstead of Elmira, N. Y., and for a brother and sister-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. C. Grant Olmstead of Buffalo, N. Y.

And while Kennedy grinned approvingly but a little uncertainly, there was enacted—in a setting that looked more like Siberia than the nation's capital—a scene that was as heartwarming as the weather was cold.

The White House later released a recording of the homecoming, and it was mostly a confused babble of happy voices.

The whole affair lasted only 10 minutes.

Kennedy returned to his waiting helicopter.

White House Reception

Yet short as it all was, this was the climax of what so far has been the most unusual event of the new Kennedy administration.

For the highlight of his first news conference Wednesday was the announcement that the Russians, who had been insisting these two men stand trial, had now released them.

And here they were, overjoyed to be home.

This was no time to wonder whether their release means a slight thaw in frigid international relations. Nor was it a time even to recall that four of the six men who took that fateful flight on July 1 never came back.

Air Force On Job

Certainly the Air Force did everything it could to make this a hang-up occasion.

Long before the scheduled noon arrival all was a-bustle.

The airstrip was fairly well cleared of Thursday night's six-inch snow.

High brass moved importantly about.

Military guards were carefully lined up.

The two wives, who had been disappointed Thursday when the storm delayed their reunion for a day, arrived at least 20 minutes early. For some unexplained reason, both got out of their car and stood for a time in the cold.

Wearing flowers, red coats, high heels, they looked pretty but impractical in that frigid environment.

The timing of the arrival was perfect. The captains' plane came in as Kennedy's helicopter was approaching the field.

Kennedy got out first, went over to the wives and escorted them to the plane for a happy ending to the long ordeal.

FREED FLIERS AT WHITE HOUSE — President and Mrs. Kennedy were hosts at the White House yesterday to the two U. S. Air Force fliers, freed by Russia, and their wives. Slot Machines Local Issue, Tawes States

By GEORGE BOWEN

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Gov. Tawes still feels that legality of slot machines in Maryland is a "local issue."

"Traditionally, Maryland has recognized the home rule policy," he told newsmen Friday.

He will meet Monday afternoon with representatives of religious groups which want to repeal the legality of slot machines in Anne Arundel, Calvert, St. Mary's and Charles counties.

While Tawes cited the policy of home rule under which the stand of county legislators usually is respected by their colleagues, he declined to state flatly that this will continue to be his position.

"I am going to hear out (the opponents) Monday," he said. "If they have any solution to the problem, they may change my mind. I do not want to pre-judge the case."

He riffled through the law book and reeled off county after county in which there are different laws on bingo, raffles, and carnivals.

He said in another field that sale of whisky in any form is illegal only in Garrett County.

Exactly one year ago, Tawes told a group of slot machine opponents that while the devices "are an evil that should be eradicated," remedy was up to the local representatives in the legislature.

Talbot County Family Victims Food Poisoning

EASTON, Md. (AP)—A Talbot County couple and their three children were admitted to Easton Memorial Hospital Friday after being found in unconscious and semi-conscious states in their Royal Oak home.

Milton Ewing Sr. was reported in critical condition. His wife, Elizabeth, and their three sons, ranging in age from 4 to 8, were reported in satisfactory condition.

Hospital officials said all five appeared to have suffered food poisoning — probably Thursday night—and their conditions may have been aggravated either by a lack of oxygen or carbon monoxide poisoning. A space heater was in the house.

Laboratory tests will be made, a hospital spokesman said, to determine the nature of the illnesses.

Mrs. Ewing was found sitting in a living room chair, semi-conscious. One of the boys, also semi-conscious, was lying on a living room couch.

Ewing and the other two children were lying unconscious on a bed in another room.

Marylander Named B&O V-President

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Friday announced the appointment of Charles E. Bertrand as vice president of operation and maintenance, effective Feb. 16.

Bertrand, a resident of suburban Catonsville, succeeds William C. Baker, who retired after almost 55 years with the B&O.

Bertrand, 45, began his railroad career in 1937 as a switchman for the Alton Railroad in Chicago. Later that year he transferred to the Chicago terminal of the B&O.

Among his positions with the B&O, Bertrand has been superintendent of the Baltimore terminal division in 1954, of the Monongah division at Grafton, W. Va. in 1955, and at Pittsburgh from 1956 to 1958.

Md. Republicans Present Own Version Of Creating Congressional District

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The Republican version of how Maryland should create a new congressional district was introduced Friday in the Democratic-controlled General Assembly.

It involves designating the state's three largest counties—Baltimore, Prince Georges and Montgomery — as separate congressional districts and realigning other districts to create more equal population distribution.

Baltimore City would have only two congressional districts for some 900,000 residents, instead of three as at present.

"It is the most equitable plan we could come up with," said House Minority Leader Lester Reed, R-Allegany, who sponsored the legislation.

Gov. Tawes said the bill will receive consideration along with other plans being advanced for creating the new district, earned by the state on the basis of population increase in the 1960 census.

"The legislature will have final say over what we are going to do," he commented. The assembly is controlled by Democrats 26-3 in the Maryland Senate and 116-7 in the House.

The bill was introduced after a meeting attended by D. Eldred Rinehart, state party chairman; Samuel Hopkins, chairman of the party's congressional redistricting committee; Mrs. Robert O. Bonnell, state committeewoman; Sen. Harry T. Phoebus, R-Somerset, Senate minority leader, Reed and others.

1st District — Harford County would be added to the nine Eastern Shore Counties now comprising the district. New population: 320,292.

3rd District—The southern half of Baltimore City, except for some 48,000 residents who would be grouped with four Southern Maryland counties. Population: 445,000.

4th District—The northern half of Baltimore City, 445,000 residents.

5th District — Prince Georges County, 357,395 residents.

7th District—Anne Arundel, Calvert, Charles and St. Mary's counties plus the 25th Ward of Baltimore City. Population: 341,947.

GOP Delegates Write Howard Co. Out Of State

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Howard County was written right out of the State Friday in a Republican proposal for creating a new congressional district for Maryland.

"It was an oversight in drafting the bill," explained Lester B. Reed, R-Allegany, House minority leader. "We're having it corrected in the printed version."

Howard, removed from the Southern Maryland 5th District under the proposal, was supposed to be lumped with the Western Maryland 6th.

Get Sleepy Driving? Take Off Your Shoes

Writing in the British Medical Journal, Dr. A. B. Alexander said: "The sleepy driver is the biggest cause of road accidents."

Kennedy Uses New Helicopter

WASHINGTON (UPI)—For the first time since he took office a week ago, President Kennedy Friday used a helicopter—a mode of travel much favored by former President Eisenhower.

Kennedy flew by helicopter to Andrews Air Force Base in nearby Maryland to greet the returning RB47 fliers. Two other helicopters flew secret service men and reporters to the air base.

U.S. Missionaries To Leave Congo

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department Friday advised all American missionaries in danger areas of the Congo to get out. U.S. officials are giving all possible help, the department reported.

Press officer Lincoln White said American consulates "are in touch with the missionaries in the various areas." He said he guesses hundreds of missionaries are involved.

Increased Coal Output Seen As Aid To Area Economy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The best way to help the economically depressed areas of the Appalachian Mountain region would be to increase the coal market by 100 million tons a year, an industry spokesman said Friday.

Joseph E. Moody, president of the National Coal Policy Conference, said the increase would mean a boost of at least $1 billion a year to the economy of the coal producing regions.

In testimony prepared for a Senate subcommittee holding hearings on area redevelopment proposals, Moody said strengthening the nation's coal market is essential for "real lasting relief" of the eastern coal areas.

County Gets Funds From Liquor Sales

A check for $20,619.50 was received by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday as the county's allocation from the state tax of 50 cents per gallon on distilled spirits.

The check covers the period of October, November and December of 1960. The allocation is paid on a quarterly basis. The entire sum goes to the county and there is no distribution to the incorporated communities as is the case with some other state revenues.

Gas Restriction Lifted By Firm

Columbia Gas System of Maryland has restored full service to its industrial customers in this area, officials of the firm announced yesterday.

A 40 per cent reduction in supply went into effect Thursday with the explanation that the cut in service was being made because of forecasts calling for subzero temperatures. The reduction was to remain in effect until rising temperatures prevailed.

Yesterday, officials of the Columbia System said full service was being restored because of ability of the company to supply more gas to its customers.

It was reported that higher temperatures in some areas served by suppliers has permitted the firm to direct more gas to this area.

Forest Work Sought For Men

William A. Wilson, a member of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners, today informed the board that in a recent conversation with State Forester H. C. Buckingham he was told there is a program under which unemployed men may be able to obtain jobs working in the forests.

Wilson said that his conversation with Buckingham was only brief but he understands that the federal government provides some funds for programs of forestry through which jobless men are put to work.

The commissioners instructed James G. Stevenson, clerk, to write to Buckingham asking for more information on the program and if possible to come here to outline the plan.

The commissioners all reported that they have been receiving requests for assistance from men who have been out of work and who have exhausted their unemployment compensation benefits.

County Airs Highway Matters

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday discussed two matters pertaining to state highways.

Commissioner John T. Mason reported that he has received quite a few complaints on traffic hazards at the intersection of U. S. Route 220 and State Route 53 at Cresaptown. Mason said that when shift changes occur at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory the hazards are most prevalent to motorists and children going to and from school.

The board instructed James G. Stevenson, clerk, to write to the State Roads Commission concerning the situation and ask that some remedial action be taken.

The second highway matter concerns the parking along U. S. Route 40 in LaVale from the Fire Hall to the Narrows Park area.

Mrs. Florence Whitworth, chairman of the LaVale Civic Improvement Association, wrote the board asking about the parking of cars in the area listed. Commissioner John J. Rowan, president of the board, said that he had instructed Mrs. Whitworth to write the SRC.

The state agency has since informed the LaVale group that the Bureau of Traffic for the SRC is making a survey of the situation.

Simon F. Piper, Oldtown, wrote the board concerning road workers plowing snow in front of his driveway. He said when the road is plowed his driveway is shut off. The matter was referred to Harry Skelly, roads supervisor.

Lighting Plan Is Discussed

A representative of the Potomac Edison Company met with the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday concerning a proposed new lighting system at the Welfare Board building on Cumberland Street.

During the discussion it was brought out that heating buildings with electric systems had been advanced until they were economically feasible. New school buildings which have been engineered for heating by electricity are eligible for the industrial rate, it was reported.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

A "Cat" Can Look At A Queen? Not So, Says JRP

Let's pretend that you, Miss or Mrs. Average American, are invited to appear at the Court of St. James in just two weeks. Or to the White House in Washington, D. C.; just in time for Easter.

Would you have to take lessons in how to perform a curtsy, or in whether to shake hands gloved or ungloved? Well, don't come to me about curtsies, the least of my talents. But, when it comes to holding hands, your best bet is to follow the example of your hostess, who, however royal, is human. If the reception line is so long you cannot see her, stick to instinct and common sense. Even while a bare handshake seems more cordial, no rules abide. If it is convenient to remove a short glove or to tuck in the palm of a long glove, do so; if not, keep both gloves on.

Now, should you have practice in protocol . . . and should you bone up on etiquette and study the type of dress the occasion may demand? It would help, I suppose. As a matter of fact, for an Easter at the White House, it would be well to join a bowling league NOW . . . whether or not you are an egghead.

Still, such superficialities aside, what is the one and only IMPORTANT quality that will give you the genuine confidence to cope with "state occasions"? It's that you be YOURSELF, interested in other people, radiating friendliness toward them, indicating by your every manner and every word that you regard them with real RESPECT.

If it is already a natural everyday habit for you to treat everyone you meet with respect, then you needn't ever worry about what to do or how to act among titled dignitaries. You are ready, right now, charming lady, for any and all state occasions at the drop of an invitation. You can rest assured that you will make a right impression, a good impression, whether or not you fluff your lines, pick up the wrong knife or wear a dress that doesn't do at all! (Most likely these misfortunes will never occur, just because you are the kind of person you are. It's usually the nervous, self-conscious, affected woman who stubs her social toes!)

How do you think about, talk about, speak to the members of your family . . . your friends and neighbors . . . the milkman, the laundryman, the teacher, the waiter, household help and sales people? What is your instinctive attitude with children (naughty or nice)? What are your emotional reactions toward the boss, toward employees, toward fellow-drivers in heavy traffic? How do you feel when "others" are inconsiderate and disrespectful toward you?

You've known women with two sets of manners, one for queens, the other for commoners. They're absolutely phoney and roundly disliked. Don't ever let yourself be trapped into imitation one of them. You may copy her curtsy . . . but keep your own sense of courtesy!!

Assistants Discuss By-Laws

Ten members attended the dinner meeting of the Medical Assistants of Allegany-Garrett County Wednesday at the Fort Cumberland Hotel. The usual program was dispensed with so that the by-laws and constitution of the unit could be read and ratified.

Discussion was conducted on two meetings to be held in Baltimore April 26, 27, and 28. The Maryland Association of Medical Assistants will have Dr. George M. Simons of this city as guest speaker. His topic will be "... nat A General Practitioner Expects of His Medical Assistants." At the meeting of the Maryland Medical Association, the assistants will have exhibition booths.

The next meeting will be held February 22, at which time it is planned to have Dr. Mikio Kato as guest speaker.

Mrs. Virginia Keller, president, Miss Mary Melligan, vice president and Miss Barbara Largent, secretary, attended an executive committee and advisory board meeting of the Allegany-Garrett Medical Society Thursday evening to present the Assistants by-laws to the group for approval. Dr. Leslie Miles, Frostburg, Dr. David Miller and Dr. Robert Feddis are members of the advisory board.

Designers Feature Young Look

PARIS (UPI)—Top women designers, Gabrielle Chanel and Madame Gres, Friday agreed with the male rulers of the Parisian fashion world that the "young and slender" look is for springtime, 1961.

"Coco" Chanel conformed to House of Dior's Marc Bohan, Givenchy and the other men designers by choosing a young-looking pink as the dominating color of her showing. A double-breasted suit in pink basket-weave wool and in the casual style that made her famous featured the display.

As for Madame Gres, "my spring styles are meant to make women slim and supple looking," she told her audience.

Her slenderizing dresses had short kimono sleeves, an easy bodice and hip - hugging skirts. They were shown in loosely woven wool fabrics and jersey.

Her lovely, timeless evening dresses, draped expertly in chiffon or jersey, had long, slim lines.

United Democratic Women's Club will meet today at the Fort Cumberland Hotel. A Dutch treat luncheon will be served at 1 p. m. followed by installation of officers.

A hymn sing willl be held Sunday at 7:30 p. m. at Calvary Methodist Church, Ridgeley, by the combined choirs of Short Gap and Patterson Creek Methodist churches and the U. B. Church in Ridgeley.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm not very good at putting things into words, but I hope you will print this letter anyway. It's important.

My best friend was buried yesterday. M was very pretty and popular, lots of fun—and only 17 years old. She was going steady with a boy from school. M became pregnant and the boy wouldn't marry her. She was six months along when she died. The doctor said her heart gave out.

The boy's mother and my aunt are close friends. She claims her son was probably "one of many" and the girl was a tramp. This isn't true. M was a good girl, but she was foolish.

I've heard many grownups talk about this tragedy and no one blames the boy. They all say the girl's mother didn't raise her right. What about the boy's mother? Did she raise HIM right? Why is it that a girl who gets into trouble is a tramp but the boy responsible isn't even criticized? Please tell me. —HEARTSICK

DEAR HEARTSICK: One of the oldest laws of nature is that the female is the biggest loser in the game of heavy romance. This is why I hammer away at young girls and implore them to keep their heads.

If a girl loses control of the situation SHE pays the Big Price, not her boy friend. Unhappily, too many boys will go just as far as they can. Of course it isn't fair, but it's a biological fact of life that girls who get mixed up in out-of-bounds sexual involvements find that it's a man's world.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I suppose you've had this problem a hundred times, but I don't recall ever seeing it in your column.

Our 4-year-old daughter is a little spoiled. She was the first grandchild and everybody has always fussed over her. Three weeks ago I surprised Nina with a baby brother. I thought she'd be thrilled but instead Nina hates the new baby. She has tried to take his bottle away and cover his head with blankets. I even caught her pinching the baby to make him cry.

I've scolded Nina and told her that she must love her little brother and not hurt him. It does no good. I'm afraid she may harm him seriously because it's impossible to watch her every second. Please tell me what to do.

—UPSET

DEAR UPSET: Your first mistake was "surprising" Nina with a baby brother. She should have been told several months in advance—and in a way that would have made her happy and eager.

Nina feels displaced by the new baby and views him as an interloper. Give her special attention and additional affection and enlist her "help" in caring for her little brother.

Keep a sharp eye open and don't leave Nina alone with the baby until she overcomes this feeling of hostility.

Confiaential to HELP NEEDED URGENTLY: You can't ignore your children for 15 years. Dad, and expect to win their love overnight. A good parent-child relationship is never purchased. Too bad you woke up so late, but try to make up for lost time—not with presents—but with YOUR presence.

Are your parents too strict? You can benefit from the experiences of thousands of teen-agers if you write for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Live With Your Parents," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

(Copyright 1961, Reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.)

HOLLYWOOD — Melina Mercouri, the big click of "Never On Sunday" not only denied saying she wouldn't come to Hollywood —she's coming. Charlie Feldman has signed the volatile Greek to star in "Trio" and will produce the movie with Henry Hathaway directing and Melina in the lead, here in Hollywood.

Once she gets here you can be sure the offers will pour in for Melina. I've heard that Joe Mankiewicz wants her for "Justine" and Jules Dassin for "Lysistrata."

"I'm glad I'm not footing the bill for the gowns couturier Pierre Balmain is whipping up for Jennifer Jones to wear in "Tender is the Night." Always high priced, Balmain's talents are coming still higher since the clothes he designed for the Queen of Thailand landed the queen on the "best dressed list" for the first time.

I'll go along with 20th head Bob Goldstein that whatever is paid for clothes is worth it. We gals love to see beautiful gowns on the screen and the prospect sells plenty of tickets. Jennifer and Jason Robards Jr., leave with director Henry King April 17 for three weeks of locations in Europe, then back to 20th Century-Fox to finish the picture in Hollywood.

Second thoughts on "The Misfits." I got the definite impression that Arthur Miller had written a lot of himself and his feeling for Marilyn Monroe into the Clark Gable character—even to things Miller may have said to Marilyn himself.

The whole picture has a feeling of an allegory and you find yourself listening for the meanings behind what actually is being spoken. The physical exertions made by Clark Gable roping wild horses, being dragged by them over desert lands, are shockers. But Clark insisted on doing them himself—wouldn't have it any other way. He loved this picture and this role, feeling it was his best since "Gone With the Wind."

Constance Bennett, who looks younger by the year, checked into the Beverly Hills Hotel Thursday night and brought along her husband Colonel Coulter. It's not just a vacation.

Monday morning Connie and John Emery, another arrival from New York, start shooting an Ann Sothern TV chapter. "It's Always April" in which Constance and Emery play Alfred Lunt-Lynn Fontanne type characters.

Connie isn't new to TV. I saw her dancing on one of the Arthur Murray shows and she was so graceful and looked so young it's no wonder she picked off first prize.

One of the reasons Carol Lynley's bridegroom, Mike Selsman, made the jump from the 20th to the Paramount publicity department in New York is that there's an understanding about Mike's being given a producer's berth. I can't think of a faster way to get Carol back before the cameras in Hollywood than to have Mike transferred to the coast to produce.

Incidentally, Carol's mother, Frances Orlando Lynley, who was a magazine writer before she started devoting all her time to managing Carol, has dusted off her typewriter and is back at her old job.

Can't think of a girl better suited for "The Gilda Grey Story" than Dorothy Provine, maybe because Dorothy has made such a hit as the flapper on "The Roaring 20's" TV series. Those were the good old days when Gilda was doing her shimmy shaking and Dorothy is not unlike the Gilda who rose to fame with her gelatin gymnastics.

Erna Lazrus, who will produce Gilda's story as an independent, has had the script ready to toll for a long time. But shooting was held up because of Gild's own request that it not be filmed while she was alive. She died last year.

Supervisors Discuss County Soil Survey

The soil survey of Allegany County was discussed yesterday afternoon during a meeting of the Allegany District Soil Supervisors which was held in the office of Joseph M. Steger, county farm agent.

Martin M. Gordon, work unit conservationist of the Soil Conservation Office here, pointed out that 71 per cent of the 272,640 acres of land in the county has been surveyed.

The first county in the state to complete its survey was Frederick County, according to Mr. Gordon, who said that this year Dorchester, Caroline and Somerset counties are expected to have their surveys completed.

The District Supervisors' annual report to the state office, which is due the latter part of next month, was also discussed at yesterday's meeting.

The supervisors voted to purchase a new lime and fertilizer spreader for use by the cooperators of the county. Joseph Silber, employe in the SCS office here, was authorized to make a check with local dealers for the purchase of the spreader.

Some books on conservation will be purchased by the supervisors who plan to donate two sets to the Allegany County Library and one for the county agent and the SCS office.

Also discussed at the meeting was the work load in the county and the conservation goals for this year.

Mr. Gordon reported that during the past month there was one new cooperator. He is William Roche who owns 100 acres of land on the east side of Polish Mountain. He is interested in woodland and wildlife improvement.

There are an estimated 25 million pets in West Germany, including 15 million birds, 2½ million dogs, and 2½ million cats.

Plaintiff Wins Judgment In Rental Case

An Allegany County Circuit Court petit jury yesterday afternoon awarded $6,000 to the plaintiff in a case involving equipment rental money from the Washington County Board of Commissioners filed by the owner of a power shovel.

Raymond T. White of Hagerstown filed the suit against the commissioners. In the original suit $37,000 in rental money was sought. However in his opening statement yesterday one of the attorneys for the plaintiff said he would reduce the claim to $14,000 or $15,000 if the jury so allowed.

After getting instructions from Associate Judge W. Earle Cobey, the jurors, eight men and four women, heard the closing arguments by the counsel for the plaintiff and defendant.

The jury got the case at 4:16 p. m. and within 25 minutes reached the verdict which was given by John E. Byrd, city, jury foreman.

A period from March 12, 1958 to the latter part of May or early June was determined as the time the equipment was rented by the commissioners.

The action stemmed from a verbal agreement in December 1957 between White and the then superintendent of Washington County Roads Department, Eugene Geary, for the rental of the power shovel for use at the county dump.

White testified that the rental fee, established from a national equipment manufacturers association handbook, was to be $2,850 a month, less 20 per cent.

The yard and a half shovel was reconditioned and delivered to the site by the Forsythe Storage and Transfer Company of Hagerstown.

Later, White stated, Geary came to him and said he had been informed by a county commissioner, George S. Fochler, who has died since that time, that the deal had not been approved by the board.

White has not moved the shovel since 1957, he stated, even though he received a letter from the county commissioners asking him to move it last August.

He testified that he purchased the used shovel for $6,500 in 1957 and reconditioned it at a cost of $1,400.

Following him to the stand was Richard E. Forsythe, president of the Forsythe firm that moved the shovel for $845.

White's lawyers were Martin V. B. Bostetter of Hagerstown and Gorman E. Getty of here. Attorneys for the Washington County commissioners were Norman Broadwater, John M. Colton, both of Hagerstown, and James S. Getty, of here.

One of the interested spectators was Lem Kirk, who is president of the Board of Washington County Commissioners.

New Phone System Installed

The new phone system is the only one of its kind in the area, and replaces the cord-type PBX system usually used by business firms which handle a large number of calls.

The new device eliminates the necessity of a switchboard operator to make connections on inter-plant and outgoing calls.

However, a switchboard operator is on hand to handle and reroute all incoming calls to the company.

Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company officials who supervised the installation of the system at the Will's Mountain firm, said the device is known as "756-A".

C&P officials report "Alinco" has tripled its telephone requirements and service since 1948 because of its expansion and building program.

The telephone conversion was arranged by Harry Stern, president of Allegany Instrument Company; Fred Hutchison, personnel manager of the firm, and Robert C. Rohrer, service engineer for the C&P Company in Hagerstown.

5 Permits Issued By LaVale Unit

Five building permits totaling $35,250 were issued recently by the LaVale Zoning Board, Lloyd H. Buchanan, chairman, said last night.

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer

He is a pattern-breaker.

He is a practical planner, who prefers poetry. He is a moulder of institutions, who is interested in individuals. He deals with large matters, but respects the small. He holds that success is to tend the failing.

"Pflicht," was the German word drilled into him in youth, "duty."

"You don't shirk that."

This diligent, benign churchman, who has played a major role in the maturing of Lutheranism in America and in the growth of the Christian unity movement, took on a new task this month—training young ministers.

"We want to inculcate a person-minded ministry," he said, "a ministry that sees its obligations to human beings as individuals, one at a time, apart from all others."

In Dr. Reinartz' view, as he takes up his new post as president of Lutheran Theological Southern Seminary at Columbia, S.C., the modern emphasis on organizational affairs, instead of individuals, is undermining the church.

"The Christian movement," he said, "is losing its essential power as it becomes increasingly group and mass-minded instead of person-minded. It's the heritage of the age in which we live.

"The whole thought frame today is much less on the value of the individual and his eternal destiny, and more on bigness and power, which is alien to what the church has to say to people. 'We must 'personalize' the ministers' service."

Dr. Reinartz, for 14 years secretary of the United Lutheran Church in America and an influential figure in inter-church cooperative affairs, also has other firm, even revolutionary, ideas for shaping new men of the cloth.

"We want to implant in these young men the awareness that success is not necessarily success."

Under present pressures, he said, church leadership often is absorbed in public functions, group statistics, in getting out general bulletins, arranging suppers, increasing attendance, on a sort of "restaurant business" basis of success.

BRIDGE TO GOD'S WORLD

The bridge, what a miracle! Tons of steel hanging in air . . . spanning miles of water . . . supporting an unending line of cars like so many ants.

And what a boon to man! The bridge saves untold hours and opens up new vistas of life.

The bridge of prayer, what a miracle! Spanning Heaven and Earth . . . carrying the needs and hopes of believing hearts. What a boon to man! The bridge of prayer opens up new paths of creative living and vistas into the realm of Heaven.

In Church you can discover prayer—the bridge which leads to God's world.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

'General Of The Army' Eisenhower?

Dwight D. Eisenhower wants back his old rank of five-star general, which he resigned when he ran for President in 1952, and Congress presumably will hasten to oblige. At his final news conference as President, Mr. Eisenhower said he desired merely a title without any extra pay to supplement his $25,000 a year Presidential pension.

When General of the Army Eisenhower returned to the United States from Paris in June 1952 to campaign for the Republican Presidential nomination, he retired from the Army and waived the $19,541.80-a-year retirement pay and allowance to which he was entitled. In a letter, June 2, 1952, to Secretary of Defense Robert Lovett, Eisenhower explained that he wished to "feel free to deal with Republican national convention delegates" without anybody accusing him of violating regulations or "embarrassing the government or the Army." One day after his nomination at the GOP convention, on July 12, 1952, Eisenhower resigned from the Army, ending his right to retirement pay.

Mr. Eisenhower now hints that he will do considerable writing from the quiet of his Gettysburg, Pa., farm—which recalls the mild controversy that broke out when it was discovered he had paid a long-term capital gains tax of 25 per cent on the proceeds of his 1948 book, "Crusade in Europe," instead of the higher rates imposable if the proceeds had been treated as regular income.

The Internal Revenue Service ruled that the capital gains rate should apply because years of Army service had gone into preparation of the material. The same argument would also seem to apply to any writing Mr. Eisenhower does henceforth. The question probably matters little to the outgoing President, who is reputed to have about $1 million in assets.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

1962

Two small political problems excite Washington as much as the big ones of world-wide significance. They are New York and California in 1962.

In New York State, the Democrats have not yet come up with a suitable candidate to defeat Governor Nelson Rockefeller for governor; in California, Governor Pat Brown has lost much of his popularity and the Democrats fear that Richard Nixon might run for governor and be elected.

The New York situation is particularly interesting for, if Governor Rockefeller is re-elected in 1962, he will, beyond doubt, be a candidate for the Presidency in 1964. The Democratic Party in New York State is so broken into factions that it is doubtful that there is time between now and 1962 to rebuild the party. The violent attacks on Carmine De Sapio have definitely weakened his political influence, but De Sapio's weakness has added no strength to Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt or Governor Lehman who as prospective Tammany bosses are in a grotesque role. Instead, Representative Charles Buckley has emerged as the effective power among the New York City Democrats and Buckley has more political sense than anyone who comes out of Washington to handle this very complex picture.

Before anything can really be done about 1962, a mayor has to be elected in 1961. If Mayor Wagner runs again, he will probably be elected, although it has been known in these parts that when Tammany has been thwarted, it delicately cuts the throat of the thwarter. The Republicans have no candidate. They talk about Fusion but there is no one to fuse with. The only advantage of the word, Fusion, for the Republicans is that they thus find justification for running a Democrat on the Republican ticket. If not a Democrat, an opportunist like the late Fiorello La Guardia who belongs to everything at the same time.

If Wagner is elected, he might run for governor against Rockefeller. It is suggested that the Kennedys like Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. for governor.

Such rumors could be false. If true, they add up to political nonsense because in the present split character of the Democrats, the name Roosevelt calls forth imprecations upon mother and son alike. Organization men prefer not to deal with them.

Kennedy carried New York State by the support of the Liberal Party, a Socialist-trade union party which normally supports Democrats. It is impossible to believe that the leaders of the Liberal Party, Alex Rose, David Dubinsky and A. A. Berle, Jr., would prefer Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr. to Nelson Rockefeller. Nor is it believable that Adam Clayton Powell, Jr., who presently controls the Negro vote, would prefer young Roosevelt to Rockefeller.

Therefore, the problem that the Kennedys still face if they want to eliminate Nelson Rockefeller in 1964 is to defeat him for governor in 1962. Nobody can be defeated with nobody and thus far no name has been presented which will be acceptable to the Democrats of this state, or the Liberal Party or most of the voters.

Whoever gave the impression that the Kennedys wanted Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. to run for governor of New York State was not politically wise. He has made that recordless man a target for opposition and attack a year too early. He has no forum to defend himself. He has been told formally that he cannot be appointed to the State Department position to which he was named. He is better off not to be, as, considering all our difficulties with Cuba, the Dominican Republic, Brazil, Venezuela, whoever is in charge, always gets blamed for unfavorable results, even if errors were an act of God—as the insurance policy reads.

On the other hand, if Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., does not take a job, what is he to do? It is tough being a son of an ex-President unless one has a profession. Robert A. Taft went into the United States Senate and made a career for himself, so that a monument stands for him in Washington. Theodore Roosevelt's sons did mighty well by their country but not in politics. Woodrow Wilson and Harry Truman had daughters. Herbert Hoover's sons stuck to engineering and business. But Franklin D. Roosevelt's children have a penchant for politics but it is always difficult for a son to walk in the shoes of his father, although John Quincy Adams did it.

'Live' Press Conferences Can Be Dangerous

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Off-the-cuff government through impromptu answers at Press conferences, with all its risks to the conduct of international affairs, has been frequently condemned during preceding administrations as an undesirable practice. The press-conference idea nevertheless has been steadily enlarged to the point that President Kennedy now conducts sessions with the newsmen as a show on "live" television.

If the President of the United States has something important to say to the world, there's no reason why he shouldn't take time to formulate a carefully worded statement which has been previously submitted to his Secretary of State and his other advisers, including perhaps key members of Congress. But in a press conference, a President is questioned and must answer on the spot. Time and again the words instantly transmitted abroad have caused embarrassments. Other governments, especially our allies, wonder sometimes why they were not, as a matter of courtesy, told ahead of time about such pronouncements, so that they could offer their own suggestions and perhaps modifications. For America cannot play the game alone— it is dependent on good will of the Western Allies.

There are signs that President Kennedy would like to modify some of the past practices of diplomacy. Thus, for instance, the word has already gone forth that the new administration does not like "summit" conferences but wants to talk to the Soviet government through the ambassadors at Moscow and Washington. It has also been intimated that the State Department will not give out comments to the press on the exchange of views and that there will be no "leaks." The point has been made that only in this way can progress be made.

But the same rule might well apply to the answering of questions on foreign policy at a press conference. No President is capable of doing as good a job in stating his views off-the-cuff as he could if he had time to write out his answers and consult his advisers. After all, the stakes are too high for any risks to be taken.

On domestic matters, the case is different. A President can cause embarrassment to his official family if he states a view divergent from one of his Cabinet officers, but the damage can as a rule be quickly reduced by later clarifications.

The most significant change that President Kennedy has made thus far in relation to the press conferences is to permit them to be televised and broadcast instantly as they happen. Under the preceding administration, press conferences were held in the morning hours and tape recordings were made. When necessary, however, certain parts or sentences were eliminated from the transcripts for the press and from the tapes for later use by radio and TV. With the press conference going on the air as it takes place, there is, of course, no opportunity for any editing or revision. Mr. Kennedy showed in his first conference that he has confidence in his own ability to say exactly what he wants to say and that he is apparently not disturbed by the chances of serious error. It was on the whole a creditable performance.

Eventually Mr. Kennedy may refuse to discuss any of the delicate questions, and his answers will not be satisfying to the reporters present. The press has maintained that there is a "right to know" almost everything that goes on inside the government, and in recent years a steady campaign against the Eisenhower administration was waged by sections of the press which seemed to some extent to be motivated by desires to get partisan advantage out of the refusal of an administration to give out at a press conference all the secrets of the government. It will be interesting to see how vigorous the opponents of the last administration now will be in demanding the "right to know" what Mr. Kennedy may refuse to divulge.

Press conferences used to be conducted under a rule that the President could not be quoted, but the paraphrases that were permitted varied so widely that they caused misunderstandings. If the President talks with the press, there ought to be direct quotation. But to make a television show out of a Presidential press conference may give it an artificiality and a theatrical character which will open the door to demagoguery. It becomes a form of political campaigning and naturally, if the Republicans are assailed in such press conferences, they will demand equal time to present their rebuttals. Former Vice President Nixon is the titular leader of the Republican Party and the natural choice to answer any attacks made in Presidential press conferences. If he declines, then Republican leaders in the Senate or House would be logical for the task.

But the American people would prefer a rest from politics and political campaigning, and it will be up to President Kennedy to make his press conferences informative and objective without using them as a forum for political debate in which the side attacked is not present to give its version of the argument.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

RED CHINA—The Red Chinese loom as one of the biggest diplomatic problems with which the Kennedy administration must cope. They have become governing factors in three separate areas of foreign relations—the United Nations, disarmament, and the developing economic and political crisis in Asia.

U.S. efforts to keep Communist China out of the United Nations are straining our relations with some of our allies and many of the new African nations which have gained admission. Astute observers of U.N. activities are convinced that the U.S. must either shift its position or be prepared to withstand a voting defeat in that international body.

The matter of disarmament is more serious, and in a way more pressing. The new administration looks to disarmament as the only long-range way of easing the oppressive costs of maintaining the military deterrent force.

However, they realize it is completely futile to negotiate arms control with Russia unless Red China is included. And it is manifestly impossible to include Red China when, officially, we do not recognize that government.

Recent events in Laos serve to underscore the importance of Red China's role in Asian affairs. It is obvious to State and Defense Department planners that the Chinese Communists are in a position to foment endless unrest in the area, supporting revolutions, encouraging subversion in some of the weaker countries, and constantly maintaining the threat of direct armed intervention.

Republican Leaders Believe Nixon 'Washed Up' In National Politics

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — The millions of TV viewers who saw former Vice President Nixon congratulate President Kennedy at the Inaugural ceremonies last week had no way of knowing what a triumph of sportsmanship this was. For both in the quiet of his home and in Republican circles, Nixon has not been a happy man. He has lived last fall's campaign over and over again to see what he did wrong. And behind the scenes, Republican leaders have been bitter against Nixon for, in their opinion, losing the election. And they have counted him out as a future candidate.

"Nixon is washed up," is the quiet word New Hampshire's Sen. Styles Bridges is spreading through Republican ranks.

As Republican policy chairman on the Senate side, Bridges has excluded Nixon from the closed shop which will lay down the GOP line on Capitol Hill.

The most powerful voices in Republican policy planning will be those of Senate GOP leader Everett Dirksen, House GOP leader Charlie Halleck, House policy chairman John Byrnes, plus Bridges. Arizona's barnstorming Sen. Barry Goldwater, the conservative champion, will also make his voice heard. But Nixon will not. They have combined to freeze him out.

To a man, they privately blame the former Vice President for throwing the election. The fact that it was such a hairbreadth decision only makes them angrier. They accuse him of ignoring their advice to slug harder which, they insist, would have won for the Republicans.

One who agrees with them is no less than General Eisenhower who long smoldered over criticism that he didn't pitch into the campaign early enough.

In private talks with GOP leaders, Ike has grumpily repeated: "I didn't get into the campaign earlier because I wasn't asked. I was just a soldier standing by for orders."

He felt he could have won for Nixon if he had been called into the campaign sooner.

Moments Of Bitterness

To these criticisms, Nixon retorts bitterly: "I believe I really won the election. It was stolen from me by fraud and theft."

He cites Illinois and Texas, perhaps Pennsylvania and New Mexico, as the states that should have been counted for him.

"The press coverage was biased and unfair," he adds defensively, "and cost me five million votes."

In these private outbursts, Nixon sometimes assails three newsmen by name: Bill Lawrence of The New York Times, Phil Potter of the Baltimore Sun, and Drew Pearson.

When Lawrence showed up with the press party that covered President-elect Kennedy's flight to call upon Nixon in Florida, Nixon's private secretary, Rose Mary Woods, turned angrily on the New York Times man.

"You ought to take that off and wear a Kennedy staff badge!" she screamed, pointing at Lawrence's press badge.

The party pros, however, blame Nixon, not the press. They accuse him of pulling his political punches for fear of being tagged the "old Nixon." They claim he pushed the pros into the background and listened to amateurs who wanted to make him into a namby-pamby "new Nixon."

Start Slugging

Bridges, for one, tried desperately to get through to Nixon on the campaign trail three weeks before the election. Yet this Republican power could not get beyond Rose Mary Woods.

"Tell him," said Bridges, "that if he doesn't start slugging he is going to lose the election."

"We don't agree with you, Senator," replied Rose Mary sweetly. "All the information we have indicates he is going to win."

Afterward, Bridges commented wryly: "Nixon has plenty of convictions, but he doesn't have the courage to fight for them."

Nixon's only chance for a political comeback, Bridges now believes, is to win the California governorship. The Vice President has told intimates, however, that the political risk is too great. He would have to overcome a Democratic advantage of 1,200,000 more registered voters in California, plus the psychological handicap of seeking the state house as a political steppingstone to the White House.

Instead, Nixon plans to campaign for GOP Congressional candidates throughout the country in 1962.

Senator Goldwater, who would like to grab the Republican reins out of Nixon's hands, has been the most caustic Nixon critic.

"You just call any 12 state Republican chairmen," he tells fellow Senators, "and you will get the same story—that Nixon threw the election away."

At a private session with Eisenhower just before he left the White House, Dirksen and Halleck pointed out that the worst handicap will be the loss of the Presidency as a forum to air Republican views.

They discussed other possible publicity sounding boards, concluded that Congress offered the best bet.

Dirksen and Halleck made it clear that, as the Republican Congressional leaders, they intend to become the GOP "center of gravity" in the months ahead. They have decided that Republican policy is not going to come from Nixon's California law firm.

'Black Monday'

By John Crosby

Reginald Rose's "Black Monday" is the first original play done by WNTA-TV on its "Play of the Week" series and it is certainly the most interesting dramatic work by an American this year. The theater has not come up with anything as ambitious or as well written—not by an American, anyway—and neither have the movie palaces.

"Black Monday" is the story of a single day—the day of integration—in a Southern town. Mr. Rose keeps restarting his action at the same moment in time in each of his three acts, each time from the viewpoint of a different character — a marvelously interesting device, and one that builds suspense rather than diminishes it. There is violence, brutality, heroism, sentiment, and some fine scenes in the play. What the play lacks, I think, is a soaring eloquence which its great scenes absolutely need if they are to compete with the front pages.

That is the trouble with dramatizing any issue of such contemporary nature. It must justify its reason for existence. Otherwise, you find yourself unconsciously saying: "In what way is this an improvement on what I read in the papers this morning?" Rose partially justifies his play by some of his characters, especially a Negro handyman in a grocery store whose calm philosophy has great dignity, by the private agony of his groceryman, by the scenes between a couple of Negro kids, and the genuinely moving climactic scene at the end of the play.

The word among the avant garde is that Ionesco has lost caste among European intellectuals by writing "Rhinoceros" because it can be understood. His prestige will probably plummet even further with the Broadway production because it's not only comprehensible but terribly funny. Even the upper middle garde — we're mostly upper middle garde here—will have a thoroughly good time.

This is a triumph not so much for the author, as for the director Joseph Anthony and for his fine cast, Zero Mostell, Eli Wallach, Anne Jackson, and Morris Carnovsky. The marvel of this play — and it's partly Ionesco but mostly Anthony—is that it manages to hold its audience firmly in hand with a single joke. It does this by changing the emphasis of the joke; in the first act (the one where the audience will play along with you most readily), the joke is philosophic and literary (and also least successful); in the second act, the joke becomes farcical, slapstick, and rests firmly if heavily on Mt. Mostel's marvelous performance; in the last act, it becomes human, poignant, very real.

The theme of "Rhinoceros"—by now, you must all have heard—is the terrible pressure on modern man toward conformity and, in this case, towards the terrible mindless animalic antediluvian conformity of the rhinoceros. There's an excellent English movie "The Angry Silence," with the same theme, although it's stated in more conventional terms.

"The Angry Silence" is about a wildcat strike fomented by a sinister troublemaker (probably a Communist though it's never stated what he is) in which the workers fall into line because—well, it's the thing to do, because it's easier than resisting or than trying to comprehend the issue. (Actually, there's no issue. The troublemaker is just making trouble.) One independent thinker—and the glory of the human race is that there's always one independent thinker—does not fall into line. All sorts of misfortunes befall him and his wife and his children. Ultimately, he loses an eye and that sobers the workers, defeats the troublemaker, restores sanity. It's the War of Jenkins' Ear in different terms.

What I find surprising about both "Rhinoceros" and "The Angry Silence" is that they both came from abroad. (Ionesco is a Rumanian who lives in Paris. "The Angry Silence" was written by Bryan Forbes, an Englishman.) I thought that conformity was mostly an American problem. The Europeans have been telling us that conformity is mostly our problem, that the European intellectuals glory in their own diversity and independence. But conformity must be creeping up on them or why is it bothering European writers?

And while I'm talking about movies, I must join the chorus of approval for "General Della Rovere." Marvelous movie! This is directed by Roberto Rosselini who is showing his postwar form. It has good performances by Vittorio de Sica and Hannes Messemer, a German actor who almost steals the picture.

What fascinates me and heartens me about this picture is that it is upbeat in tragic terms. In place of the corruption of a good man, this is the story of a bad man who becomes decent through the suffering of his fellow man. It's an old theme, but in this age it has been out of literary fashion for a long time and I can't tell you what an emotional thrill you get from seeing it in use again in intelligent and dramatically respectable terms.

Leprosy Treatment Shows Great Progress

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

There is a good possibility that leprosy will be conquered in the next two decades. If so, there will be no need to segregate these people in special hospitals or colonies. This assumption is based on the progress made during the last 20 years.

Depsone has changed leprosy from a hopeless disease to a controllable condition. It does not cure but prevents further disfigurement, scarring, and amputation. We are hopeful a chemist will get a lucky break in juggling the molecules in Depsone to produce the perfect remedy.

Most victims of this malady must be treated for long periods. This is a drawback but not serious, considering that the drug is cheap, seldom produces reactions, and the causative micro-organisms never become resistant to the medicine. It is made to order for those in poverty stricken areas.

But the problem of rehabilitation remains. Reconstructive surgery may enable a paralyzed leg to become useful and efficient. This requires the services of a surgeon trained to meet the special needs of the group.

It is estimated that 12 million sufferers need reconstructive operations for the mutilations and paralysis caused by leprosy. In addition, rehabilitation is hampered by a public that fears leprosy. This is unfortunate because, at its worst, the disease is not highly infectious. Furthermore, Depsone renders it noninfectious.

Another complication is that many victims are too disabled to handle any type of skilled job. Their facial and other disfigurements add to the handicap.

YOUNGING EXERCISES

B. C. writes: What are the best exercises to keep young looking?

REPLY

None in particular because all forms of exercise keep us in trim, provided they are in keeping with our age. But other factors must be considered in maintaining a youthful appearance. Included are heredity, weight, posture, alertness, sleep, stress, diet, and habits. Overexposure to the sun, for example, may leave the skin as wrinkled as a prune by age 40. A tragedy seems to age some people overnight, whereas others go down hill rapidly through dissipation.

LICE AND NITS

Mrs. M. writes: My 6 year old daughter brought home lice from school. What is the best way to handle this problem?

REPLY

Consult your physician for the usual remedies and inform the school of the infestation. For more information, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on head lice and nits.

GALL BLADDER

Mrs. W. P. writes: Does an inactive gall bladder ever become active again?

REPLY

Not as a rule. When the wall of the gall bladder becomes infected and thickened, it no longer functions and should be removed, provided it is causing trouble.

EAR LOBE PIERCING

A. K. M. writes: I would like to have my ears pierced for old fashioned earrings. Is it safe to do it myself or must I go to a physician?

REPLY

Go to a physician for a painless and clean job — if you really want it done.

To the limit of space questions pertinent to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

A very smart young man in Houston, Texas, has compiled a list of rules for "How to raise a juvenile delinquent in your own family" that the Police Department there is distributing in pamphlet form. Some of its highlights:

1. Begin with infancy to give the child everything he wants. This will insure his growing up to believe that the world owes him a living.

2. When he picks up bad words, laugh heartily at him. This will make him think he's cute. Soon he'll acquire a vocabulary that will blow off the top of your head.

3. Give him all the spending money he wants. Never let him earn a penny of his own.

4. Take his part against neighbors, teachers, policemen. They all are prejudiced against your child. He never is wrong.

5. Finally, prepare yourself for a life of grief. Brother, you're going to have it.

Keyser Youths Pass U. S. Navy College Test

KEYSER—Eric Sheetz, James Summers and John Shelton Jr., seniors at Keyser High School, have been notified they successfully passed the Navy College Aptitude Test.

The test is one step in qualifying for the Naval Officers Reserve Training Corps. Those selected will get tuition, books, uniforms and an annual living allowance for each of their four years in college. Except for spending money and some personal expenses, it usually covers a man's full college costs. Over 53 colleges and universities of the nation participate in this program.

Upon graduation from college each candidate, in addition to his degree, will be commissioned as a regular officer in the Navy.

The three candidates will go to Washington February 16, at which time they will be given a physical examination and personal interviews at the U. S. Navy Recruiting Station.

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Gov. W. W. Barron received Friday a preliminary report dealing with the amount of warehouse space available for use of additional surplus foods due shortly in West Virginia.

Hubert Perry, commodity supervisor of the Department of Public Assistance, prepared the report. The federal government is shipping the additional food to the Mountain State at the direction of President Kennedy.

Perry said his survey showed that additional space is now available in the Welch, Charleston, Logan, Keyser, and Williamson areas, where the need is among the greatest.

The survey did not contain a report on the situation at Fairmont, Parkersburg, Beckley and Kimball.

'Dry' Leaders Move To Block Liquor Plan

Public Hearings Set Next Thursday

By BILL BARRETT
United Press International

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Temperance leaders moved Friday to block in the legislature a move by the "wets" to allow West Virginia voters decide whether to amend the Constitution open the way to sale of liquor by the drink.

At the same time resolutions were introduced in both the House and Senate calling for the constitutional amendment, anti-whisky leaders introduced in the Senate a resolution calling for a two-year study of liquor laws and alcoholism.

The Rev. L. E. Crowson, head of the West Virginia Temperance League's legislative committee, said any other approach at this time as to changing liquor laws "is like putting the cart before the horse."

He said after the two-year study, which would cost $25,000, if submission of the proposed amendment was justified then it should be undertaken, but not before then.

The "dry" resolution would set up a 17-member committee, reporting back to the 1963 legislature.

Both Senate and House Temperance Committees scheduled separate public hearings for next Thursday on the resolutions aimed at legalizing sale of liquor by the shot.

The Senate hearing will be held at 3:30 p.m. in the judiciary room. The House session will be conducted in that chamber at 7:30 p.m.

The study committee proposal was introduced by Sen. Lyle Smith, D-Cabell, and O. Roy Parker, D-Monroe.

17 Members

Introducing the "wet" measure in the House were Dels. Chester Hubbard, R-Ohio, and J. E. (Ned) Watson, D-Marion. Sens. O. H. Hedrick, D-Marion and Arch Riley, D-Ohio introduced it in the upper house.

The proposed 17-member committee would be made up of five senators, five delegates and seven persons appointed by the governor. The latter would include a minister, doctor, sociologist, economist and judge.

In other legislative action Friday:

— The Senate adopted unanimously a resolution aimed at granting District of Columbia citizens the right to vote in presidential elections. The House is expected to ratify the proposed U. S. Constitutional amendment next week.

— The House passed 75-20 a bill raising from 16 to 18 the age minimum for a driver's permit. However, so-called "junior" permits would be allowed to 16 and 17 year olds with written consent of their parents.

N-S Resolution Approved

— The House passed 62-34 a bill to raise from $10 to $20 the daily pay to county election officials.

— Delegates adopted on a voice vote and sent to the Senate for concurrence a resolution calling on the Federal Bureau of Public Roads to add a North-South superhighway in West Virginia betwee Morgantown and Beckley, to the Interstate System.

Among 14 bills introduced in the House and four in the Senate was one by Senate Minority Leader John Carrigan, R-Marshall, to enact a permanent 3 per cent consumer sales tax with exemptions for food and prescription drug purchases.

Dels. J. E. Watson, D-Marion, and T. E. Myles, D-Fayette, sponsored in the House a bill to eliminate the trade-in credit under the state privilege tax on purchases of new or used cars. The measure is designed to pump an additional $3 million into the state road fund.

The Senate set Monday to reconvene in order to give its committees time to hold sessions after adjournament of the business session. The House will reconvene at 2 p.m., and its major committees will meet after the session.

W. Va. Tax Cost Is Outlined At Keyser

KEYSER — Taxes, of one kind or another, will cost West Virginians an estimated $884,448,000 during the fiscal year, beginning July 1, according to figures released by the state Chamber of Commerce.

Mineral countians will pay a total of $7,763,000 in taxes during the coming fiscal year. The Chamber lists the county's share of the federal tax burden at $4,896,000; the state tax bill at $2,430,000 and the burden of local taxes at $824,000.

With an estimated total personal income of $28,480,000 for fiscal 1962, Mineral County residents can expect to contribute some 27.3 per cent of that amount toward the cost of government.

That works out to an individual tax bill of $347 for county residents. A family of four, says the Chamber, can expect to pay approximately $1,388 in taxes during fiscal year 1962.

"And that doesn't include any of the spending programs undertaken — or about to be undertaken — by the fifty-fifth state Legislature or the eighty-seventh Congress," says Earle E. Elmore, managing director of the Chamber.

In a breakdown of the state's total tax load for 1962, the Chamber's figures show West Virginia's share of the Eisenhower $80.9 billion budget as totalling $550,120,000. The state budget submitted by the Board of Public Works — not including federal aid or bond sales, but including taxes earmarked for specific purposes — is $202,527,000. Add $27 million in employers' contributions to the Unemployment Fund and the cost of state government rises to $229,527,000.

The Chamber estimates West Virginia's local government's costs — for schools, county courts and municipalities — at $104,801,000, bringing the total to $884,448,000.

If each of the state's 1,869,421 citizens was equally responsible for the tax liability, his bill would be $475.00. Thus, a family of four, on the average, will pay out some $1,900 in local, State and federal taxes during the coming fiscal year.

West Virginians, with an estimated total personal income of $3.2 billion for the coming year, will pay 27.6 per cent of that amount in taxes.

Keyser Fire Dept. Issues Annual Report

KEYSER—The Keyser Fire Department last year answered a total of 66 alarms, two of which were false, according to a report released by Chief William Zacot. Thirty of the alarms were in Keyser with 34 being outside the corporate limits.

Zacot said mileage on equipment totaled 1,123 and involved 2,654 man hours. Keyser's fire loss was about $6,000 for 1960.

May was the best month for the local firefighters as no alarms were sounded, but during April 15 trips were made to fires.

The worst fire of the year, the report showed, was the December 15 blaze at the Gilbert Taylor residence on Ward Avenue where damage amounted to $4,500.

Zacot said the report includes alarms answered in McCoole but does not include man hours or mileage of the McCoole company.

As for the ambulance report, Zacot said the local vehicle made 166 calls during 1960 for total mileage of 6,996 and 791 man hours.

A total of 128 trips was made in Keyser and surrounding area to bring patients to the local hospital. Here are the other trips: Baker VA Center, Martinsburg, 15; Cumberland hospitals, 10; Washington, four; Romney, three; Hopemont, three; Charleston, two and Baltimore, one.

Road Work Bill Before Legislature

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—A new revenue bill introduced in the West Virginia Legislature Friday, would provide an estimated $3 million annually for road work.

The proposal, by Dels. J. E. Watson, D-Marion, and T. E. Myles, D-Fayette, would eliminate motor vehicle trade-in credit under the state's privilege tax.

The bill, similar to one unsuccessfully pushed in 1959 by Watson, would require payment of the 2 per cent privilege tax on the full price of a vehicle.

Under present law, the amount of the trade-in allowance on a vehicle is first deducted and the tax is computed on the cash difference.

Senate Minority Leader John Carrigan, R-Marshall, placed in the hopper a bill calling for imposition of a permanent 3 per cent consumer sales tax with exemptions for food and prescription drugs. It was identical to a measure introduced in the House Thursday.

Among 16 other bills were measures to:

—Extend the 1 per cent insurance premium tax which expires June 30 and remove exemptions on farmers' mutual fire insurance companies, fraternal benefit societies and hospital service corporation and medical service corporations, by Del. Solomon, D-Monongalia.

— Reduce by one-half the interest charges that may be made by small-loan companies, by Dels Solomon and Lloyd, both D-Monongalia.

By TED TROXELL

Allegany's Campers, whose biggest trouble this season has been the inability to retain a lead, blew a 12-point advantage last night against city rival LaSalle but came through when it counted for a 57-55 victory that snapped the Explorers' 11-game winning streak.

A crowd estimated at close to 2,000 witnessed the struggle, which many people felt would lure a record turnout into the spacious Campobello gymnasium, the scene last year of LaSalle's 87-48 annihilation of the Campers.

Lead City Race

The victory gives Allegany the lead in the triangular city championship race with a 2-0 record, the Campers also having beaten Fort Hill, 58-50. Coach Chet Payne's team is now 9-4 for the campaign, while LaSalle is 12-2.

A three-point play by Bob Gaffney with 1:25 remaining turned the tide in Allegany's favor after Mike Long and Carroll Wilt of the Explorers had teamed up to overtake the Campers, who with 6:46 left led by 12 points, 48-36.

At one stretch LaSalle rattled off nine straight points. After Merv Pope's fielder made it 52-44, Wilt converted a free throw, Long connected on a pair of one-handers from outside, Gary Blake scored on a tip-in and Wilt engineered a steal which produced a field goal.

Gaffney was fouled by Blake in the process of scoring on a layup and the husky center dropped in the free throw to give the Campers a two-point edge. Mulligan added another point on a foul toss after LaSalle lost the ball on a traveling violation.

Pope Sews It Up

The Explorers still had an outside chance when, with 20 seconds to go, John Sloan stepped to the foul line for the one-and-one. His stray shot was rebounded by Allegany, however, and Pope sewed it up with a free throw that gave the Campers a four-point spread with only 11 seconds to play.

Superiority under the boards proved to be the big factor in Allegany's victory, as the Campers, with Pope and Gaffney doing most of the work, out-rebounded the Irish, 44-27. Pope hauled in 20 rebounds and Gaffney snared 16.

Allegany's point famine in the fourth period was preceded by a longer scoreless siege in the first half. The Campers jumped off to a 15-5 lead, but LaSalle organized forces after missing on its first ten field goal attempts and clicked off 12 points in a row to pull in front, 17-15.

A pair of two-pointers by Gaffney and Jerry Pentoney's one-hander gave Alco a lead (21-19) it kept until LaSalle caught up late in the last quarter. In all, the lead changed hands four times and the score was tied twice.

Campers Shoot .414

The Campers made 24 of 58 field goal attempts for a .414 percentage, while the Explorers, who were slow in finding the range, hit on 21 of 57 for a .369 mark.

Pope, who had a particularly hot hand in the third period when Allegany threatened to pull away, pumped in ten field goals and added three free throws for 23 points. Gaffney collected 12 and Gary Mulligan 10 for the Campers.

Long, city scoring leader, also wound up with 23 tallies, 10 of which came in the fourth period in the midst of LaSalle's valiant rally. Wilt, with 14, was the only other LaSalle cager in double figures.

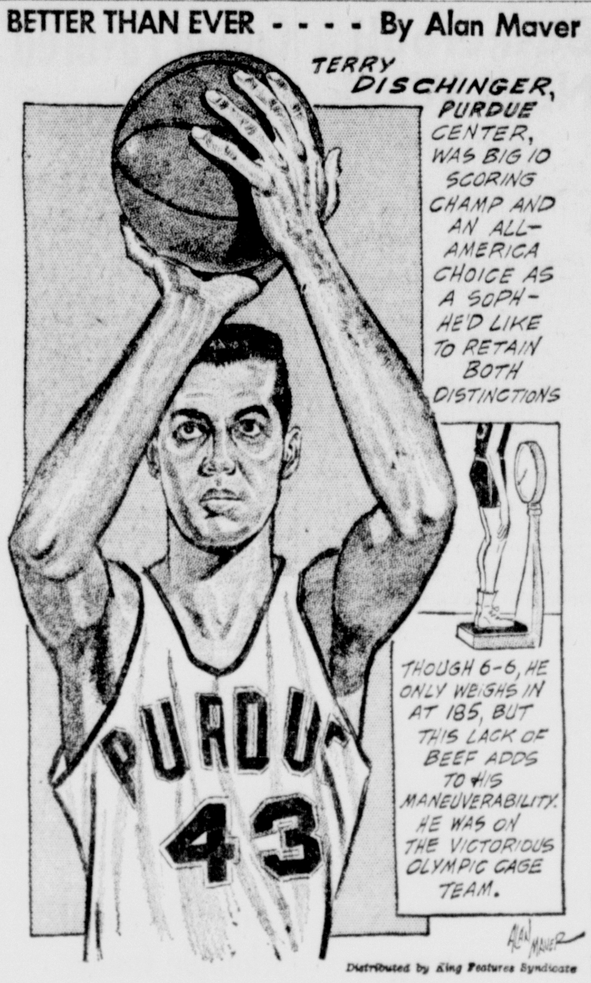
BETTER THAN EVER - - - - By Alan Maver



The Sports Patrol

By STEVE SNIDER

NEW YORK (UPI)—Sports of all sorts:

One of the better "Johnny Unitas" stories made the rounds while National Football League owners were meeting in the big town this week. . .When Baltimore's daring quarterback was injured earlier in his career, coach Weeb Ewbank reportedly had a standing order that Johnny was to be fined $50 every time he ran with the ball instead of passing it because one more injury might put him out for good. . .Every time Unitas was fined, so the story went, owner Carroll Rosenbloom slipped the money back to Unitas.

"That's not exactly true," insists Ewbank. "There were no fines. Of course," he added, "I did point out strongly that it would be foolish for him to get himself hurt again."

Fact or fiction, we like the other version.

Leaves Writers Guessing

Norm Van Brocklin, new coach of the new Minnesota Vikings, had a press conference the other day that left writers with an eerie feeling. . .Norm held in his hand a list of the 36 players his club had picked from the rest of the NFL but the roster hadn't yet been made public. . ."We'll have a good offensive line," Van Brocklin said. "But the defense will take a lot of work". . .It was the first time in history the writers knew what but not whom a coach was talking about.

American athletes sent abroad by the National AAU this summer will be tricked out in special "uniforms" for travel and street wear to make a distinctive showing before and after competition. . . They'll get a navy blue blazer, gray slacks for travel and blue slacks for more formal dress. . . Okay, lads, no more sport shirts and bermudas.

Ho hum notes: Pro basketballers, in case you didn't know, are scoring at an all time high. . . Scoring average is 117.2 per game and more than a dozen players already have topped the 1,000 point mark. . .Wilt Chamberlain may break his own mark of 2,707 before he's finished.

Divide Big Pot

Floyd Patterson and Ingemar Johansson will have picked up four-million dollars between them for fighting each other three times when all the returns are in from television, radio and movies alone. . .That's a guess from Telepompter, which handles such things.

Pro basketball owners feel it is far easier to stock a new basketball franchise than it is for either pro football or baseball. . .Two or three good, pro-type rookies can make a whale of a difference on the court, as Oscar Robertson is proving for Cincy. . .But rookies don't rate much in the other two sports.

Most of the cynics on the baseball beat figure the new National League entry in New York will wind up as co-tenants with the Yankees in Yankee Stadium. . . Plans for a new stadium on the outskirts of the big town are having rough sledding despite all the snow hereabouts.

Piedmont Edges Bruce In Upset 75 To 71 Win

Avenges Early Loss To Bulldogs Quint

Piedmont High's Lions, climbing back into contention after a slow start, upset Bruce High's Bulldogs, 75-71, last night at Westernport to avenge an earlier one-point loss to the Bulldogs.

The win was the eighth of the season for Piedmont and the Lions' fifth in their last six games. The loss snapped a three-game win skein for Bruce as the Bulldogs lost their second decision in 11 contests.

Vince Fagan was the big show for Piedmont, the sharpshooting guard pouring in 36 points for the winners including 12-16 at the foul line. It was a pair of fouls by Fagan in the final moments of the game that snapped a 67-67 tie and gave Piedmont the lead for the last time. The score was tied eight times in the nip-and-tuck fray with Fagan's goal knotting the score at 67-all before his fouls put the Lions ahead to stay.

Bayard Is Victor Over Southern High; Jackets Postponed

Petersburg High's Vikings, the Elk Garden Elks and Fort Ashby High's Eagles won important Potomac Valley Conference games last night to remain in contention for the loop title in the 19-team race.

The Vikings, bouncing back from two upset defeats in the conference, easily defeated Franklin High's Panthers, 79-59, at Petersburg, to register their 10th PVC win.

Elk Garden set a new school scoring record by trouncing hapless Circleville, 106-65, at Elk Garden for the Stags' ninth win in the circuit; and Fort Ashby bounced the West Virginia School for Deaf quint at Romney by a 68-61 score for the Eagles' eighth conference triumph. All trail the undefeated LaSalle High Explorers (4-0).

Bayard Wins Upset

In two other conference battles last night Ridgeley High's Blackhawks defeated Romney High's Pioneers, 72-40, handing the Pioneers their ninth PVC setback, and Bayard High upset Southern High of Oakland, 52-41, to win their first victory in the league.

At Petersburg, the Vikings overcame a stubborn Franklin five to win their 12th game of the season, rallying from a 31-26 halftime deficit to win going away. The Vikings scored 30 points in the final quarter to turn the game into a rout.

Ernie Nelson tallied 36 points for the winners, including 18 in the big fourth period outburst. He was ably assisted by Louis Alt with 23. High man for Franklin, which suffered its sixth loss in nine PVC games, was David Propst with 20 points.

Break Scoring Mark

Elk Garden's Elks broke the previous school scoring record of 102 points, set several years ago against Circleville, by again trouncing the Indians last night at Elk Garden. The Stags scored 50 goals with 10 different players getting at least one in the rout.

High man for the winners was Mike Burke with 23. Cliff Knotts scored 18, Bill Paugh tallied 17 and Don Shillingburg got 15 for the Elks. Orville Harper was the big gun for Circleville with 36 tallies.

The win gave Elk Garden a 9-2 conference mark and 11-3 for the season. Circleville is 2-5 in the PVC and 2-12 overall, the Indians now having lost nine straight.

At Romney, the Fort Ashby Eagles scored 26 points in the third period to overcome an early West Virginia Deaf lead, and the winners went on to chalk up their ninth win of the campaign. The Eagles are 8-3 in the conference.

Price Leads Scorers

Paul Price led the Fort Ashby scorers with 22 points. Teammates Harold Kerns and Bob Barnes chipped in with 18 and 17 respectively. Tom Jividen was the scoring ace for West Virginia Deaf with 24 tallies.

Ridgeley High's Blackhawks scored their third straight win last night by turning back the hapless Romney Pioneers. The win was the eighth in 15 games for the Hawks who are now 7-6 in the conference. Romney has scored only two victories in 11 games this season, all in the PVC.

At Oakland, Southern High's Highlanders blew a big lead in the final period to suffer their third conference setback in six games. Bayard, trailing 14-9, 31-22 and 39-31 at the quarters, rallied for 21 points in the last eight minutes to score their first conference victory after five defeats. Bayard now is 3-10 for the season.

Seven Tie For 2nd, Four Strokes Back

By HAL WOOD

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Slugging George Bayer, the man mountain golfer, thundered around Harding Park in five under par Friday and left four strokes between himself and the pack at the halfway mark in the $50,000 Lucky International tournament.

The six - foot four - inch, 240-pound giant fired a 66 to go with an opening round of 65 for a 36-hole total of 131—11 strokes under par on a course that is not supposed to be a pushover.

Seven Tied For Second

There was a big traffic jam for second place with seven men deadlocked at 135. These were Mike Souchak, Grossinger, N.Y., 68-67; Arnold Palmer, Miami, Fla., 66-69; Billy Casper, Apple Valley, Calif., 66-69; Charlie Sifford, Los Angeles, 65-70; Don January, Dallas, Tex., 68-67; Ted Kroll, Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., 66-69; and Stan Leonard, Vancouver, B.C., 66-69.

But it was Bayer, golf's longest hitter, who now plays out of South Pasadena, Calif., who stole the spotlight with his powerful tee shots and accuracy around the greens.

"I'm controlling my woods and I was putting well," he said after the round. "In 36 holes, I've had only 52 putts."

He had seven birdies and two bogeys for the round. He rolled in putts from as far away as 25 and 18 feet. He was knocking his approaches stiff on many holes and on the seventh, a par four 347 yard hole, he put a wedge 18 inches from the cup.

7,000 Tour Links

A crowd of about 7,500 toured the links in balmy weather with nearly half of them trailing the Bayer threesome and the other half the Palmer trio.

Vikings Select Final Players For NFL Season

Barnett, M'Elhenny, Sumner Are Picked

NEW YORK (UPI) — The new Minnesota Vikings of the National Football League Friday announced the names of the final six players they acquired from other league teams for their first season of operation next fall.

The Vikings obtained from the Pittsburgh Steelers halfbacks Tom Barnett and Jack Morris and offensive tackle Byron Beams. From the Chicago Bears they purchased defensive tackle Bill Bishop, fullback Glenn Shaw, and defensive halfback Charley Sumner.

Thus did the Vikings round out the group of 36 experienced players they picked from the other NFL clubs except Dallas and pro football generally agreed that the Vikings did fairly well.

The identity of the San Francisco Forty Niners and Los Angeles Rams players picked "leaked out" around Thursday midnight.

"I was surprised at some of the good names they picked," said league commissioner Pete Rozelle. "The Vikings did a fine job of selecting."

Among the other players acquired by the new ball club were defensive end Don Joyce of Baltimore, a 10-year pro standout; offensive end Dave Middleton of the Detroit Lions; and offensive guard Red Stephens of the Washington Redskins.

With the matter of stocking the Vikings out of the way, the league club owners devoted their sessions Friday to more or less routine business.

Del Miller Named National Driving Champion Of 1960

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y. (UPI) — Harness racing driver Delvin Miller, 47, of Meadow Lands, Pa., was declared the 1960 national driving champion according to annual averages published by the Universal driver rating system.

Miller won the same top honors in 1950.

During the 1960 harness racing season, Miller scored 116 wins, had 64 seconds and 51 thirds in 385 drives for a percentage average of .438. He previously was announced as the nation's leading money-winning Reinsman in 1960.

Another Pennsylvanian, Levi Harner of Bloomsburg, was second to Miller last year with a driving average of .424. Harner copped the top honors in 1959.

Thomas Graham of Salem, Ill., a youngster at 23 in the harness racing world, took third place with an even .400.

Johnson Accepts Athlete Award

Track Star Honored By Sports Writers

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Gracious but obviously pleased Rafer Johnson Friday acknowledged still another coveted honor—male athlete of the year for 1960.

The greatest all-round track and field specialist in the world was accorded the honor in the 31st annual poll of the nation's sports editors and writers conducted by The Associated Press.

The holder of the world and Olympic record in the demanding 10-event decathlon was the first American to win the award in three years. Fighter Ingemar Johansson of Sweden won in 1959 and Australia's mile king, Herb Elliott, in 1958.

Among the top candidates were Arnold Palmer, the biggest winner in golf last year, and Floyd Patterson, the only man in history to regain the heavyweight boxing championship.

Champion Trotter's Race Career Ends

PARIS (AP) — Jamin, world champion trotting horse, will never race again, a doctor said Friday night.

Jamin, considered by many turf fans to be the greatest trotter of all time, suffered a pulled tendon in training Friday morning and was withdrawn from this Sunday's Prix d'Amerique, France's major trotting race of the year.

Dr. Claude Rouzaud, son-in-law of Jamin's owner Madame Leon Olry-Roeder, said following an examination, that the horse's racing career was over.

Pneumonia Is Cause Of Fighter's Death

WHEELING, W. Va. (UPI) — Ohio Valley General Hospital doctors said Friday the death Jan. 10 of boxer Sherman Walker, 17, Wheeling, was due to pneumonia which came after suffering a blow on the head in a boxing match.

the GREATEST! by Walter Johns

A PHENOMENAL ball handler, Nat Holman once was described by teammate Joe Lapchick as a guy who could "pass the ball to you through a keyhole."

Far-fetched as it may sound, Nat Holman, one of the famed "Original Celtics" of yesterday, was probably the GREATEST of all the basketball players, considering size, even though he was hardly a six-footer and the high-scoring giants of today may dispute it.

Long known as "Mr. Basketball," Holman gained his early fame as the kingpin of the Celtics, a professional team which compiled an amazing record in the eight years it was a world headliner before it was disbanded in 1929 because of the lack of competition.

But Nat's career didn't end there, for he was spreading his name as coach of the City College of New York cage team, which he led for three dozen years, and the 1949-50 C.C.N.Y. team did what no other team had ever been able to do: win both the National Invitational title and the N.C.A.A. crown.

• • •

STILL part of the hoop game as an instructor and good will ambassador after all these years, Nat grew up with basketball in New York city (he was born in 1898) almost from the time basketball was originated by Dr. James Naismith in 1895.

It was in the school yards on New York's lower East side that Nat first started to play the game. At Commerce High one of his teammates was Howard Cann, who was to become a famed coach at New York U.

Nat was an all-around athlete, winning letters in soccer, baseball and football, too, but his great love was basketball.

In 1917 he began his professional career and four years later he was picked up by the Celtics, to lead this famed group for years. The Celtics played 120 to 150 games a year and won 90 per cent of them.

A terrific ball handler, Nat also was a fine set shot, fast and aggressive.

During this time Nat also was coaching basketball at City College as the Jayvee mentor. He also was the varsity soccer coach.

In 1918 he went into the Navy and came back in 1919 to become head coach.

West Virginia To Make Long Trip In South

Play William-Mary Quintet Tonight

The Mountaineers travel to Greenville, S. C. for a game with Furman Monday then will meet VMI at Bluefield, W. Va. Tuesday night.

WVU is leading the conference with a 6-1 record and could lose its undisputed top ranking by losing to W&M. Citadel stands 5-2 and should beat Richmond Saturday.

West Virginia edged William & Mary 74-72 in the season's opener at Morgantown. And it could be a different story here as the Indians are now up to full strength with the return of Bev Vaughan. Vaughan has averaged 11 points a game for the past seven contests. He missed the first game.

However, the main problem facing the Mountaineers will be how to stop big Jeff Cohen. The 6-foot-7 pivot man is averaging almost 23 points a game, along with 17 rebounds. Also hitting in double figures for the Indians is guard Kenny Roberts at 10 points a game.

But if there is a change in William & Mary, there is also a change in the Mountaineers, who jelled after a shaky start and have won 10 of their 11 games and are now 12-3 on the season.

Bowie Resumes Racing Today

Burch Memorial Is Feature Race

BOWIE, Md. (AP)—The third day of racing in Bowie's scheduled 48-day winter meeting, hard hit by snow since it began just a week ago, is set for Saturday.

The nine-race program at the Southern Maryland track will be featured by the $12,500 Burch Memorial Handicap at 5 furlongs, the only event to survive for Saturday after weather forced officials to draw up a new card.

Work crews cleared off more than four inches of snow from the Bowie grounds last night and today, the remains of a storm that forced cancelation of the Thursday and Friday racing programs.

Seventeen horses have been entered in the 22nd running of the Burch Handicap. If all start, the race will gross $14,325, with the winning owner receiving $9,311.

Diamond F. Stable's Tinkalero, winner of the 1959 Burch and second last year, will be topweighted at 120 pounds. The 6-year-old daughter of Bolero will concede two to 12 pounds to her opponents in the sprint.

Woodling Signs Senators' Pact

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gene Woodling, 38-year-old outfielder who played with Baltimore last year, signed with the Washington Senators Friday. He was the ninth player to join the new American League club.

Terms were not disclosed but it was reported Woodling will receive the second highest salary ever given a Washington player. Roy Sievers received an estimated $35,000 with the Senators in 1959.

Woodling batted .283 with the Orioles last season.

Minoso Signs $50,000 Pact

CHICAGO (UPI) — Minnie Minoso, a man who almost never commits himself until spring training is underway, Friday set a personal record for promptness when he signed his 1961 contract with the Chicago White Sox for an estimated $50,000.

A club spokesman said Minoso's new salary represents a "substantial increase and makes him the highest player in White Sox history."

Minoso signed after a 12-minute chat with president Bill Veeck becoming No. 7 on the list ready for next season. Last season Minoso was last to sign.

Del Crandall Signs

The 30-year-old receiver was named the club's most valuable player for last season when he batted .294, hit 19 home runs and had 77 runs batted in.

Cuban Favored Over Calhoun

Fernandez Is 13-10 Choice At Garden

NEW YORK (UPI) — Middleweight Florentino Fernandez, a big-beaked knockout specialist from Havana, is favored at 13-10 to beat slugger Rory Calhoun at Madison Square Garden Saturday night and snap Rory's comeback "streak" at one lone bout.

Their 10-rounder will be televised nationally by ABC at 10 p.m. EST.

Rangy Fernandez is favored because of his explosive left hook and because of his impressive performance in his last fight on Nov. 12 at the Garden, where he floored Phil Moyer of Portland, Ore., three times, enroute to a fifth-round technical knockout.

Calhoun of White Plains, N.Y., is working on a winning string of one bout; but that triumph was a big one. Rory opened 1961 with a New Year's day decision over third-ranked Hank Casey at New Orleans. It was a major upset, and it boosted 26-year-old Rory back into the ratings.

Mark, Laver Cop Australian Doubles

MELBOURNE (AP)—Bob Mark and Rod Laver won the Australian Tennis Doubles Championship for the third straight year today before what was probably the smallest crowd ever to see the final of a national tourney in a major tennis country. The pair beat Roy Emerson and Martin Mulligan 6-3, 7-5, 3-6, 9-11, 6-2, in a dull, tedious match.

There were fewer than 100 paying spectators in the stands of Kooyong Stadium, which seats 12,000 and in the recent past has been jammed with 20,000 for comparable events.

Stocks Show Sharp Rise As Confidence Is Renewed

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market made a sharp advance Friday and signalled a new bull market trend according to some market indicators.

Wall Street found renewed confidence, brokers said, in indications that President Kennedy plans swift moves to check the economic decline and aid millions of unemployed.

Standard & Poor's 500-stock index reached a new historic high as it advanced .62 to 61.24, topping the previous peak of 60.71 reached on Aug. 9, 1959.

The Dow Jones industrial average advanced 4.72 to 643.59, making a strong breakout above its Aug. 24 recovery high of 641.56, but still remaining well below its all-time crest of 685.47 reached Jan. 5, 1960.

The performance of these two market barometers was regarded in Wall Street quarters as an omen of market strength which, having hurdled the upside barriers, would move on to new peaks.

Steels, motors, rails, utilities, chemicals, tobaccos, and electronics joined in a broad advance. The aircraft-missile stocks, however, remained laggard because of signs that cold war tensions may be easing.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 1.60 to 232.60 with industrials up 3.00, rails up .50, and utilities up .50 to a new 1960-'61 high. This put the AP 60-stock average close to its 1960 high of 233.90 and within hailing distance of its historic peak of 235.80 reached Aug. 3, 1959.

Based on the rise in the AP average, an estimated $2.2 billion was added to the quoted value of stocks listed on the New York stock exchange.

Of 1,274 issues traded, 727 advanced and 343 declined. New highs for 1960-'61 totaled 100.

Volume was 4.51 million shares compared with 4.11 Thursday.

Twelve of the 15 most active stocks advanced and three declined.

American Stock Exchange prices also advanced. Volume was 1.5 million shares compared with 1.46 million Thursday.

Bond volume on the New York Stock Exchange rose to $7.99 million par value from $7.09 million Thursday.

Ussery Scores Second Triple At Hialeah Track

April Skies Beaten In Feature Race

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 27 (AP)—Bobby Ussery, completing his second riding triple in four days, rode Never Give In to an upset victory over April Skies today in the featured seventh race at Hialeah before a crowd of 14,804. Don Poggio finished third.

Never Give In went to the front at the break of the seven-furlong allowance race, was challenged by April Skies on the stretch turn but ran away from the even-money favorite to triumph by 4½ lengths.

The winner, owned by Maine Chance Farm, was timed in 1:23 —superlative time over the deep track and only one second over the track record. He paid $6.30, $2.70 and $2.70. April Skies paid $2.50 and $2.30. Don Poggio paid $3.40 to show.

Ussery, who rode three winners Tuesday and two more Thursday, also won today's fourth race on Glass House ($8.40) and the fifth on Your Bill ($12.30). He now has 10 victories and is in second place in the jockey standings, seven behind John Sellers.

Never Give In, a 4-year-old colt by Never Say Die, started only three times last year, winning twice and finishing second to Francis S. in the Wood Memorial.

He made his winter debut at Hialeah Jan. 21 and finished second, tiring in the drive. With that race under his belt he had no trouble holding his lead today.

April Skies carried 124 pounds, 12 more than Never Give In. April Skies had won five of his last six starts, all of them stakes races.

Birds' Advance Sale Is Ahead Of 1960

BALTIMORE (AP)—Pre-season ticket sales of the Baltimore Orioles are running about 8½ per cent ahead of last year.

Elmer Burkhart, Oriole ticket manager, said advance sales for the 1961 American League season are approaching the $500,000 mark and should break the record $700,000 of 1960.

Burkart said sales have jumped despite a six-week delay while the league worked out a schedule for its new 10-team alignment.

Baltimore was in the pennant chase down to the wire last year before losing out to the New York Yankees. The club ranks as one of the pre-season favorites for 1961, and World Series ticket priorities will go to season-ticket holders or those who participate in various plans.

Emergency Plan Would Include 100 Streets

Snow Ordinances Are Being Studied

One of three proposed snow removal ordinances which the Mayor and Council have been considering since early this month lists 100 city streets as emergency routes.

The proposal provides that no car may be parked on any of the 100 streets during the term of an emergency called by city officials, and drivers of vehicles using the routes are subject to fines if they stall or impede traffic when the vehicles are not equipped with chains or snow tread tires.

The proposal provides that when snow, sleet or freezing rain is falling, and the police commissioner or chief of police believes it is causing hazardous conditions which may lead to congestion, either can declare an emergency, and until the emergency is declared over, no vehicle shall operate so as to stall or impede traffic, if it is due to the failure to equip the vehicle with chains or snow tread tires.

Such an emergency would last for 72 hours, or until snow plowing operations are declared completed by the street commissioner.

It further provides that an hour after police officials or the street commissioner makes a public announcement of the emergency, it shall be unlawful for a motor vehicle to be parked on any of the 100 streets.

Violators would be subject to a fine of not less than $10 or more than $100, or to jail if unable to pay fines.

The streets on which all parking at any time would be prohibited for the duration of the emergency are listed below.

This afternoon members of the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce will be out in force on Baltimore Street seeking dimes and dollars for the 1961 New March of Dimes Drive, proceeds of which will go toward research for a cure for arthritis and certain birth defects. Demonstrating how to place your dollars on the clothes line are, left to right, Richard Sell, committeeman; Frederick J. Hill Jr., general chairman of the Allegany County drive; John D. Tobacco Sales To Minors Under 15 Violate Law

The state's attorney's office of Allegany County and the Cumberland Police Department recently have been receiving numerous complaints about minors buying cigarets and cigars.

Donald W. Mason, assistant state's attorney, points out it is a criminal offense for any person or store to sell or give any cigars, cigarets or smoking tobacco or chewing tobacco to any minor child under the age of 15 years, unless previously authorized in writing by parents.

The law which covers this violation, Article 27, Section 404 of the Maryland Code, also states it is unlawful for any person to purchase cigarets or any other form of tobacco for minors.

The penalty for violations of this law is a fine of $10 to $100 or five to 30 days in jail in default of payment of fine.

Another violation pertaining to minors is the sale of firearms or ammunition to youths under the age of 18.

A state law makes it unlawful for any person or store to sell or give away any firearms or any deadly weapons or ammunition to minors under 18 without the express consent of parents.

Mr. Mason said this law does not apply to any member of the Maryland militia or to supervised training or marksmanship activities of a recognized organization.

Violation of this law calls for a fine of $50 to $200 or 60 days in jail in default of payment of the fine.

U.S. Continues Effort To Free Bishop Walsh

WASHINGTON (UPI)— The State Department said Friday it would continue to press for release of five Americans imprisoned in Red China, one of them since 1951.

A spokesman said "you can be assured" their release would be taken up at the next meeting, Feb. 2, between U.S. Ambassador to Poland Jacob D. Beam and Chinese Ambassador Wang Ping-Nan in Warsaw.

But officials said they knew of no dramatically new approach to be made to Red China on the subject. Beam has asked for release of the imprisoned Americans at virtually all of the 100-odd meetings he has had with Wang in the last several years. The Warsaw meetings are the only diplomatic contacts between the United States and Red China.

The last American to be imprisoned by China was Bishop James Edward Walsh, 68, of Cumberland, Md., who was sentenced to 20 years for "espionage" last March. The four others are two businessmen and two civilian employes of the U.S. Army.

Ice Skating Is Scheduled

Ice skating was resumed last night at Gephart Playground and is slated to continue, barring a break in the weather or a deep snow.

The activity was called off Thursday night due to the snow.

Mrs. Eva M. Hogan, assistant city recreation director, said the concession stand has proved popular, serving candy, hot chocolate and coffee to the skaters.

She also reported that there will be sledding on designated streets tonight with barricades being placed and lanterns lit.

The policy in the city is that there will be no sledding on city streets during the time snow is falling. The barricades are put up after the snow quits.

Frederick J. Hill Jr., general chairman of the Allegany County drive, said last night that from 11 a.m. until 4 p.m. today about 35 Jaycees will be on the street seeking dimes and dollars for the drive.

A line will be strung from Centre Street to George Street in the "Block of Dimes" project. Plenty of clothes pins will be available for residents who wish to hang a dollar on the line.

B&O Profits Down Sharply In 1960

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad released a preliminary report Friday which showed a 1960 profit of $2.6 million, as compared with $14.8 million in 1959.

Operating revenues for last year were $389.4 million, down only slightly from $395.1 during the preceding year.

Conlon Bill Gives PSC TV Control

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Television transmitting cables would be subject to regulation by the Maryland Public Service Commission under a bill introduced Friday by Del. Thomas F. Conlon Jr., D-Allegany.

He said he was requested to define the cable companies as being in a class with electric utilities.

The request was made, he said, by persons considering formation of such a cable company.

"At present, excellent television reception is obtained by an extensive cable system and by an ultra high frequency relay system," Conlon stated.

"A group of electronics enthusiasts, who believe they have worked out a more efficient television distribution system by partial use of cable, decided to check the Maryland law on regulation of cable television companies before proceeding with the formation of their company.

"They feel our Public Service Commission law is somewhat unclear on this point. . ."

Sales Tax Hike Introduced In Legislature

Battle Over Two Changes Expected

By HERB THOMPSON

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Gov. Tawes' proposal to lower the sales tax to purchases of 25 cents and tax restaurant meals made its formal appearance in the Maryland Legislature Friday.

The bill, expected to stir considerable fuss before finally being enacted, was submitted in identical versions to the House and Senate before they adjourned for the weekend.

It will produce an estimated $9,404,000 to finance a new program of aid to local governments, which Tawes endorsed but insisted must be financed with new tax revenue.

Other Actions

In other activity as the assembly wound up another week of work:

1. Republicans introduced their plan for creating a new congressional district by giving Baltimore, Montgomery and Prince Georges counties seats of their own, taking one seat away from Baltimore City and shuffling the alignment of other counties.

2. Sen John L. Sanford, D-Worcester, sponsored legislation aimed at breaking up sit-in demonstrations. His bill would make it unlawful to conspire or band together to trespass on private property. It provides for fines up to $1,000 and imprisonment up to a year.

3. The House completed Maryland's ratification of the right of District of Columbia residents to vote in presidential elections. Maryland is the sixth state to approve the constitutional amendment.

The administration's sales tax proposal followed lines announced earlier. In specifying that the tax is to apply to prepared food bought outside the home, it exempted meals sold by churches, schools and colleges and continued the exemption now applied to groceries.

Big Fight Expected

The application of the tax to meals, for the first time since they were exempted in 1950, is expected to cause the biggest fight over the proposal. Numerous legislators seem to favor keeping the levy out of the "hamburger and milkshake" category. They would specify that the food tax start with meals costing $1 or more.

This would reduce the expected take from the tax by about $900,000 but might lessen some of the opposition to it.

Despite some rumblings against lowering the starting point of the tax, from the present 51 cents to 25 cents, administration leaders feel that feature will be approved.

34 cents to 66 cents—2 cents.
67 cents to $1—3 cents.

ITU Urges Support For Bill In House

Ronald N. Sterne, president of Local 244, International Typographical Union, received a telegram yesterday from Elmer Brown, International president of the union, urging support of a bill in the General Assembly.

The bill, House Bill 178, would prohibit importation of strikebreakers from outside the state during a labor dispute. The state AFL-CIO has backed the measure.

Mr. Brown's telegram urged "maximum, immediate support for the bill."

County PTAs Seek Signers To Petition

Back Joint Program For School Spending

Parent-teacher groups in Allegany County are trying to get 16,000 signatures on petitions to Governor Tawes and the General Assembly, calling for more spending for education.

The petition asks for support of a joint program sponsored by the Maryland State Teachers Association and the Maryland Congress of Parents and Teachers.

The program calls for state spending of $11,727,226 in new state aid for education, most of it for teacher's salaries. The proposed increase in the minimum salary range from $3,200-5,300 to $4,000-$6,000 would cost $9,453,145. Another $2,274,081 would go for other types of state aid to school programs.

This is in contrast to the James Committee recommendations which were accepted in large part by Governor Tawes and leaders in the General Assembly.

The James Committee program calls for raising the minimum salary range to $3,600-$5,700 at a cost of $2,687,072. Also included is $671,769 for non-salary aid and $3,255,843 in school construction funds, for a total of $6,614,684.

The State Teachers Association and the Congress of Parents and Teachers, calling their own program "the more adequate solution," have launched petition campaigns.

Mrs. B. R. Lewis, president of the Allegany County Council of PTA, said most PTA groups in the county have reported they are actively seeking signatures on the petition. Some others, however, have not indicated what action they will take.

The goal is 16,000 signatures in this county, Mrs. Lewis said.

Vernon Raymond Shumaker, 70, was found dead yesterday morning at his home in Purgitsville, W. Va., of a self-inflicted gun wound, according to Hampshire County, W. Va. authorities.

A. L. Russell, coroner for Hampshire County, ruled the death a suicide and said Mr. Shumaker died as a result of a head wound inflicted by a shot from a 22 calibre revolver.

Garrett Tax Bills Delayed Till Monday

Joseph Welch, the county treasurer, said the tax rate remains at $2.35 per $100 of assessed valuation, and the county commissioners expect collections to total $875,849.18 during the year.

Taxpayers who pay their bills during February get a five per cent discount. The rate drops to four per cent in March and April, three per cent in May and June. No discount is given during July, August and September, and beginning October 1, penalties are charged at the rate of one-half per cent per month.

Cold Weekend In Sight For The District

More Snow Is Possible

So says the weatherman, who forecasts temperatures of zero to five below in this area this morning.

Tomorrow will be cloudy and cold with possible snow, he said.

The mercury was headed toward the zero mark in Garrett County last night, according to Ralph Weber, who said the temperature was eight above by 5 p. m. yesterday.

It was winter all day in Garrett County where it was windy, snowy and overcast during the afternoon and evening. The high temperature in that county yesterday was a shivering 15 degrees and the low was a teeth-chattering five above zero.

Some back roads in the county were drifted yesterday, according to Mr. Weber, who said the main roads were passable.

Robert Golden, weather observer here, said the wind was rather brisk last night and the temperature at 10 p. m. was 12 degrees under clear skies.

On Thursday about two inches of new snow fell in the Cumberland area and about four inches fell in nearby Garrett County.

For those who would like to be elsewhere during the current cold snap the temperature was 80 degrees in Honolulu yesterday and in Miami, Fla., vacationers were basking in temperatures of 75 degrees.

MacMurray Inks Contract On Golf Course

It's a well known fact that more big business deals, mergers and sales are agreed upon on the golf course than around the conference-table. Evidently, it was with this in mind that Don Fedderson made a date to play a round of golf with Fred MacMurray. No less than 32 times before Fred had turned down television offers. On the 33rd time, but mind you, on the golf course, he finally accepted. But it wasn't easy!

Although Fedderson lost the game, he did get the contract, and actually, it's still not certain whether he won the deal.

Armed with his golf bag, six scripts and a load of production facts, Fedderson made a last ditch attempt. By the time they were halfway around the course, they had shaken hands on a deal: every scene in which Fred appears in the entire 39 programs, will be filmed five days weekly, over a 13 or 14-week period. Afterward, while Fred is off making movies, or golfing, or hunting or fishing, Fedderson will film the rest of the series, matching scenes and situations, which involve only the other members of the cast.
